THROAT INFECTION KOS DISCREET CAT

Godolphin's Discreet Cat (Forestry), who finished last in Saturday's G1 Dubai World Cup, was suffering from a throat infection, according to a statement on www.godolphin.com. The previously undefeated four-year-old underwent a thorough veterinary exam at Al Quoz Stables Sunday morning that uncovered the problem. The statement read, in part, "An endoscopic examination of his respiratory tract...revealed an obstructive granulomatous mass within his throat, in addition to significant swelling of the underlying throat wall, as a result of an infective process.

Discreet Cat A Watkins

In the opinion of the Godolphin

veterinary surgeons, this would have affected his performance, firstly by physically obstructing the airflow into his throat and lungs, and secondly by causing him significant discomfort." Racing Manager Simon Crisford told Racing Post that the colt is being treated with antibiotics, adding, "He was scoped in the week before the race, so the problem has materialised in the 48 hours coming up to the race." As for the future, Crisford told Racing Post, "The plan remains for him to go back to America to continue his career. Obviously it is disappointing he was beaten, but at least we know there was a reason for it." Discreet Cat has won six of his seven career starts, including the G1 Hill 'n' Dale Cigar Mile H., G2 UAE Derby and GII Jerome BC H., and has earned $1,554,180. The Racing Post story also disclosed that three-year-old filly Folk (Quiet American), winner of the UAE 1000 Guineas and UAE Oaks, was lame in her left foreleg after her 10th-place finish in Saturday's UAE Derby.

MAGNIFICIENCE JUST THAT IN SANTA PAULA

It remains to be seen if Magnificience (Stormy Atlantic), with just two starts under her belt, will attempt to tackle Rags to Riches and company in the May 4 G1 Kentucky Oaks, but the Bruce Headley-trained filly will be a force to be reckoned with this season if her stakes debut is anything to go by. Sent off the 3-5 choice in a small four-horse field in yesterday's GIII Santa Paula H. at Santa Anita, Magnificience attended a sizzling pace before drawing away to a five-length tally over Swiss Diva (Swiss Yodeler). The final time for the 6 1/2-furlong race, 1:14.61, broke the stakes record of 1:15.02, set by Sardula in 1994 in the same year that one won the Oaks. Headley said he hadn't yet decided on Magnificience's next race. Cont. p2

"DEAUVILLE" REIGNS AT LONGCHAMP

Boris de Deauville (Ire) (Soviet Star), who broke his maiden in last term's G3 Prix de Guiche at Chantilly, picked up the second victory of his career in the G2 Prix d'Harcourt at Longchamp yesterday. After graduation day, the bay colt could do no better than seventh in the July 9 G1 Prix Jean-Prat, but bounced back to grab second in the Aug. 19 G2 Prix Guillaume d'Ornano at Deauville. Third in the Sept. 30 G2 Prix Dollar at Longchamp, he finished the campaign with an off-the-board run in the Oct. 29 G3 Prix Perth at Saint-Cloud, and came back this year with a fourth in the Mar. 10 G3 Prix Exbury at Saint-Cloud. Benefitting from new tactics in this, the outsider defied long odds and posted a career high to earn another tilt at the highest level. The four-year-old was settled at the back of the peloton, sliced through the pack to challenge approaching the final furlong and responded to gentle coaxing thereafter to score a shade cozily from the filly Pearl Sky (Fr) (Kahyasi {Ire}). "This was his main target," explained winning conditioner Stephane Wattel. "I didn't want him 100 percent wound up for his first start of the year in the Exbury, and the plan worked well as he had improved markedly since then. The G1 Prix Ganay [Longchamp, Apr. 29] is definitely next."

When Magnificience blew the break in her debut over trip and track Mar. 11, then rallied to post an ultra-impressive 6 1/2-length tally (96 Beyer), trainer Bruce Headley was asked if he'd ever seen an effort like that.

"Nobody has, not even me," said the 73-year-old. With talk like that, it wasn't surprising that Magnificience was odds-on in her stakes debut yesterday. Showing good speed from the break, she raced up to hound the speedy Coco Belle (Storm Boot) through :21 3/5 and :44 flat splits, then kicked away in mid-stretch under a modest Alex Solis ride. "I didn't expect her to be that close up, but she's so talented, she put herself right there," said Headley. "It was just a hand ride. Her forte is a distance. She's sprinting because she's just a runner. When she starts going around two turns, you'll really see something." Asked what might be next, Headley said, "It used to be you'd go through conditions, but now, you've got to run them. She's showed so much potential, that's why I put her here."

Successful in the July 16 G2 Hansa-Preis at Hamburg, Egerton posted a respectable series of efforts in five subsequent top-level contests during a globetrotting campaign last year. Fourth in both the Aug. 13 G1 Rheinland-Pokal at this course and in the Sept. 3 G1 Grosser Preis von Baden, he finished runner-up to Youmzain (Ire) in the Sept. 24 G1 Preis von Europa back here. The bay then ventured abroad to run fourth in the Oct. 15 G1 Gran Premio del Jockey Club Italiano at Milan and sixth in the Dec. 10 G1 Hong Kong Vase at Sha Tin. Refreshed by the winter break for this comeback, the crowd's second choice revisited the winner's circle with a determined display in this first domestic group race of the season. Chasing the leaders in sixth until angled out for a run with three furlongs remaining, the six-year-old entire accelerated to the fore in the center of the track approaching the closing panel and kept on strongly, despite drifting right under a drive, to easily hold the late rush of Lauro.

Making his four-year-old bow as the crowd's choice here, he settled just off the pace before unleashing a powerful stretch drive that carried him to a narrow score.

Nobiz Like Shobiz

north for Saturday's GI Wood Memorial S., Nobiz Like Shobiz (Albert the Great) yesterday breezed a sharp five panels in :59 3/5. The strapping bay, who worked by himself under regular rider Cornelio Velasquez, galloped out six furlongs in 1:13. He once again was equipped with blinkers and will race with them for the first time Saturday. "I can't do much more now except get out there and ride him myself," said trainer Barclay Tagg.

"He's done everything I've asked." Tagg said Nobiz Like Shobiz will fly to New York Thursday. Considered one of the favorites for the May 5 GI Kentucky Derby, the colt finished third to the GI Florida Derby winner Scat Daddy (Johannesburg) in the Mar. 3 GI Fountain of Youth S. in his most recent. At two, he notched a win in the GI Remsen S. and a runner-up effort, to Scat Daddy, in the GI Champagne S. He captured the GI Holy Bull S. at Gulfstream in his seasonal debut Feb. 3.

STORMELLO 'TIRED' AFTER FLORIDA DERBY

Stormello (Stormy Atlantic), a faltering fourth in the GI Florida Derby, was weary but otherwise fine yesterday morning, reported conditioner Bill Currin. "Not only is the horse tired, the trainer is tired, too," said the California-based Currin. "He's perfect. He is what he is. Now I've got to get him home and figure out what that is." Stormello was sent off the third choice in the Florida Derby after a dead-game runner-up effort to Scat Daddy in the GI Fountain of Youth S., but failed to see out the nine-furlong distance of Saturday's race after setting the pace. "He's got to learn to slow down if he wants to go on," said Currin, who owns the homebred with Alvin Eisaman. "I don't think the pace hurt him yesterday. It was a little slower than the [Fountain of Youth]. He just didn't run to his prior performance."

SADLER HOPES FOR KING-SIZED UPSET

Trainer John Sadler hopes his three-year-old Court the King (Doneraile Court) can make an impact in what appears to be a wide-open GI Santa Anita Derby this Saturday. The lightly raced gelding, who is owned by Marta Wile's Marta Racing Ventures, captured a $50,000 maiden claimer at Fair Grounds for Michael Stidham in December, then joined Sadler's barn on the West Coast. He annexed a Santa Anita first-level allowance by two lengths Feb. 2, and was given a shot in the Mar. 10 GI El Camino Real Derby at Bay Meadows, where he finished fourth to Bwana Bull (Holy Bull). That one is also set to line up in the Santa Anita Derby. "We want to run him here as opposed to shipping him somewhere else, because he ran really well on this track," Sadler said. "We think he's still a nice horse, even though he got beat up north, so we're going to give him another shot."

STEINBRENNER GROUP WITHDRAWS FROM EXCELSIOR

A group led the family of New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner has withdrawn from Excelsior Racing, it was announced yesterday. Excelsior is one of four bidders for the franchise to run racing at Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga. Without the involvement of the Steinbrenner family, which brings name recognition and considerable wealth to the table, Excelsior's chances of being named the new operator of the tracks currently run by the New York Racing Association appear to have diminished. Steinbrenner's son-in-law Steve Swindal, who with casino developer Richard Fields was considered a key figure on the Excelsior team, was expected to have a major role in the operation of the three tracks if Excelsior won the franchise, but the news broke just days ago that Swindal, who was arrested for drunk driving Feb. 15, and Steinbrenner's daughter Jennifer are divorcing. "The Steinbrenner family and all of their related entities are withdrawing from the Excelsior bid," read a statement issued yesterday by Steinbrenner's publicist Howard Rubenstein. "The reason is to pursue other opportunities." The Steinbrenner group, operating as Kinsman Racing Club, owned a 47.5 percent interest in Excelsior. Tishman-Speyer, a real estate development company that owned a 5-percent share in Excelsior, has also reportedly dropped out. Fields owns the remaining shares in Excelsior. Despite yesterday's news, spokeswoman Katie Burke said that Excelsior has no intention of dropping its bid to run the three tracks. A committee formed during the administration of Gov. George Pataki recommended that Excelsior take over New York racing when NYRA's franchise expires, but current Gov. Eliot Spitzer has assembled a new panel to consider the bids. The four groups will make presentations to the panel Apr. 10. "Details about the future of our bid are forthcoming, but the one thing I can say with certainty is that Excelsior is moving forward and we're excited about the presentation we are about to make to the panel," Burke said.

Sept. 9. Let go at 6-1 in the GI Queen Elizabeth II Challenge Cup at Keeneland, she made in four in a row with a well timed 1/2-length victory over Mauralakana (Fr) Oct. 14. The filly went through the ring at Fasig-Tipton's November Sale after that success and was purchased by Jon

The four-year-old mounted her challenge on the turn and drew clear to win. "We ran her a little short, but fortunately she's not a big filly, so I could get away with it," said Christophe Clement. Clement indicated that the filly may make her next start in the GIII Churchill Distaff Turf Mile May 5 or the GI Gamely BC H. at Hollywood May 28. Video, sponsored by Taylor Made.

Obligated to race last of the five runners after a tardy break in her return, she was urged closer in early stretch. An unrelenting wide run carried her beyond Une Pivoine to claim the rosette in cozy fashion. "She was keen to post and, after breaking slowly, she was cold in the early stages, so I feared she had run her race before the start," admitted trainer Jean-Claude Rouget. "I lowered my binoculars, as I thought she was beaten, so it was a pleasant surprise to see her pick up the way she did in the straight. Racing in midfield through the opening exchanges of this seasonal debut, she made smooth headway to take the lead 1 1/2 furlongs from home and was ridden out in the final eighth to notch a comprehensive five-length score. "We were a bit worried because she got boiled over today, but a furlong down I was quite happy," commented winning handler Richard Fahey. Referring to possible tilts at the June 1 G1 Coronation Cup and Sept. 15 G1 Irish St Leger, the Yorkshire-based trainer added, "She'll have some massive entries this year, but she needs soft ground."
