Only last week I commented on the apparent reluctance of American trainers to allow their best fillies and mares to tackle the males. Judging by this season's results in the Far East, their reluctance isn't shared by their Japanese counterparts. From the limited number of mixed-sex Group 1 events staged by the JRA, we have seen Rhein Kraft and Daring Heart take first and second in the NHK Mile Cup, Sweep Tosho win the Takarazuka Kinen over 1 3/8 miles (with the Japan Cup winner Zenno Rob Roy only third) and Heavenly Romance post a narrow victory over Zenno Rob Roy in the highly prestigious Tenno Sho.

Sweep Tosho had gone close to adding another major victory for the females back in June, when she accounted for the Hong Kong stars Silent Witness and Bullish Luck in finishing a neck second in the Yasuda Kinen over a mile. The four-year-old--who last year won the G1 Shuka Sho over 1 1/4 miles and was second in the Japanese Oaks over 1 1/2 miles--underlined her class and versatility two days ago with a last-strides victory in the G1 Queen Elizabeth II Commemorative Cup over 1 3/8 miles.

"I knew we couldn't lose to the females," was the reaction of winning rider Kenichi Ikezoe. "I think the experience she gained racing against the male horses paid off today." cont. p3

What is interesting about this list of male-conquering Japanese fillies, from an American viewpoint, is that Sweep Tosho and Rhein Kraft are both daughters of

Sweep Tosho HKJC.com

End Sweep. This son of Forty Niner defeated Dehere for the title of champion freshman sire in 1998, with a crop sired at a modest fee at Mockingbird Farm in Florida. He was one of three sons of Forty Niner to figure prominently among 1998's freshman sires, as Tactical Advantage took third place and Twining sixth.

End Sweep's achievements in 1998 included setting a record total of 33 individual winners from a crop of 74 named foals. That total of 33 winners included the Japanese colt South Vigorous, who went on to win 16 of his 33 starts, including a string of group sprint successes at the ages of six and seven. Another of this first crop's durable performers was Nany's Sweep, winner of the GI Santa Monica H. as a five-year-old, and its other members included the graded-place getters Sweeping Story, High Wire Act, Grand End Sweep and Silky Sweep.

End Sweep's freshman triumph was quickly followed by news that the eight-year-old had been sold to Arrowfield Stud in Australia. Apparently some Kentucky studs tried to secure his northern hemisphere services, but Shadai Stallion Station in Japan proved to be End Sweep's destination and he was nearing the end of his third Japanese season when he suffered a fall which led to incoordination. He was euthanized in July 2002, at the age of 11.

His premature death looks especially regrettable in view of his achievements. In North America he maintained his dominance to such an extent that he took the titles of leading second- and third-crop sire. His second crop was headed by the Grade I winners Trippi and Swept Overboard, with Precise End scoring at Grade III level, and his third produced Dark Ending, a Grade I winner in Canada.

End Sweep also sired a couple of group winners in Australasia, but it was in Japan where he seemed to do best, with Rhein Kraft and Sweep Tosho heading his team of group winners. These fillies have collected five Group 1 victories between them, and Rhein Kraft's win in this year's Japanese 1000 Guineas was gained by a head from Cesario--a filly we know all about following her impressive American Oaks triumph.

This adds up to an eye-catching record for a horse who won only six of his 18 starts and who gained his only Grade I victory in the Highlander S. in Canada. But End Sweep's racing record was backed up by some impressive bloodlines. His dam Broom Dance won the Alabama S. and was one of four very good winners produced by Witching Hour, herself a half sister to Tempted, a champion handicap mare, and Instant Sin, an influential broodmare.

End Sweep's sale must be considered a blow to the long-term prospects of the Forty Niner male line in the U.S. Forty Niner was only 10 years old when he was sold to Japan in 1995, but his reputation as a sire rose rapidly after his departure, thanks to the efforts of his sons Editor's Note, Gold Fever, Ide, Roar, Jules, Announce, Banker's Gold, Distorted Humor and Coronado's Quest. By 1999 he had an impressive team of over 20 stallion sons and the first-crop efforts of End Sweep, Tactical Advantage and Twining in 1998 suggested that this was potentially the most important branch of the Mr. Prospector male line.

Although that possibility has been diminished by the exportation of some of these sons, and disappointing results from a few of the main hopes, the Forty Niner line looks assured of a bright future. Distorted Humor--of whom the best is surely yet to come--has done so well that his fee has risen to $150,000. There are also encouraging signs that Ecton Park, the best son from Forty Niner's final American crop, will make the grade. The first runners by this winner of the Super Derby include French Park, a recent winner of the GIII Pocahontas S., Parkhimonbroadway, runner-up in a $100,000 stake, Kingsfield, winner of the Prairie Meadows Freshman S., and the stakes-placed Big Lover.

Perhaps we should also be keeping an eye on Sunday Break, the Japanese-bred winner of the Peter Pan S. who has covered plenty of mares in his first two seasons at Gainesway.

Florida breeders are also well placed to repeat the magic which turned End Sweep from an inexpensive stallion into an international success. They have several accomplished grandsons of Forty Niner at their disposal, including the triple Grade I-winner Peace Rules, who covered 170 mares in his first season earlier this year, the popular Trippi, who has three graded-placed youngsters among his first-crop runners, and Lido Palace, twice a winner of the Woodward S.

KENTUCKY HORSE RACING AUTHORITY GIVES FINAL APPROVAL TO DRUG REGULATIONS

by Ron Mitchell, Courtesy of The Blood-Horse

The Kentucky Horse Racing Authority on Nov. 14 gave unanimous approval to revised medication rules that had been the subject of controversy when implemented under an emergency order signed in August by Gov. Ernie Fletcher. The final draft, which is subject to regulatory review and possible change by the state's Legislative Research Commission, differs from the emergency regulations as a result of feedback received during public meetings and correspondence received by the regulatory body and were not the result of "knee-jerk" reaction to the emergency regulations, said Connie Whitfield, vice chairman of the KHRA. When the emergency regulations went into effect at the beginning of the Turfway Park meet Sept. 7, some horsemen protested by not entering horses at the track. Under the regulations, the only medications permissible for race-day use are the anti-bleeder medication Salix and two of four adjunct anti-bleeder medications, administered up to four hours prior to a race. Three non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medications are permitted to be administered up to 24 hours before a race. While the final draft of the regulations were not immediately available Nov. 14 because the specifics were being worked out before being submitted to the LRC, they differ from the emergency regs in several ways. Among the changes are the inclusion of threshold levels for the therapeutic medications permitted on race day and the non-steroidals that are allowed up to 24 hours out, clarification on the permitted use of some linaments, ointments, and leg paints on race day, and revision of some penalties to conform to the recommendations from the national Racing Medication and Testing Consortium. For the complete story, click here.

NICHOLLS BUYS INDIAN TRAIL David "Dandy" Nicholls, who has become known as the "Sprint King" after a series of successes over the past few years, yesterday added another prospect to his team when purchasing the five-year-old gelding Indian Trail (GB) (Indian Ridge {Ire}) at Doncaster's November Sale. Consigned by trainer David Elsworth's Whitsbury Manor Stables, hip 92, who is a half to the dam of the G3 Tetrarch S. scorer Leitrim House (GB), took a competitive Newmarket handicap in April and was secured by Nicholls through his AA Bloodstock for 70,000 guineas. That proved the top price on a day dominated by jumping prospects before today's more flat-orientated concluding session, which begins at 10 a.m. Full results can be found on www.dbsauctions.com.

LA CUCARACHA INJURED Guy Reed's G1 Nunthorpe S. winner La Cucaracha (GB) (Piccolo {GB}) will miss the Dec. 12 G1 Hong Kong Sprint at Sha Tin after suffering an injury. Not seen since finishing runner-up in the G1 Haydock Sprint Cup Sept. 3, the four-year-old filly will remain in training next term, according to trainer Barry Hills's son and assistant Charles. "Unfortunately, La Cucaracha has an injury and will not be able to run in the Hong Kong Sprint, but she'll remain in training next season and we're all looking forward to that," he told the Racing Post.

GOFFS VENTURE Jumps prospects were at center stage during the first session of Goffs France's two-day Autumn Mixed Sale at Saint-Cloud yesterday, but heading the flat horses in training section of the trading was hip 10, three-time winning sophomore colt Sweet Venture (Fr) (Verglas {Ire}). Successful on his latest start in a Deauville conditions event Oct. 17, the offering from the Nic Clement barn was knocked down to the Swiss-based Weiss Beliar Bloodstock for €70,000. After the first session, the gross stood at €2,038,500 and the average at €21,353. Full catalogue and updates can be viewed on www.goffs.fr.

CAPTAIN RIO IN DEMAND Ballyhane Stud-based freshman sire Captain Rio (GB) (Pivotal {GB}) supplied the top-priced colt and filly during the first session of the Goffs November Sale yesterday, which saw a dramatic rise of nearly 36 percent in average. Topping the trading was hip 206, a filly from the draft of Mount Pleasant Farm. Hailing from the Moyglare family of Simple Exchange (Ire), Sights on Gold (Ire) and Grey Swallow (Ire), she was purchased by

Hip 188 goffs.com

BBA Ireland for €64,000. Earlier, Ballyhane showed their support for their resident stallion when snapping up Darnstown Stud's hip 188, out of a half sister to the stakes performer Inchacooley (Ire) for €55,000. Joe Foley's County Carlow operation also went to €50,000 for Lawn View Stud's hip 134, a colt by Titus Livius (Fr) from the family of Hail the Chief (GB), Sampower Star (GB) and Fire up the Band (GB). A rare offering by Officer was an early highlight and Touchwood Farm's hip 119, out of a Listed scorer, was purchased by Willie Brown of Meadowlands Stud for €45,000. WRITERS UP

MORE THAN JUST A 'FEMALE RIDER'

by Bill Finley

Special to ESPN.com

Growing up, Emma-Jayne Wilson's idea of a good birthday party was to gather up some friends and take them to Woodbine. You couldn't pin the tail on the donkey there, but you might just hit a $46.20 exactor or watch a horse like Dance Smartly win the Queen's Plate. To her, that was the most fun any kid could have. That didn't exactly make her the typical pre-teen growing up in Brampton, Ontario, but she never wanted to be typical. She wanted to be the next Sandy Hawley.

Many years later, Wilson may just be on the way to making her improbable dream come true. A 24-year-old apprentice, she is dominating the jockey standings at Woodbine and has so impressed local trainers that many believe Wilson has the potential to be one of Canada's biggest riding stars in years.

"She's much more than just a good bug," said trainer Mark Frostad.. "I think she will keep going in the same way (after she loses her apprentice allowance). She's very athletic and very strong and is a really good rider. She's pretty handy on a horse and gets herself in good position. She's fearless."

Wilson lived about 15 minutes from Woodbine and had the type of fascination with horses that many young girls have. So she started asking her parents to take her to the track. It seemed like the ideal environment for her--a place that offered the chance to not just to be around horses but one which would satisfy her competitive juices.

"Originally, it was a dream just to be a jockey," she said. "I used to tell my mom that I'd be quite content to ride in five races and finish last in everyone, just as long as I gave it a shot. I wanted to go and do it and be able to say that I followed my dream."

She did everything an aspiring jockey is supposed to do. After two years in an equine program affiliated with the University of Guelph, she hit the backstretch and started exercising horses to polish her skills. She got her start at the track with an assist from Hawley, widely recognized as the greatest Canadian jockey ever.

"Sandy Hawley was instrumental in getting me onto the backside," Wilson said. "There was a friend of my mom's who knew I was interested in getting into horse racing and that I wanted to be a jockey. She met Sandy Hawley at a wedding and dropped my name. She set up a meeting with myself and Sandy. I met him and he gave me a phone number of a trainer (Tino Attard). That's how it all began."

By August of last year, she was ready, but did not exactly get off to a good start. Her first mount, Flying Sharon, finished 10th in a $16,000 maiden claimer, losing by 24 lengths. She didn't make much headway throughout the year, winning just four races from 31 starts. Cont. p8

More Than Just a `Female Rider` (cont. from p7)

For Wilson, 2005 has been a different story. The first day that Wilson rode at Woodbine this year, she won two races. She has not slowed down since. Through Nov. 10, she was well on top of the Woodbine standings with 146 winners, 20 more than runner-up Corey Fraser. With just a month remaining in the meet, she is all but assured of winning the riding title. If she does, she will become the first female rider to win a title at a Toronto area track since 1980, when Valerie Thompson was the top jockey at the now defunct Greenwood.

Her gender, though, is a topic she prefers to downplay. She doesn't want to be known as a good female jockey.

"To be honest, when you say 'female rider,' my initial reaction is that I don't see myself as a female rider," Wilson said. "I don't see myself as different to anybody else. I'm just a rider who happens to be female. I understand what Julie Krone did and the ground-breaking she accomplished was phenomenal in that day and age. But we, as women, are more equal now."

Because she has no plans to ride this winter, her apprentice allowance will carry over through the middle of next summer. That is when she will have to make the always difficult transition from hot bug to journeyman rider. But, if she does, she can start to begin to think about cracking the riding colony at a place like Belmont or Saratoga.

That would be beyond her wildest dreams, but so is being able to show up every day at Woodbine, ride a bunch of live horses and win a ton of races. That's what she wanted when she was the wide-eyed 13-year-old having the birthday party at Woodbine, but how often in life do those sort of dreams come true?

"Every day, I appreciate this for what it is," she said. "I know this is a game of ups and downs. You can have days when you say, 'This is pretty sweet.' I try to do that every day."
