BARBARO EUTHANIZED

Barbaro (Dynaformer--La Ville Rouge, by Carson City), who had battled since May to survive the devastating injury suffered in the GI Preakness S., was euthanized yesterday morning at the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center. The decision was made after the bay colt, who underwent yet another surgery Saturday, began developing laminitis in his front feet. "We just reached a point where it was going to be difficult for him to go on without pain," owner Roy Jackson told Associated Press. "It was the right decision, it was the right thing to do. We said all along if there was a situation where it would become more difficult for him, then it would be time." The latest setback, an abscess on his right hind foot, forced the New Bolton surgical team to try a radical procedure that involved inserting two steel pins in the right hind cannon bone to support an external skeletal fixation device designed to take the pressure off the affected foot. But Barbaro was unable to lie down after the procedure, and the added pressure on his front feet caused the onset of founder. "He had a difficult night, mainly because he did not lie down," Dr. Dean Richardson explained. "This is a horse that for months has been an exceptionally calm, quiet, relaxed horse--he would sleep, you could go in there and work on him lying down. Last night was the first night ever that he was clearly distressed by his condition. We intensified all of his pain medications pretty dramatically last night trying to get him to lie down, we put him in and out of the sling, and we did not succeed." He added, "It's like a deck of cards--sometimes when things are that tenuous, if one thing starts to go, you've got a lot of parts that start to go on you as well and that's essentially what happened. I want to emphasize that we stated, and we meant what we said, that if we couldn't control his discomfort, we wouldn't go on. That's why the decision was made."

CONDOLENCES FROM THE RACING WORLD

Expressions of sympathy poured in from around the racing world on the news of Barbaro's passing. "On behalf of the Thoroughbred racing industry, we send our condolences to Roy and Gretchen Jackson, Michael Matz, Edgar Prado, and to everyone involved with Barbaro," said NTRA CEO Alex Waldrop. "We are deeply grateful to Dr. Dean Richardson and the team at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine for all they did to try to save him. I would also like to express condolences--and thanks--to the millions of fans whose hearts were touched by Barbaro during his brilliant racing career and throughout his gallant struggle to recover. His memory will live forever. America's compassion and love for Barbaro speak to the incredible bond that people share with Thoroughbreds and our sport. There have been significant advances in recent years in our ability to ensure the health and safety of our equine athletes. The industry remains focused on this issue, and we will continue to work with owners, horsemen, tracks, veterinarians and researchers, as well as the foundations that support them." Added Mike Gathagan, vice president of communications for the Maryland Jockey Club, "Barbaro will never be forgotten, having touched many lives with his stirring victory in the Kentucky Derby, and his courageous battle to overcome such a severe injury."

Flying Under the Radar...

Barbaro started his career under the radar. Sent off at 7-1 in a mid-week maiden race on the Delaware Park turf, the Jackson homebred powered to an 8 1/2-length victory. He was the 5-2 second choice in the Laurel

Horsephotos

Futurity, but once again proved much the best, cruising to an eight-length score. "We thought he was a good horse from day one," said trainer Michael Matz after that performance. "He's living up to that expectation. I think we have to try him on the dirt at some time. This horse makes me shiver when I see him work on the dirt." Barbaro made it three in a row as the 3-5 chalk in the GIII Tropical Park Derby, then was given his chance on the main track. Although he didn't dominate quite as he had on the grass, the colt fought his way to a 3/4-length score over a sloppy Gulfstream strip in the GIII Holy Bull S.

All Heart...

Barbaro proved he had the heart to match his frame in his final start before the Kentucky Derby, fighting off the ultra-game Sharp Humor for a half-length victory in the GI Florida Derby. Many felt that the big bay would be unable to overcome the five-week layoff, and he was let go at 6-1 on the first Saturday in May, but he silenced the critics with what was easily his most impressive performance. On the podium after the 6 1/2-length tour de force, owner Roy Jackson said, "I don't know how to explain it. This is a dream come true for us. I'm sort of speechless right now. I just feel blessed to be standing here today."

From Joy to Sorrow...

The Jacksons' joy was regrettably short-lived. Two weeks later, Barbaro was injured just yards after the start of the GI Preakness S. He suffered a condylar fracture in his right hind cannon bone, a fractured sesamoid and a dislocated fetlock, and a shattered long pastern bone. Dr. Dean Richardson performed more than five hours of surgery, repairing the leg with a steel plate and 27 screws. The initial prognosis was guarded, but optimistic, and Barbaro seemed to be on his way to recovery before developing laminitis in his left hind foot in early July. It was a serious setback, but one which the team at New Bolton handled, and things went as well as could be expected for the next six months. "I thought many times that he was going to make it--absolutely," Richardson said. "At the same time, I was smart enough to know, intellectually, that all these challenges were there throughout and remained. But it would be hard to get up and go to work every day if I didn't think it was going to work." The colt was doing well enough at the end of the year that there was talk of releasing him from the hospital, but complications arose in the left hind foot in early January. It at first appeared that the situation was once again under control, but Barbaro's condition deteriorated over the last few days, and the decision was finally made to euthanize him.

Hope for the Future?

Despite the outcome of Barbaro's situation, Richardson expressed hope that what was learned from his case would benefit horses in the future. "If a horse with the same injury came in tomorrow, I honestly believe I would have a better chance of saving his life," he remarked. "I think I would probably not make the same mistakes. I'm sure I made mistakes--everybody makes mistakes, or things that you could have done just slightly better. That's how you have to live if you do what I do--you have to believe you are going to get better at what you do. I've felt that way my whole career. You expect to do better the next time out."

NEW ZEALAND BLOODSTOCK PREMIER YEARLING SALE

STRAVINSKY COLT TOPS KARAKA DAY 1 The New Zealand Bloodstock's two-day Premier Yearling Sale at Karaka kicked off Monday in record-breaking style, with a colt by Stravinsky out of the champion

Stravinsky - Ethereal NZ$1.3 million topper

racemare Ethereal (NZ) topping the session at NZ$1.3 million. Leading New Zealand buyer and Te Akau Racing team principal David Ellis landed the striking colt, who will be sent to trainer Mark Walker. Pencarrow Stud consigned the topper, the lone horse on the day to break the seven-figure barrier. Ellis said he has been a fan of the colt since he was a foal. "I have visited this colt many times and he has been a beautiful colt since day one," he commented. "Mark and I have had insider knowledge since his half-sister, Uberalles (NZ) [by Giant's Causeway], is in our stable and is a sensational filly and certain to win a Group 1 race. So we are thrilled to have secured her half-brother, one of the top colts of the sale." Catalogued as hip 137, the colt was produced by Ethereal, a daughter of American juvenile champion Rhythm who was a four-time Group 1 winner. Among Ethereal's wins were the G1 Melbourne Cup and G1 Caulfield Cup. She was named champion stayer in Australia and New Zealand in 2002. Ellis was the leading buyer for the day with 10 lots purchased for NZ$3,082,500.

Record Pace at Karaka...

After the first day of selling, the sale was on a record pace with the median of NZ$120,000 up 50 percent from last year's sale-ending median of NZ$80,000, and 33 percent up on the previous record of NZ$90,000 in 2005. At the same point in the sale last year (after 230 lots), the median was NZ$90,000. New Zealand Bloodstock Marketing Manager Petrea Vela commented on the strength of the opening session. "The day has exceeded our pre-sale expectations and we are delighted that we have been able to achieve such successful figures this early in the sale," said Vela. "Demand got stronger and stronger over the course of the day, with the average and median climbing steadily to post the strongest opening session results ever recorded at Karaka. The buying bench is as large as we have seen at Karaka for some time, particularly from Australia, with a strong presence from Hong Kong, in addition to active buyers from England, Ireland, Singapore and Japan. Overall it has been a great start to the 2007 Premier Sale and bodes well for the week ahead." The Premier Sale begins the 81st National Yearling Sales Series at Karaka. It will be immediately followed by the Select Yearling Sale and the Festival Sale before resuming with next month's Carnival Sale.

At the age of 23 and a fee of $6,000, Slew City Slew is the oldest and the cheapest of the dozen stallions currently based at Airdrie Stud. Yet some of the younger members of the Airdrie team will do well to match the achievements of this veteran son of Seattle Slew, who represents a vivid reminder that patience can be a virtue. A measure of patience has certainly been required both during Slew City Slew's racing career and his innings as a stallion, which began at a fee of $12,500 back in 1990.

As a racehorse, Slew City Slew committed a few sins which American commercial breeders generally find hard to forgive. For a start, he failed to earn a single dollar in a pair of juvenile starts and he still hadn't earned black type by the end of his second season, despite scoring three times at around a mile. But then the patience started to pay off.

He hit a rich vein of form in the summer of 1988, when his four stakes successes included the Gill Salvator Mile H. Arguably his finest effort, though, came when he failed by only a neck to hold off the outstanding Alysheba in the GI Meadowlands Cup H. over a mile and a quarter. This effort rather perplexed the knowledgeable writers of Classform 1988:

“He put up a very strong, but somewhat misleading effort in the 10f Meadowlands Cup H.,” they wrote, “setting a fast pace while under no pressure through the first mile, digging in determinedly when challenged by Alysheba (gave 11lbs.), battling gamely with that one through the stretch and passing the wire just a neck behind him. Though clearly unsuited by 10 furlongs under normal conditions, this race served to illustrate that he is the type which is capable of racing competitively at distances beyond his best when able to set the pace without pressure. It should also be noted that the track surface at The Meadowlands was hard and exceedingly fast on the day...It is very difficult to imagine him reproducing such an effort on a deeper track and, in fact, all of his races at 9 furlongs suggest strongly that even that distance is just beyond his true limit.”

However, Slew City Slew--a year older and stronger--disproved this theory by scoring a pair of Grade I victories early in 1989, firstly taking the Gulfstream Park H. over a mile and a quarter and then the Oaklawn H. over a mile and an eighth.

Slew City Slew may have been a rather slow-maturing middle-distance horse, but this was offset to some extent by some of his other assets, such as his durability and toughness. He raced 42 times in all and even his 18-race campaign as a four-year-old didn't knock the stuffing out of him, as he came back even better at five. He also had the attraction of being a son of two Grade I winners, his dam being Weber City Miss, winner of the Beldame S. over a mile and a quarter.

Slew City Slew has generally succeeded in passing on his soundness to his progeny, with roughly 83 percent starters among the foals in his first 14 crops. He has also produced a steady flow of stakes winners, with eight graded winners emerging from his first eight crops. With none of those eight managing to score at Grade I level, it seemed safe to assume that Slew City Slew was destined to fall just short as a stallion, but--as the French proverb states--all things come to those who wait. Slew City Slew's 2001 and 2002 crops have each produced a Grade I winner, and not just any old Grade I winner.

The star of the 2002 crop was that fine filly Sis City, who ran out a 10½-length winner of the GI Ashland S., having earlier taken the GII Davona Dale S. by 16 lengths. This one-time claimer was also smart at two, when she won the GII Demoiselle S. and was fourth in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies.

Easily Slew City Slew's finest achievement, though, is Lava Man, another former claimer who broke through the $4-million barrier with his victory in the Sunshine Millions San Manuel Indian Bingo And Casino Turf S. This was his 15th success in a 35-race career which has established that the six-year-old is tremendously effective both on dirt and turf.

All five of Lava Man's Grade I successes have been gained over a mile and a quarter, so he has clearly inherited his sire's stamina. His dam Li'l Ms. Leonard plied her trade as a sprinter, winning eight of her 18 starts and nearly $120,000. Interestingly, like Slew City Slew, she was at her most successful as a five-year-old, when she won five of her nine starts, so Lava Man was almost destined to improve with age.

For all her success, Li'l Ms. Leonard has a pedigree which might have even the most clued-up pedigree buff reaching for the reference books. Her sire Nostalgia's Star stood cheaply in California after a distinguished career which featured graded wins from 8.5 to 13 furlongs, including one in the GI Charles H. Strub S.

TDN TODAY
Headline News . . . . . 6 pages

L'il Ms. Leonard was the only winner among the four foals out of Pink Native, an unraced daughter of the Grade III winner Be A Native. This son of Exclusive Native failed to sire a graded winner from over 320 foals. Lava Man's third dam, the multiple scorer Pink Khal, was by Khalex, a minor winner who had only one stakes winner among his 100 foals. However, that stakes winner, Jobil, was a sister to Pink Khal.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of L'il Ms. Leonard's pedigree is that her sire Nostalgia's Star was inbred 3x3 to Herbager and 3x4 to Prince John. The inbreeding to Herbager is especially significant as this outstanding racehorse was out of a mare whose parents were both sired by the St Leger winner Firdaussi.

In view of L'il Ms. Leonard's workmanlike background, her owners understandably kept her to the lower end of the stallion market, sending her to such as Mi Cielo, Geri, Benchmark and High Brite. Even after Lava Man had become a Grade I winner, her mate in 2006 was the $20,000 stallion Purge. It is going to be interesting to see how she fares now that her horizons have been broadened by her sale for $350,000 at Fasig-Tipton last November.

It is also going to be interesting to see whether Slew City Slew's successes will translate into more Grade I success further down the line. He covered nearly 100 mares in 2005 and again in 2006, with Lava Man's exploits virtually guaranteeing plenty of support this year.

Incidentally, success has also come quite late to Slew City Slew as broodmare sire, but one of his daughters, Slew City Slicker, provided him with his first Grade I winner last year, when Pool Land landed the Ruffian H.

FROM THE PUBLISHER

A champion Thoroughbred who inspired not only an unprecedented outpouring of affection from a public often indifferent to our sport, but also motivated his compassionate owners and a talented and dedicated team of medical professionals to heroic new heights, lost a brave battle yesterday. It's indescribably difficult to accept the basic truth that sometimes you don't win even the best-fought fights. But if there is one thing we should all say to the Barbaro team, it's that all of us--racing as a family--extend our deepest gratitude to them for being willing to fight the good fight, even though they ultimately didn't win it. In doing so, they not only made us all proud, but made a nation see our athletes for what we in the industry have known them to be all along--beautiful, noble, brave animals with a spirit which brings out the best in all of us. To the Jacksons and the entire Barbaro team, we say thank you, and we're sorry.

Baze Out a Week:

Hall of Fame jockey Russell Baze, involved in a four-horse spill in the eighth race at Golden Gate Fields Sunday, will be out of action for about a week, according to track physician Dr. David Seftel. Baze, the all-time leading rider by victories, sustained a cracked rib in the incident, which started when American Ivy, ridden by Jason Lumpkins, fractured her right front cannon bone on the far turn and went down. Claire Simoff, with Jorge Ayarza aboard, and Kendrick's Patsy, partnered by jockey Martin Garcia, tripped over the fallen horse and went down. Baze's mount, Ivy League Genius, was caught up in the chain reaction as well. Three of the four horses were uninjured, but American Ivy had to be euthanized. Lumpkins and Garcia emerged unharmed, but Ayarza broke his right index finger and a bone in his left wrist and will be out two to three weeks. Baze had to take off his remaining rides on the card, missing the win in the California Derby with Bwana Bull.

Antongeorgi in Santa Anita Spill:

California apprentice rider William Antongeorgi III escaped serious injury when he went down in a spill during the fifth race at Santa Anita Sunday. Antongeorgi was thrown when his mount Fappiano's Legacy was bumped by another horse. He temporarily lost consciousness after the incident, but was treated and released by the track's first-aid station. The 18-year-old will undergo further x-rays this week, according to his agent, Tim Malgarini.
