STARS ON THE RISE

last season, reeling off three straight victories, culminating in the GI Hopeful S. He had to settle for second as the favorite in his next two, however, the GI Lane's End Breeders' Futurity and the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile, and was second in the balloting for the Eclipse Award. The stretch-running chestnut should be suited by the configuration at Fair Grounds, but with plenty of graded earnings in his bank account, a win here isn't necessarily required. He faces several colts who have already won this year, including Notional (In Excess {Ire}), who drew off to take Santa Anita's GII San Rafael S. by four lengths Jan. 13. Zanjero (Cherokee Run) paired up maiden and allowance wins last fall at Keeneland and Churchill, respectively, then ran second to Nobiz Like Shobiz in the GII Remsen S. Nov. 25. Though the $700,000 KEESEP yearling hasn't raced since, he has been training smartly at Fair Grounds. "I expect him to run extremely well, but this might not be his best race," trainer Steve Asmussen told Daily Racing Form.

DREAMING OF ANNA RETURNS

Frank Calabrese's unbeaten champion Dreaming of Anna (Rahy) will return this afternoon at Gulfstream Park in the 6 1/2-furlong GIII Old Hat S., her first start since a wire-to-wire triumph in the

GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Nov. 4. Trainer Wayne Catalano had several options in mind for the chestnut, including today's one-mile GII Davona Dale S., but opted to ease his charge back into racing with the shorter contest. "I just decided I'd rather bring her back going 6 1/2 furlongs rather than a mile," Catalano told Daily Racing Form. "I think a one-turn mile is probably the toughest race for a horse." The versatile Dreaming of Anna has been nominated to the Triple Crown, but Catalano admitted it was too soon to commit to that path. "Right now the Derby is too far off to really think about," he continued. "We'll just see how the picture starts developing and how she's doing at the time before making that decision." Field, p3

NINE IN THE HUNT FOR LAS VIRGENES

A competitive field of nine three-year-old fillies are slated to contest the GI Las Virgenes S. at Santa Anita today, including a pair of Grade I winners and two additional graded-stakes winners. At the other end of the spectrum is Rags to Riches (A.P. Indy), who is stepping up from an impressive six-length maiden win Jan. 7 at Santa Anita (video). The $1.9-million KEESEP yearling purchase is a half-sister to GI Belmont S.

hero Jazil, suggesting that she should be suited by stretching out in distance. "Going from a maiden to a Grade I is not exactly par for us," trainer Mike McCarthy, who will hand the mantle back to Todd Pletcher, told DRF. "But at this time of the year, sometimes you can get lucky. No question it's a tough race. What she lacks in experience I think she makes up for in class." Cont. p3

Conditioner Mike de Kock, who trained Victory Moon (SAf) to victories in the 2003 G3 UAE 2000 Guineas

and the the G2 UAE Derby, will have the likely favorite for this year's running after a strong performance by Asiatic Boy here. Second in the G1 Gran Criterium in his native Argentina last May, Asiatic Boy kicked off the new year with a tally in a local conditions heat last out Jan. 18. In this one, he stalked the early leader in second, took over when ready and drew off to win for fun. "He may even be a little bit better [than Victory Moon]," de Kock said. "He may go for the Al Bastakiya next, but the UAE Derby's [Mar. 31] the main aim." Johnny Murtagh was in the irons. "He's the best three-year-old I've ridden since I've been in Dubai," Murtagh said. "He stretched away really nicely." For race video, click here.

"She likes to get in the mix," trainer Ronny Werner told Daily Racing Form. Fellow four-year-old Sugar Shake is a confirmed front-runner, using her speed to wire the GII El Encino S. over track and trip Jan. 14. The Stronach homebred has been cross-entered in Sunday's GII La Canada S., but will most likely be in the starting gate here with a 115-pound assignment. "It's a weight thing," conditioner Bobby Frankel told DRF. The bay would be the 123-pound co-highweight on Sunday.

Romance is Diane, a winner over course and distance in the Cal Cup Juvenile Fillies Oct. 28, surprised her foes with a win in the GI Hollywood Starlet S. Dec. 17. She returns from an eight-week break against several accomplished fillies. "This will be a really good test," trainer Mike Mitchell told Daily Racing Form. "This will tell us where we are. We're ready." Quick Little Miss just might be the barometer for her division. Third to Cash Included in the GI Oak Leaf S. Sept. 30, she defeated Jump On In by a half-length in the Moccasin S. Nov. 19, then ran second in her next two, the Hollywood Starlet and the GII Santa Ynez S. Jan. 15, won by Jump On In. "A mile should be about the perfect distance for her, and winning or placing in a Grade I race would only enhance her value as a broodmare," said trainer and co-owner Mel Stute. "We've already been offered quite a bit of money for her."

Lucy Bassett's homebred whistled through five-eighths in a bullet :59 1/5 last Sunday at Gulfstream. Christmas Kid goes back to dirt after making a name for herself on the grass.

Fourth to the ill-fated This Just In and Total in a main-track sprint at Saratoga in August, the Edward Evans homebred captured her turf bow in September before running third over yielding ground in Belmont's Miss Grillo S. Oct. 22. She celebrated the New Year by capturing Calder's Tropical Park Oaks.

Trainer Jimmy Jerkens feels the time is right to experiment with the bay. "She works so well on the dirt, like a graded stakes horse, so we figured why not take a chance and run her in here," he told Daily Racing Form. "She's already won a stakes, and the next turf stakes for three-year-old fillies isn't graded, so trying her in the Davona Dale made the most sense. If she doesn't do well, we can always bring her back in the Herecomesthebride on the grass later in the meet."

A homebred for Claiborne Farm and Adele Dilschneider, the dark bay comes here off a 6 3/4-length triumph in the six-furlong Letellier Memorial S. Jan. 1. "I think she'll do it," trainer Al Stall told Daily Racing Form. "Her pedigree suggests she'll be good at middle distances. She's got a wonderful mind and a great attitude. If she can translate her athleticism and her speed around two turns we might have some fun." Appealing Zophie, heroine of the GI Spinaway S. at Saratoga, makes her sophomore bow. The dark bay was fourth in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Nov. 4 before concluding her season with a second in the Delta Princess S. Dec. 1.

KENTUCKY BILL WOULD REQUIRE OWNERSHIP, MEDICAL DISCLOSURE AT SALES

by Ray Paulick courtesy www.bloodhorse.com

Legislation that would require disclosure of ownership and veterinary records of horses sold at public auction was filed in the Kentucky House on Thursday, along with a bill amending dual agency legislation that was passed into law in 2006. Both bills have the backing of California winemaker and Thoroughbred horseman Jess Jackson, whose high-profile lawsuit against former advisers led to his personal crusade for transparency in bloodstock transactions. House Bill 388, co-sponsored by Speaker Pro Tem Larry Clark and Licensing and Occupations co-chair Joni L. Jenkins (both Democrats representing Jefferson County), calls for disclosure of the owner or owners of a horse and the date ownership began. If ownership of a horse was for less than 12 months, the names of prior owners also must be disclosed. The disclosure is required of the owner and seller of a horse. Information regarding ownership of horses offered at public auction would reside in the medical records repository and be made available to "bona fide potential purchasers." Any horse sold following entry in a public auction would be required to be withdrawn from the sale. Provisions do not apply to ownership transfers resulting from claiming races. HB 388 also requires disclosure of a horse's present medical condition, including whether or not it is currently under the care of a veterinarian or has been administered therapeutic medication. Any medical conditions that arose during ownership of the horse would have to be disclosed, as would any administration of anabolic steroids. The disclosure carries a certification that the horse does not have the presence of anabolic steroids or "any drug, medication, substance, or metabolic derivative of any substance identified in the Kentucky Horse Racing Authority's classification schedule for drugs and medications" or "any other substance which may potentially alter the condition or performance" of the horse. SALE COMPANY OFFICIALS, CONSIGNORS CRITICIZE AUCTION DISCLOSURE LEGISLATION by Deirdre B. Biles courtesy www.bloodhorse.com

Recently filed Kentucky legislation requiring the disclosure of the ownership and veterinary records of horses offered at public auction would be difficult to implement, according to consignors and sale company officials. In addition, three of the people interviewed said ownership disclosure already had been addressed satisfactorily by the Thoroughbred industry and another questioned whether it was needed to the extent that the legislation would require. The legislation is supported by wine mogul Jess Jackson, whose high-profile lawsuit against former advisers led to his personal crusade for transparency in bloodstock transactions. "It would be very tough for sale companies, consignors, and owners alike to list and be responsible for listing everything that has gone on medically in a horse's life," said Walt Robertson, the president of Fasig-Tipton. "I think that would be a nearly impossible task. As for disclosure of ownership, I thought that the (Sales Integrity) Task Force dealt very effectively with that. Basically, if it's important to a potential buyer, he's got every right to ask the consignor who owns the horse. And should the consignor not be forthcoming with the information that the buyer asks for, he has got every right not to bid on the horse. So, as I see it, the buyer is holding the cards." Keeneland director sales Geoffrey Russell expressed similar opinions. "Keeneland has embraced everything that the Sales Integrity Task Force brought forward, and one thing they discussed at length was ownership disclosure," he said. "The task force felt it wasn't a material thing, and we concur with them, so I don't understand why it's a big deal. On the medication issue, to be honest, I think it's a very confusing bill, and I think the procedures that they've outlined would be impractical to implement. I think it would be an additional burden on all breeders, but particularly the smaller breeder/consignor." Russell also criticized how the bill was developed, saying it should have been discussed with more industry members before being introduced. Cont. p7

"The Thoroughbred industry is an important economic factor in the state of Kentucky," Russell said. "Anything that affects it requires thoughtful dialogue with everybody within the industry, and we haven't received that. To have something that has been thrust upon us within 20 days of the close of business in Frankfort without any dialogue, especially with its importance, isn't kosher. Keeneland and Fasig-Tipton have started a committee to look at anabolic steroids and we've already found out, within a month, how complicated this is and we haven't even gotten very in depth with it yet. It's a very complicate issue. Nothing in this bill discusses testing, and that's another huge factor we have to take into consideration." Bayne Welker, the president of the Consignors and Commercial Breeders Association (CBA), said his organization's board was not ready yet to issue an official response, but added, "We will reach a consensus on these things that have been brought forth, we will be at Frankfort Wednesday morning, and we will testify at the committee meeting. I am sure we will also reach out to other industry professionals and try to get a broad-range of consensus on this." Regarding his own opinion of the legislation, Welker said: "Disclosure of ownership was a very key topic when it was brought by within the framework of the Sales Integrity Task Force. There simply were some people who just did not want their names disclosed, either because they were very high profile or just for personal reasons. I think the Sales Integrity Task Force respected that and that's why it wasn't moved upon at that time. I think what would happen (if ownership disclosure was required) is that you would see a lot more horses being owned under corporations or LLCs, which would put a blanket over it if people truly didn't want their identity known." On the issue of veterinary records, Welker said: "We (CBA representatives) have been working with Keeneland and Fasig-Tipton to look into testing for anabolic steroids, trying to put a policy in place. The thing about it is, it's a lot easier to put all this down in black and white than it is to actually formulate a plan." Click here to continue.

Blue Bullet Staying Short for Now:

Hobeau Farm's homebred Blue Bullet (Red Bullet), an impressive debut winner going six furlongs Jan. 27 at Gulfstream (video), will remain sprinting for the time being. The chestnut colt is a half to top sprinter Kelly Kip, a millionaire and track-record setter for Hobeau. "I want to run him one more time at six furlongs and see what happens from there," explained trainer Allen Jerkens. "Let him get some experience first before we stretch him out. I would like to see him in a race like the Bay Shore [GIII, 7f, AQU, Apr. 7] if he proves he's good enough." The three-year-old breezed five-eighths in 1:00 1/5 yesterday at Gulfstream.

Off exactly six months following that disappointing effort, the chestnut missed by a nose in a highly rated Laurel allowance in the mud Jan. 1, but ballooned to fifth in the GIII Aqueduct H. in his most recent trip postward Jan. 20. Sent for the lead from the inside stall, Mayan King was never given a breather as New York Hero (Partner's Hero) shadowed him through demanding fractions. He put that one away, but was confronted by Monopoly Pricing, who stuck his head in front at the eighth pole. Mayan King fought back gamely from the wood to prevail narrowly. Santos Released from Hospital:

Jockey Jose Santos, who sustained several broken bones in a spill last week at Aqueduct, has been released from North Shore University Hospital in Manhasset, New York. The 45-year-old reinsman suffered two fractured vertebrae, broken ribs, a fractured sternum and a bruised nose in a three-horse spill Feb. 1. He has been fitted with a removable body cast, and will be unable to travel for two weeks; the cast will need to be worn for at least eight weeks. Santos will be staying with family friends near the hospital in Armonk, New York. "I'm feeling a little better," he said. "I broke the T-7 and T-8 vertebrae, and a piece of the T-7 is pressing against the spinal cord. But they think they can heal it without surgery. I have a body cast, and I can take it off to sleep, but I have to put it right back on when I get up."

Racing for a Cure:

Making his career debut in today's sixth race, a maiden special weight for New York-breds, at Aqueduct is Call Me Larry (Rodeo). The four-year-old is the first colorbearer for the Find a Cure Stable, whose goal will be to donate 10 percent of all earnings to breast cancer research. Suzie O'Cain, the stallion manager for Highcliff Farm in Delanson, New York, founded the stable. Through her involvement in charity work and benefits, O'Cain met Libby Pataki, the wife of then-Governor George Pataki, and later was introduced to Evelyn Lauder, who had founded the Breast Cancer Research Foundation in 1993. Lauder also helped establish the Evelyn H. Lauder Breast Center and Iris Cantor Diagnostic Center as part of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Hospital in New York City. "The more I learned about Evelyn and this cause, the more involved I wanted to be," O'Cain explained. "I was impressed that 89 cents out of every dollar they raise go to breast cancer research." She added, "This is too big an idea and too nasty a disease. I really want this to take off. I've gotten a lot of support already." Call Me Larry is named for breast cancer researcher Dr. Larry Norton.

LAGUNAS DIES

Gestut Fahrhof's Lagunas (GB) (Ile de Bourbon--Liranga {Ger}, by Literat {Ger}) has been euthanized at his base at Union-Gestut after suffering complications following a bout of colic. The 1984 G1 Deutsches Derby hero and leading juvenile of his generation in 1983 was bred from the stakes-placed mare Liranga, who hailed from Fahrhof's premier dam line of the Crepello (GB) mare Love In (GB). He was responsible for six individual group winners, headed by the 1997 G1 Grosse Dallmayr-Preis scorer Oxalagu (Ger) and the smart French mare Welluna (Ger), as well as a further 13 stakes winners. Lagunas also proved himself a high-class broodmare sire, with seven individual group winners to his credit to date including the 2002 G1 1000 Guineas, G1 Epsom Oaks and G1 Flower Bowl Invitational heroine Kazzia (Ger) and the 2004 G1 Criterium de Saint-Cloud winner Paita (GB).

INGLIS CLASSIC YEARLING SALE STARTS

TODAY The three-day Inglis Classic Yearling Sale kicks off today at 6:30 p.m. in Newmarket, Sydney. Sunday and Monday's sessions begin at 11:00 a.m. Inglis Easter is the showpiece sale, but the Classic Sale has gone from strength to strength since the company revamped it 10 years ago. Silent Witness (Aus) is perhaps the most famous Classic graduate, but this is a sale that has also yielded sires Choisir (Aus) and Bel Esprit (Aus). "This is the first time for several years we have had the race back at Randwick and the fact we have daylight savings is a plus as well for us to showcase the sale to a new audience," says Inglis director Jonathan D'Arcy. "Our Wednesday night session at Easter is always one of the most exciting with people coming from the races to the sale, and we are hoping to replicate that." Offering 100 of 585 catalogued in an extra session enables the company to trim down its Sunday and Monday sessions to a more manageable number, he said. "We have targeted horses for this sale and breeders are happy to send their horses here because it is a well-established sale with a strong buying bench, and buyers know that these horses are raised on the same pasture and in the same environment as Easter horses, and in some cases they are from mares that have had yearlings sell at Easter who have not yet hit the track," D'Arcy added. Last year, the Inglis Classic Yearling Sale closed with 376 lots sold for gross receipts of A$14,303,500, an average of A$38,041 and a median of A$30,000. Catalogues are available on www.inglis.com.au.

Lot 83, f, Snowland (Aus)--Oaks Dream (NZ), by Grosvenor (NZ)

Consigned by Dengari Lodge, Tamworth

When Snippets' (Aus) outstanding sprinter Snowland (Aus) retired to the breeding barn, many hoped he would be as successful as Snippets' NZ-based son Pins (Aus). But Snowland stood only one season at Widden Stud in 2003, leaving just 32 first crop foals from some 100 mares covered. With fertility issues sadly precluding a career as a commercial stallion, he was repatriated to owner Eduardo Cojuangco's Gooree Stud where he covers only a handful of mares each season. This attractive filly is one of only seven foals from his 2005 crop. Her dam was a stakes-placed two-year-old, and she is the dam of Ciara (NZ) (O'Reilly {NZ}), recently third in a Group 2 event at Waikato in New Zealand.

Lot 47, c Tale of the Cat --Princess Zakynthos (Aus), by Spectacular Spy

Consigned by Holbrook Thoroughbreds, as agent

This very well-grown, athletic colt is a half-brother to the stakes-placed filly Zakynthos Star (Aus) (Dehere), from the family of Group 1 placegetter Native Jazz (NZ). Tale of the Cat has earned much respect in Australasia courtesy of SW Glamour Puss (NZ) and Falkirk.

Lot 86, c, Untouchable (Aus)--Samoa (Aus), by Hula Chief (NZ)

Consigned by Brooklyn Lodge, Aberdeen

Danehill freshman Untouchable is off to a roaring start and this bay colt is a fine representative. He looks a ready-made two-year-old with a great walk and plenty of scope. He is a half-brother to Chief Hennessy (Aus), who has won twice and he is from the immediate family of G1Caulfield Guineas winner Kenwood Melody (Aus).

QUIJANO MAKES IT NINE IN A ROW

Quijano (Ger) (Acatenango {Ger}) put an eight-race winning streak on the line in last night's Gulf News Trophy H. at Nad Al Sheba and escaped with a short head victory over multiple Group 1 winner Laverock (Ire) (Octagonal {NZ}). "He's beaten a top-class horse and the [G1] Dubai Sheema Classic [Mar. 31] is the aim, but we might run him first at the Super Thursday meeting on March 1," said Simon Stokes, racing manager for the owner-breeders Stiftung Gestut Fahrhof.
