LUCK OF THE DRAW

The far outside post compromised the chances of Lookin at Lucky (Smart Strike) in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Nov. 7, but he'll have every opportunity to save ground today in the GI CashCall Futurity at Hollywood. The bay utilized his tactical speed to post victories over every form of all-weather available in Southern California, including a debut score over the local Cushion Track July 11 that saw him tabbed a TDN Rising Star. He had inside draws en route to wins in the GI Del Mar Futurity on Polytrack Sept. 7 and the GI Norfolk S. on the crosstown Pro-Ride Oct. 4. Forced into a troubled overland trip in the Breeders' Cup, the dependable colt came up a head short to Godolphin's improbable winner Vale of York (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), with Noble's Promise (Cuvee) a half-length back in third. Lookin at Lucky spearheads a triumvirate from trainer Bob Baffert, who equalled D. Wayne Lukas with four winners in this race when Pioneerof the Nile (Empire Maker) scored last year. "This is when you find out what you really have," Baffert told Daily Racing Form. "This is the closest surface we have to dirt." Baffert's other Futurity winners include 1997 hero Real Quiet (Quiet American), who went on to wear the GI Kentucky Derby roses the following spring; and 2000 victor Point Given (Thunder Gulch), the Horse of the Year for 2001. Lookin at Lucky will have a bit of a break following today's race. "I just want to run him a couple of times before the Derby," Baffert added.

JUDDMONTE HORSES TO BILL MOTT

Manager Garrett O'Rourke confirmed Friday afternoon that the Juddmonte horses previously trained by the late Bobby Frankel have been transferred to Hall of Famer Bill Mott. Frankel's former assistant Humberto Ascanio, who saddled Ventura (Chester House) to a career finale win in the GI Matriarch S. Nov. 28, will retain Grade I winner Midships (Mizzen Mast); that grey is currently on the sidelines. "We were down to about 15 horses," O'Rourke said. "Bill has already taken over the ones in Florida. It'll be up to him as to where he wants to keep them." Frankel achieved significant success with runners flying the green and pink, especially those who began their careers overseas, such as Eclipse champions Wandesta (GB) (Nashwan), Ryafan (Lear Fan) and Intercontinental (GB) (Danehill). The late, great conditioner also had Juddmonte's Empire Maker (Unbridled) throughout his career, giving the operation its first success in a U.S. Classic when he captured the 2003 GI Belmont S. When asked if the pattern of sending young horses abroad before eventually repatriating them, O'Rourke responded, "That's entirely up to Prince Khalid. Bill Mott is the number one trainer right now. We're hoping to just forge a new relationship and keep the success going." Cont. p3

Bill Mott commented, "It's a huge addition to our stable, to me individually and to our staff. It goes without saying it's a big job, and, as I would say, there are big shoes to fill. Everybody knows Bobby was a great horsemen and did a great job. We're going to have to work hard to keep up." He continued, "I'll probably have a dozen horses [in California]. There's a handful out there, and we'll probably add a handful of horses who might be able to run out there. It'll primarily be Juddmonte horses, with a handful of the other horses." When asked if he would maintain a year-round string in California, Mott replied, "It's one meet at a time, right now. If it seems to be working out well, it's possible we'll leave a small number out there, but that has yet to be determined." Ventura was retired following her Matriarch triumph, and it's not certain as to whether Proviso (GB) (Dansili {GB}) and Visit (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB})--both Grade I-placed this year as four-year-olds--will remain in training. "They're in the process of retiring some horses right now," Mott explained. "Until I receive the horses, I probably won't be able to comment on any individual names. We'll find out after I get set up after Christmas."

Pellegrini Champ Eyeing Options...

The connections of G1 Carlos Pellegrini winner Interaction (Arg) (Easing Along--Inter Rails {Arg}, by Ride the Rails) are weighing several options regarding the racing future of the accomplished colt, who scored a crowning victory in South America's signature event Dec. 13 at San isidro. Chilean owner Jorge Cardemil said an international career is in the offing for Argentina's top three-year-old, which could include South America's continental championship, the G1 Gran Premio Latinoamericana at Club Hipico de Santiago Mar. 7, or a start in the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in Paris. "If he is not sold, he will continue in Buenos Aires with an eye on the Latinoamericano in Chile, or he may race in the U.S. after he completes an acclimation period in Ocala to subsequently target the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe," Cardemil said. The bay posted a three-length victory in the Pellegrini to annex his third Group 1 victory and fifth career win from nine starts in Argentina. Interaction won the G1 Gran Premio Raul y Raul E. Chevalier during his juvenile season and also captured the G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club, the second leg of Argentina's Triple Crown.

KEENELAND'S RACE TO SAVE HISTORY by Jon Forbes

For 115 years, the Daily Racing Form has served as horse racing's newspaper of record, and now Keeneland and the University of Kentucky are in a race to save old editions of the publication before they are lost forever.

The Form, unable to find room for over a century's worth of newspapers, donated its entire archive to the Keeneland Library in 2000. Keeneland subsequently built a climate-controlled basement beneath its library to house the archive, which was put to good use by Laura Hillenbrand while she worked on her 2001 non-fiction best-selling book, "Seabiscuit: An American Legend."

Officials at Keeneland later decided to make the archive accessible to anybody interested in the history of horse racing. The best way of doing that, it was determined, was to create digital copies of each edition of the newspaper and make them available to the public through a free online database. A limited number of complete editions of the Form are already available at <http://kdl.kyvl.org/drf>.

"A number of the most important years are in really bad shape," Keeneland President and CEO Nick Nicholson said. "Some of the older copies are OK, but they changed the ink and the quality of paper during the Depression and World War II when money got tight. If you just touch them, they disintegrate. But that's what makes this collection so special; a lot of the copies, to the best of our knowledge, are the only surviving copies in the world."

Keeneland searched for a partner for the project, and found a perfect match with the University of Kentucky Libraries, also based in Lexington. The two groups started a pilot program in 2007 where they tested different archiving techniques to see if it was even possible to complete such a mammoth undertaking.

"We had a couple of false starts," Nicholson said. "We couldn't quite get the combination of cameras and technology. It's only in the past two years that everything came together: the quality of the workers, the technology, the sophistication of the database and the teamwork capability. It's taken awhile to figure out, and, fortunately for us, the cameras and software got better, so we are able to get done what we need to get done."

It was up to Rebecca Ryder, a preservation librarian at the University of Kentucky, and her staff to figure out the best way to digitally save 11 million pages of material.

"We wanted to have something that was going to be usable for a researcher," Ryder said. "We had to imagine what kind of online presence that would require, so they could find what they'd be looking for."

Ryder received permission to take apart the bound volumes, which allowed microfilm cameras to read text along the margins.

"Once we got permission to do that and developed and fine-tuned the technology, that really made the image-capturing process go a lot faster," Ryder said. "It's time-consuming to take them apart, but once they are in separate pages, you can fly and you can get much better images, too."

After the images are taken, the film is placed on a microfilm scanner, which saves them digitally. Next comes the "digital cooking," where each digital copy of the Form is segmented into articles, past performances, entries, results, tables, comics and advertisements. The search feature on the website allows users to look up specific names or words, and results are organized by decade.

Coverage of nearly every Triple Crown season and the inaugural Breeders' Cup is currently available for perusal. Researchers can read about how the appropriately named Upset handed Man O'War his only career defeat in the 1919 Sanford S., and see how editors were seemingly unaware of the significance of Upset's victory, as the recap wasn't even the day's headline story. Horseplayers, meanwhile, will develop a greater appreciation of the handicapping data available in the present when they see the threadbare past performances of the past.

"We have filmed and digitized almost all the Derbies up to 1991," Ryder said of her team's progress. "They're not all online yet, as it's the 'digital cooking' that takes so long. Once that is all up--and we expect to have it online by early March so it can be trafficked by journalists for the upcoming Triple Crown season--we are going to target some of the more fragile things again. And, for marketing purposes, we might want to target some of the races that lead up to the Derby, which could be used for Derby research."

Becky Ryder UKY.com

But there is much left to do. Of the 11 million pages of material, 265,000 have been digitized, and 104,000 are available online.

"It's possible we can complete four million unique pages in five years, if we could ramp up," Ryder said. "That wouldn't be everything, but that would be four million of the most damaged, most imperiled and most important materials. I'm always reluctant to say 'important' because importance is of relative value, but we know from reference questions what is the most requested material."

Nicholson has turned to the racing industry for additional financial support.

"We are hoping that it will continue to get cheaper as we go further along, and that we can get donations so we can hire more graduate students to do more pages," Nicholson said. "We know it's going to be a multi-year project. We haven't put a specific dollar amount on it, but we are very dedicated, whether it takes us a few years or decades. We're going to see this through."

Those who wish to make a donation can contact Fran Taylor at Keeneland.

"It's our history, and it's the chronicling of the pageantry and our sport," Nicholson said of the Form. "Many of the older volumes also covered the entertainment business. It's a great snapshot of the birth of radio and television, and of who was opening and starring on Broadway. It's the essence of what we are all about, and it needs to be preserved."

The Idea is Excellence.

4:43p HR/TVG 11th-CRC, $29,500, Alw, 3yo/up, f/m, 5 1/2f
LA CHICA SENSUAL (Lightnin N Thunder) makes her return after a 14-month layoff. First or second in all six career starts, the three-year-old filly rolled to an 8 1/4-length win in the Desert Vixen S. at Calder in August of 2008, then tried two turns in the My Dear Girl S. that October and swept home a 4 1/2-length victress. brisnet.com PPs

6:35p HR/TVG 7th-HOL, $36K, Msw, 2yo, 6f
DONTELLMETOFELONS (Thunder Gulch), a half to GISW I Want Revenge (Stephen Got Even), makes his debut for owner/breeder David Lanzman and trainer Jeff Mullins. The dark bay has posted only moderate works at Santa Anita. Exfusion (Tiznow), whose second dam is a half to Broodmare of the Year Fall Aspen, came running late to be third in his Nov. 29 debut. He looms the horse to beat off that 3/4-length loss. brisnet.com PPs

Content to bide her time at the back of the pack through the early going, the chestnut fanned wide at the top of the lane and hit the gas, outfinishing Libby's Indian (Indian Ocean) to score by a length. Venezuelan Champ to U.S.:

Clasico del Caribe heroine Bamberra (Ven) (Water Poet) has arrived in Florida for a crack at U.S. racing. The Venezuelan powerhouse filly who registered 16 wins from 18 starts in her native land, is expected to join the barn of trainer Pablo Andrade at Calder Race Course following her release from quarantine. Proclaimed as Venezuela's champion two-year-old filly, Bamberra racing exploits in Venezuela included winning that nation's Triple Crown for fillies and two-thirds of her country's local Triple Crown. With her 4 1/2-length victory in the Clasico del Caribe Dec. 6 (video) at Camarero Racecourse in Puerto Rico, the Water Poet filly became the fifth female and the ninth Venezuelan Thoroughbred to win the prestigious Caribbean nations' Thoroughbred international championship.

Ted Carr to Retire:

Ted Carr, manager of Diamond A Farm, will retire to his Versailles, Kentucky, farm at the end of the year. His assistant and son, Ted M. "Mac" Carr, will assume the managing role as of Jan. 1. A Lexington native, Carr helped Virginia Kraft Payson establish her broodmare operation at Payson Stud, and she gave him a nod by naming her GI Travers S. winner Carr de Naskra (Star de Naskra) in honor of her farm manager. In 1984, Carr began working for Allen Paulson and helped develop his Brookside Farm into an Eclipse Award-winning operation. Following Paulson's death in 2000, Gerald Ford acquired two parcels of the Brookside land and dubbed it Diamond A, bringing in Carr and his son to run the farm. Carr, honored as the 1977 Kentucky Thoroughbred Farm Manager of the Year, said, "It's a way of life for me; I love horses and I like to teach horses things."

$25     $50     $75     $100

When you fill out your foal registration application, designate $25, $50, $75, $100 or an amount of your choice to The Jockey Club's Thoroughbred retirement checkoff program.

Your payment will go directly to two leading organizations that help retire, retrain and adopt Thoroughbred racehorses.

The Jockey Club, through profits earned from its subsidiaries, will provide $200,000 in funding to these charities to supplement the monies raised through the checkoff program in 2009.
