DREAM RUSH STAYING IN TRAINING

Multiple Grade I winner Dream Rush (Wild Rush--Turbo Dream, by Unbridled), purchased for $3.3 million last month at Fasig-Tipton November by Halsey Manor, will return to the races at four in 2008, according to Daily Racing Form. She will continue to be trained by Rick Violette Jr. "She's been getting legged up at Kesmarc Farm in Lexington since the sales and will come to me at Palm Meadows around the first of the year," Violette told DRF. "Mr. Manor will race Dream Rush next year along with his mother, Susie Manor. The family has previously been involved with show horses, but decided they wanted to get into Thoroughbred racing, and obviously have started out at the highest level by purchasing a filly like Dream Rush." Purchased as a two-year-old in training for $285,000 at OBSFEB by West Point Thoroughbreds, the bay won six of nine starts for the syndicate, including the GI Test S. and GI Prioress S. She also finished second in the GI Acorn S., and has bankrolled $627,864 to date. She was shipped to Kentucky following a fifth in the inaugural Breeders' Cup F/M Sprint at Monmouth Oct. 26, and will join Violette's Florida string after the new year. "I'll probably try to get her started sometime near the end of the Gulfstream meet, with the Humana Distaff at Churchill Downs on Derby Day probably our first main goal," he added.

DANCING EDIE SOLD, RETIRED

Grade I winner Dancing Edie (Moscow Ballet--Duchess of Ack, by Slewpy) has been sold privately and will be retired, according to co-breeder Steve Warner, who raced the mare in partnership with majority owner J. Paul Reddam. "She will be going to Kentucky in a few days to be bred, and then go to Shadai Farm in Japan," said Warner. Winner of the GI John C. Mabee H. in 2006, the five-year-old ran second in that race this year before winning the GIII Senator Ken Maddy H. "It will be sad to see her go," said trainer Craig Dollase. The California-bred bay compiled a record of 21-4-7-2 and earnings of $782,535. She also ran second in both the GI Gamely BC S. and GI Yellow Ribbon S. in 2006, and third in the GI Del Mar Oaks in 2005.

THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN FILLY

It stands to reason that any man who would name a filly The Golden Noodle would have some personality. And sure enough, spend any time at all with Bill Feeley, owner and breeder of The Golden Noodle, and you're likely to come away with the impression that personality is not something he's lacking.

He cracks jokes. He curses like a sailor. He hunts bear in Alaska and vacations in Mexico. He freely shares his opinions, and he's easy with a hearty laugh. Ask the former oil rig operator what his job is these days, and he'll deadpan, "Drinking." In a lot of ways, Feeley embodies the independence of the state in which he was born and raised, Montana. The same state in which The Golden Noodle was also born and raised.

This Saturday, both Montana-breds will be at Hollywood Park, as the two-year-old The Golden Noodle, by freshman sire D'wildcat, tries to snap a two-race losing streak in the GI Hollywood Starlet S. The Jack Van Berg trainee has drawn the seven hole in the 1 1/16-mile event, which boasts a purse of $421,500 after a number of late supplements.

HIGH AGAIN DIES OF APPARENT HEART ATTACK Zayat Stables' graded stakes winner High Again (High Yield--Miss Belle O, by Olympio) died of an apparent heart attack during a workout at Payson Park

High Again

Thursday morning. Consigned by the Taylor Made Sales Agency to this year's Fasig-Tipton Kentucky November sale, she was bought back by her owners for $800,000. "She was working this morning at Payson Park, getting ready to run in the La Brea at Santa Anita," said Sobhy Sonbol, vice president of Zayat Stables. "I had David Flores booked for her, and she was leaving on the 19th, and had one more work scheduled." Sonbol said that the exercise rider escaped from the incident uninjured. "It's sad to lose her," said Sonbol. "She was in the sale; we bought her back and were planning on running her back in the La Brea. She's been doing great. We gave her a break over the fall and were getting her ready." Sonbol said that a post-mortem exam will be performed to confirm the cause of death. Zayat purchased High Again as a yearling at the 2005 Fasig-Tipton Kentucky July sale for $140,000, and she went on to win the GII Bonnie Miss S. at Gulfstream as a three-year-old in 2007. High Again also registered runner-up efforts in the GII Davona Dale S. and GIII Dogwood BC S. and was third in the GIII Iowa Oaks. Unraced since coming home fifth in the Aug. 4 GI Test S. at Saratoga, High Again had a record of 12-3-2-2 and earnings of $270,546.

stewards decision to disallow a claim of foul lodged by jockey Gerard Melancon, Daily Racing Form reports. Golden Yank finished a neck behind dead-heating winners Turf War (Dixie Union) and Z Humor (Distorted Humor). Filed by the Millard R. Seldin Revocable Trust--Golden Yank's owner--and trainer Gary Thomas, the appeal was received by the Louisiana Racing Commission Tuesday. It will be discussed at the panel's meeting in New Orleans today. "It appeals the inaction of the stewards rather than any particular action," Charles Gardiner, executive director of the commission, told Daily Racing Form. The Delta Jackpot's purse has not been distributed due to the fact that post-race test samples have not yet been cleared. The winners are slated to earn $400,000 apiece, and Golden Yank's third-place money is $100,000.

ARC PURSE DOUBLED WITH NEW SPONSOR
The Qatar Racing & Equestrian Club will begin a five-year sponsorship of the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in 2008; the race's purse has been upped to €4 million. That is approximately $5.8 million at current exchange rates, making the 2400-meter Arc the second-richest race in the world in 2008, behind only the G1 Dubai World Cup. The QREC will also sponsor the weekend of racing at Longchamp surrounding the signature autumn race. As a result of the sponsorship, France Galop will offer a €350,000 race for Arabians on Arc Day. The Arc had been sponsored by Groupe Lucien Barriere since 1999, but that relationship expired this year.

INDIAN SUN WORKS FOR FUTURITY Cecil Peacock's Indian Sun (Indian Charlie), who closed to complete the exacta under The Leopard in the grassy GIII Generous S. at Hollywood Nov. 23, worked six panels yesterday in advance of next Saturday's GI CashCall Futurity S. The two-year-old colt worked in company with stablemate A Dubai in 1:16 2/5 on the grass. "He's been on the turf, and we wanted to keep him there," explained trainer Dan Hendricks, who was satisfied with Indian Sun's move under Alex Solis. Indian Sun has yet to start on the main track. In his career debut, he rallied from well back to be second in a sprint down the hillside course at Santa Anita Oct. 13, then broke his maiden in a similar race Nov. 4. The $140,000 BESMAR juvenile ran well enough in the Generous, and Hendricks is optimistic that he can be effective on Hollywood's synthetic surface. "He trained on Cushion Track just fine this summer," said Hendricks. "We entered him here for his first start at six furlongs, but scratched after he drew the one hole. He will blow out here on Cushion Track Wednesday." Peacock, Hendricks and Solis teamed to win the Futurity with Brother Derek in 2005.

INDYMINE- MSW WINNER AT TAMPA BAY on Dec. 11

The Golden Noodle will probably be some kind of a price tomorrow, but the chestnut has talent, for sure. Third and then second in maiden special weights at

The Golden Noodle

Hollywood Park in May and June to begin her career, she was, in a change in tactics, taken well off the pace in the Landaluce S. over the strip in late June. She responded with a powerfully late rally to break her maiden by 3 1/2 lengths at 33-1 odds. Eventual GI Del Mar Debutante winner and fellow Starlet hopeful Set Play (Van Nistelrooy) was back in third that day.

She reverted back to her pace-pressing ways in her next two, however, running a tired eighth in the 1 1/16-mile GI Oak Leaf S. Sept. 29 in her return from an unscheduled three-month absence before a third-place try in the seven-panel Moccasin S. at Hollywood Nov. 11 under jockey Clinton Potts.

"We were hoping to keep her off the pace in those races, but Potts just kept sending her up to the front," said Feeley. "She just runs so hard that she's not going to get a mile and a sixteenth that way. Saturday, we're going to switch to [Julien] Leparoux, and the plan is to try and get her to relax."

All that Glitters...

The story of The Golden Noodle goes back to the 2004 Keeneland November Sale, when Feeley purchased the then 12-year-old Beau Genius mare Golden Genie for $64,000 while in foal to Grade I winner D'wildcat. Feeley brought Golden Genie, a MSP Illinois-bred winner of $269,793, and a few other purchases back to his 40-acre farm in Roscoe, Montana, a small town about an hour's drive from Billings.

In the spring of 2005, Golden Genie foaled a pretty chestnut filly whose long legs gave her trouble getting up.

No horse entering stud in 2008

LAWYER RON at

"And my girlfriend, Marilyn, starting calling her The Noodle, because her legs looked like big, long noodles," Feeley remembered with a laugh. "We'd go out every hour and help her up so she could nurse, and that's how she got her name."

The Noodle, as Feeley still calls her, quickly endeared herself to her new human family--especially Marilyn--with her friendly, laid-back attitude.

"Marilyn would have had her in at night watching TV, if I'd let her," Feeley said. "I'd come home, and Marilyn would be across the road in the pasture. The Noodle would be lying down, and Marilyn would be lying in the crook of her neck, reading a book to her. She just babies these horses like you wouldn't believe. And these two...when that filly sees Marilyn down at the paddock, she still goes nuts."

Feeley, now 55, has been around racing all his life, taking trips to the bush tracks around Montana, and has owned horses for the last 15 or 20 years, he estimates. For 20 years of his life, he spent time in Alaska moving oil rigs, but is now retired and spends the majority of time at his farm in Roscoe. Feeley has boarded as many as 45 of his horses there, but has scaled back and now has 18 head, only two of which are broodmares. That includes Golden Genie.

While The Golden Noodle has proven his best runner to date, Feeley had another very promising filly named Shine Up Ciel a few years back. In early summer of 2000, the juvenile daughter of Septieme Ciel, whom

Feeley purchased for just $7,500, won at first asking in a Hollywood maiden special weight field that included eventual MGISW Golden Ballet. Golden Ballet turned the tables in their next meeting, the Nursery S., winning by a half-length in race that earned Shine Up Ciel a 108 BRIS figure. She would only make one more start, though, bucking her shins badly when running fourth in a stakes.

"After that, she came down with a bad fever and had heat in her feet and we had to put her down," said Feeley. "It was sad. That was a really nice filly."

Feeley has also dabbled in the stallion business. Back in 1995, he purchased a son of Gone West named Grey West for just $12,000 as a yearling. Grey West overcame his conformational flaws to win a maiden-claiming race at Santa Anita, but was eased in a race two starts later and retired. Feeley shipped him to Montana and bred a few of his mares to him.

"He had a pretty crooked ankle and he didn't race long, but he's just impeccably bred," said Feeley. "His first three dams are all stakes winners, and his second dam is a Group 1 winner. I've bred a few mares to him and got some winners, but it's all small-time stuff."

One mare that has visited Grey West, a son of La Grande Epoque (Lyphard), is Golden Genie, dam of The Golden Noodle. She produced a Grey West filly in 2006, named Golden Noodle Soup, who is slated to join Van Berg's stable next year; and a colt named Crispy Noodle this spring. Golden Genie is back in foal to Kentucky stallion Johar (Gone West).

Feeley races primarily at Emerald Downs near Seattle, but typically sends a few of his better horses down to Jack Van Berg, an old friend, in California. That's how The Noodle ended up in Van Berg's hands, and now she has a chance to give Feeley his biggest win ever, and Van Berg his first Grade I victory since Fit to Scout won the John A. Morris S. (now the Personal Ensign) in 1991. With another day to go, Feeley's blood is already pumping.

"It's pretty exciting, coming out of this country up here and going down to California and running for that kind of money in a Grade I race," he admitted.

Feeley hopes to have better luck than when he traveled to Del Mar in August for The Golden Noodle's expected start in the Debutante.

Just minutes before The Noodle was to head to the paddock for the Debutante, stewards scratched the filly because of an "unapproved medication administration." Van Berg, as it turned out, had treated the filly with a peppermint glycerine mouthwash--a routine practice for the Hall of Famer--violating a California Horse Racing Board rule that prohibits any fluid other than water on race day. The infraction seemed minor to many, but a rule's a rule, and The Golden Noodle was scratched.

Feeley still has some choice words for track officials at Del Mar, and is hoping for some redemption in the Starlet.

"Man, I just hope she runs like gangbusters," he said.

The Golden Noodle has been very good in her morning drills in recent weeks and, if she gets the right trip, Feeley just may get his wish.

Regardless of how she runs tomorrow, The Golden Noodle will get a break at Feeley's farm in Montana.

"After this one, we'll bring her home and let her run around in the snow up here," said Feeley. "Jack kind of wanted to keep her down there and hand walk her, and I said, 'Bullst.' He said, 'But it's real cold up there.' And I said, 'What do you think it was like when she was born? It was colder than hell.'" L.M.

Testing out Hollywood's sod for the first time here while returning to sprints, the 4-1 chance was ideally placed as Shootist (Memo {Chi} sped through a half in :44.64, then was roused clear to a two-length tally when that foe tired badly. The late-running Hurry Up Austin (Lake Austin) got place honors. Kruger Park, a $150,000 FTKJUL yearling, is a half to Outstanding Info (Tactical Advantage), SW & GSP, $322,092; and Farno (Tactical Advantage), SW & GSP, $173,110. SERRA SONG (c, 3, Unbridled's Song--Serra Lake {GISW, $486,760}, by Seattle Slew) drew widest of 13 for his six-furlong debut over the Cushion Track Nov. 22 and raced greenly, but rallied stoutly late and dead-heated for fourth--placed third--while falling just a neck short of the victory. Stretching out for the first time, the $350,000 KEESEP yearling cornered wide on the first turn, carrying several rivals wider into the track. He led up the backstretch, turned for home clearly in front and was able to withstand a late bid from favored Good Request (Dynaformer), one who was forced seven wide on the club turn, to score by 1 3/4 lengths at odds of 5-2. Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-1, $30,180. Video, sponsored by Taylor Made. Click for the brisnet.com chart
