HIGHCLERE FILLY
SCORES IN G3 ALBANY S.
P4

CROWNING GLORY

Always held in the highest esteem at Ballydoyle, Michael Tabor, Derrick Smith and Susan Magnier's Lillie Langtry (Ire) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}) delivered on one of the biggest stages yesterday, getting Aidan O'Brien and the Irish-based operation off the mark at Royal Ascot in the G1 Coronation S. Injured when eighth as the 3-2 favorite in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf at Santa Anita in November, she had been nursed back over the subsequent months and caught the eye when fifth in a blanket finish on her return in the G1 Irish 1000 Guineas at The Curragh May 23. Using that as a springboard, the well-backed 7-2 pick was positioned on the heels of the leaders snug against the rail by Johnny Murtagh and was wound up for her challenge at the top of the stretch. Gathering in the positively ridden Gile Na Greine (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) with a furlong remaining, she asserted to score by 1 1/4 lengths. "We always thought she was a very good filly, and it's a credit to everybody who got her back from her injury," O'Brien commented. "She was off for the whole winter and was just ready to start in the Irish Guineas, so it was a great run there." Cont. p2

EXCHANGE BETTING BILL ADVANCES IN NJ

According to published reports, a bill that would allow for exchange betting in New Jersey is now in front of the state legislature. If approved, the legislation would give the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority the power to develop a platform, modeled after betting exchanges such as British-based Betfair, under which New Jersey residents would be able to go head-to-head in placing bets on horse races. The NJSEA would match competing bettors, and ensure that the winners be paid. It would mark the first time exchange betting would be offered in the U.S. It has not yet been outlined how the revenue will be split. The bill, co-sponsored by Republican Assemblywoman Caroline Casagrande and Democratic Assemblywoman Connie Wagner, is set to go to the floor for a vote June 21.

IT FOR A KING

Royal Ascot may be the playground of the rich and famous, but there is always room for a fairytale or two, and Kinsale King (Yankee Victor) could supply the drama in today's G1 Golden Jubilee S. His comfortable half-length defeat of the high-class Rocket Man (Aus) (Viscount {Aus}) in the Mar. 27 G1 Dubai Golden Shaheen pitched his reputation into the stratosphere, and trainer Carl O'Callaghan is dreaming of more euphoria on this elite stage. "Ascot has been on my agenda since Wesley Ward won races at Royal Ascot last year," O'Callaghan said. "I knew if I had the horse I could come here, and my owner said let's try it." Cont. p8

Lillie Langtry got off the mark in the G3 Coolmore Stud Fillies' Sprint S. at Naas last June, but was a costly failure for chalk-backers when second in this meeting's G3 Albany S. Following a break, she returned to annex the G2 Debutante S. at Leopardstown Aug. 6 before running third at 8-11 in the G1 Moyglare Stud S. in testing ground at The Curragh Aug. 30. The filly warmed up for Santa Anita with a smooth success in Newmarket's Tattersalls Timeform Fillies' 800 in October, and her eclipse in California was a shock before it was revealed she had suffered a slab fracture in her knee during the race. Any doubts about whether she had retained ability at three were dispelled with a closing fifth on her comeback in the Irish Guineas; she was beaten less than a length in that Classic. Settled close to the early leaders here by Johnny Murtagh, she preserved vital energy for the straight and, when angled out, rallied gamely to overhaul Gile Na Greine in the run to the line. "I had a perfect run and saved ground on the bend, but you need to be traveling around here," Murtagh said. "She is a true little champion and was by far our best filly last year--going to America I was telling Aidan how far we were going to win the Breeders' Cup by--but thankfully she came back well and has a great mind. This year has been a bit testing, but you can't be feeling sorry for yourself, and the next race is the most important one now." Aidan O'Brien, looking at a possible rise in trip for the winner, added, "It could be the G1 Sussex S. [at Goodwood July 28] if she stays at a mile, but if she did step up to a mile and a quarter, she could go for either the G1 Pretty Polly S. [at The Curragh June 26] or G1 Nassau S. [at Goodwood July 31]." Gile Na Greine's trainer Jim Bolger told PA Sport, "I'm pleased. We'll take her home now and see where we are. She carries plenty of condition and she behaves a bit like a colt in that we can get plenty of mileage out of her. She won't be going back in trip, that's for sure." Henry Cecil was not despondent following the game effort of the disqualified G1 1000 Guineas first-past-the-post Jacqueline Quest, who briefly threatened in the straight but could not match the winner's acceleration. "Jacqueline Quest ran very well--there are no excuses--those fillies are the best there are," he told PA Sport. "I haven't got a plan for her at the moment." Click for the Racing Post chart, the TRNi PPs, or the free brisnet.com catalogue-style pedigree. handicap back at that venue Feb. 6. He tacked on a win in a similar affair at Ripon Apr. 15, was runner-up in the London Gold Cup H. at Newbury May 15 and lined up for this pattern-race bow off another handicap score at Newmarket May 30. Monterosso was settled in fourth after an alert break and maintained his handy position throughout. Taking closer order rounding the home turn and into the straight, he quickened to the front with 1 1/2 furlongs remaining and powered clear in the closing stages to win impressively. "We saw his class at Ripon and that win told us we should step him up," said trainer Mark Johnston. "[Jockey] Frankie [Dettori] told us after Newmarket that Monterosso had the speed for a mile and the attitude for a mile and a half." Dettori added, "He keeps on improving, and I thought it was a tremendous performance today. Perhaps a pop at the [G1] Irish Derby [at The Curragh June 27] could be on the cards." Runner-up Arctic Cosmos will also follow a Classic route, but will head to Doncaster instead of The Curragh. "It was a huge run," trainer John Gosden told PA Sport. "We'll put him away now and bring him back for the [G1] St Leger [at Doncaster Sept. 11]." Click for the Racing Post chart, the TRNi PPs, or the free brisnet.com catalogue-style pedigree. was a case of more of the same as she followed up in this ultra-competitive renewal. Patiently ridden in the rear early after missing the break again, the bay moved into contention by the halfway point and was being ridden amongst the dominant stands' side group as Margot Did cut loose under Hayley Turner. "She never hits the gate running, and there's no real point in buzzing her up to jump it, so we let her do her own thing," Hannon said. "Once she gets rolling, she's a pretty decent filly--she's only little, but she's good. She's a lovely mover, but she's a funny filly. Sometimes you work her in between a couple at home and she doesn't work very well, but when she comes to the races she knows her job." Jockey Richard Hughes added, "At Goodwood, I jumped and she landed on all fours and she wouldn't go, so I just sat on her and she came good. I thought she'd be over that today, but she's done exactly the same thing, and you can't bully her, so you have to accept it. She'll get a mile standing on her head--she needed every yard today, and I outstayed the runner-up." Margot Did's conditioner Michael Bell said, "It's gutting in the short-term, but I know we are sitting on a very good filly long-term who has the future ahead of her. We only bought her for 10 grand, and she didn't breeze particularly well, but since she came into the yard she has been a professional and gone from strength to strength." Kenny McPeek was delighted with the effort of Tiz My Time, and told PA Sport, "She'd taken on a couple of decent American sprinters on her two runs back home and has been training well on my grass gallops. Running her was more of a test to see what type of fillies and colts I need for the future and what has happened this week has given me a good feel for that."

No sooner had Lillie Langtry (Ire) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}) got the ball rolling for Ballydoyle at the Royal meeting, the heavily supported Mikhail Glinka doubled up after a thrilling finale to this unique marathon contest. Near the top of the tree at two, the bay was denied a clear run when an unlucky sixth in the G2 Royal Lodge here in September before winning the Listed Eyrefield S. over nine furlongs at Leopardstown and finishing runner-up in the G1 Criterium de Saint-Cloud in the space of nine days in November. After a promising return third in the 10-furlong G3 Ballysax S. back at Leopardstown Apr. 18, he was forced onto the sidelines through minor injury as the Derby passed him by. Making up for lost time here, he stayed close to the early tempo and, after being pushed wide before the final turn, kept grinding away in the straight to eventually overhaul Theology in the final 50 yards and win the bobber. "It was a mickey-mouse, stop-start race, I got pushed into the middle of the track and he didn't really get a nice run, but he stays well," Johnny Murtagh commented. "He is a big horse and a high cruiser, and the gallop didn't suit him, but he still won. He's probably not straightforward, but he's a classy fellow." Aidan O'Brien is looking at the G1 St Leger at Doncaster Sept. 11 as an ultimate target. "He was just ready to come here today after a couple of setbacks, so I think there is definitely improvement to come," the conditioner commented. "We weren't sure about the trip and his fitness, but Johnny nursed him round and he'll learn and progress a lot from that. He is a Leger horse with class." Having made a belated and winning debut over a mile at Kempton last May, Rainbow Peak was not seen again until taking 10-furlong handicaps here Sept. 25 and at Newbury Oct. 24. Losing his unbeaten record when a staying-on second on his return in the Listed Hambleton H. at York May 13, he was buried on the rail through some brutal early fractions here. Shaken up on the home bend, the heavily supported favorite picked up Kingdom of Fife under a drive before the furlong pole and kept on strongly to the line for a personal best. "He wasn't born until May 20th, he came into training quite late and then got a minor pelvic fracture," explained veteran trainer Michael Jarvis, who saddled his first winner at this meet in 1969. "We got him going, then he did a hairline [fracture] of a tibia, so he's had very little racing. He's been working like a group horse, and by his [starting] price other people knew. We've taken the precaution of entering him in the odd group race abroad, as he's obviously worked his way out of a handicap situation now. Ten-furlong races, hopefully in this country, is the plan, but we might try to pick up some decent prizemoney abroad. [Jockey] Neil [Callan] said the strong pace suited and he picked up well off that pace. Neil also said that he's so good over a mile and a quarter that he wouldn't change things by going a mile and a half [just yet]." Click for the Racing Post chart or the video, courtesy attheraces.com.

Tuesday's G1 St James's Palace S. flop Makfi (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) scoped dirty, trainer Mikel Delzangles announced yesterday. Only seventh in Royal Ascot's mile contest, Mathieu Offenstadt's G1 2000 Guineas hero is set for a break. "Makfi is okay but he scoped very dirty after the race, so we're going to sort that out," Offenstadt told PA Sport. "It was disappointing on the day, but we now have a reason why he didn't run his best race. The [Aug. 15] G1 Prix Jacques le Marois at Deauville could be his next target."

High Note...

If Harry Herbert sounded hoarse yesterday, he may have no voice left at all by the time Royal Ascot ends this afternoon. On Thursday, Approve (Ire) (Oasis Dream {GB}) carried the Highclere Thoroughbred Racing colors to victory in the G2 Norfolk S. One day later, Memory (Ire) (Daneshill Dancer {Ire}) surged to capture the G3 Norfolk S., while Theology (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) narrowly missed upsetting the G3 Queen's Vase. Highclere's Harbinger (GB) (Dansili {GB}) is among the favorites for the G2 Hardwicke S. this afternoon.

"It's fantastic," said Herbert, the managing director for the Highclere partnerships. "Obviously, it's a meeting where we always aspire to have runners for our owners. It's singularly the most important race meeting in Europe, as far as we're concerned. We ran four horses so far [at Royal Ascot], and to have two wins, a short-head second and a good run but unplaced is just fantastic."

Established in 1992, Highclere quickly made a name for itself by campaigning the likes of top sprinters Lake Coniston (Ire) (Bluebird) and Tamarisk (Ire) (Green Desert), and the ownership syndicate has grown in popularity. Most of the partnerships Highclere puts together are done in 20 shares.

Approve races for the Bahram partnership, while Memory has the Masquerade moniker. The cost per share for the two-horse Masquerade partnership was £11,950; in addition to Memory, those partners will eventually be represented by a Shamardal colt trained by Brian Meehan. Accompanying Approve in the Bahram partnership is a Motivator (GB) colt in the care of Ed Dunlop. The cost per share for Bahram was £13,950.

"We put together mostly 20-share syndicates," Herbert explained. "We do have one more exclusive syndicate at 10 shares, which involves buying horses at a higher average price. Most of these syndicates work out at about £14,000 a share. The big payment is up front, with the purchase price of the horse and all costs through to the end of its two-year-old year. Then there is a small additional sum for the three-year-old year and, if we keep them as four-year-olds, again there is additional sum. Often there is prizemoney that offsets those costs, or we've sold one of the horses.

"[The partnerships include] people who already own racehorses, as well as those coming in for the first time, or those who just feel this is the best way of being involved in racing," Herbert offered. "We feel that, for £14-15,000, about $20,000, to be involved in these sorts of horses is very exciting. To come to Royal Ascot, to dress up in the top hat and tails...to be competitive and to take on Sheikh Mohammed and others is what it's all about. This is our eighth winner here. It's a tough place to win a race, so we're thrilled."

Unlike Memory and Approve, who were acquired as yearlings for 72,000gns and 65,000gns, respectively, Harbinger had a much higher price tag of 180,000gns.

"He was one of the most beautiful yearlings I'd ever seen," Herbert recalled.

The four-year-old is part of the Admiral Rous partnership that was divided into 10 shares at a buy-in price of £36,500.

"There are two owners from Australia, and Bob Manfuso in the U.S.--he won't be here, but he'll be watching, I'm sure," Herbert said. "We've got one from the Bahamas, one from South Africa, and the rest are from England, so it's a real mix. I think that by putting these sorts of syndicates together, you can get owners from abroad who enjoy having horses trained in England. They may want to come to Royal Ascot, but, obviously, they don't want to spend a fortune doing that. To buy two horses and pay for the training costs is a lot of money. This way, you get a lot more. It's a lot cheaper and a lot more cost-effective. You're getting involved with horses bought for 80,000gns or 100,000gns, plus these horse were selected by John Warren, whose record over the years speaks for itself.

"We're very conscious of the communication side of things," Herbert continued. "It's enormously important to us. We treat every owner, wherever they live in the world, as if they own the horses outright. We act as a racing manager and, whether you're in Hong Kong or America or down the road from our office, you will get the same service."

Herbert worked for Bloodstock Research and Matchmaker Breeders' Exchange in the U.S., then moved back to Europe in 1985 to represent Matchmaker. Seven years later, he melded the lessons he'd learned to form Highclere. Its first partnerships consisted of friends, but early success put out the good word.

“Barry [Weisbord, founder of Matchmaker and now publisher of the TDN] was a fantastic mentor to me,” Herbert noted. “He taught me a lot about marketing, and business generally. He was a huge influence on me, and gave me the confidence to start something like this. I’d seen how it worked in the States with the likes of Dogwood Stable and Cot Campbell doing it in the early days. I thought, ‘Gosh, that just has to work in England,’ especially if you do it professionally and you treat it, which we do, as a luxury goods business.”

“That’s what we are,” he affirmed. “All of our literature and everything we do is treating it as a luxury goods business. We were very fortunate when we started that we had a good horse called Lake Coniston, who was champion sprinter. I think we bought him for 22,000gns, and we wound up selling to Coolmore for £2.5 million. Then we got Tamarisk, who was also a champion sprinter, bought for 75,000gns and sold for £3.5 million. Suddenly, the syndicate owners were having fun and making some money as well.”

“But you do need the consistency in order to keep selling shares,” Herbert pointed out. “Thanks to John Warren’s brilliance in what he does, and the way we run it, we’ve managed to come up with some good horses every year. Of course, we’ve had our fair share of bad ones, too, but in a syndicate, you hope you get a good one to offset the bad ones, which is the whole point--you’re not putting all of your eggs in one basket.”

There are some high-profile names who have participated in Highclere’s syndicates. Among them is famed Manchester United manager Sir Alex Ferguson, who had co-owned champion miler Rock of Gibraltar (Ire) (Danehill); and actress Elizabeth Hurley.

“Sir Alex Ferguson I had met a few times up at York,” Herbert revealed. “He began to take notice of how Highclere was doing. I said, ‘Look, if you’re ever interested, I’d love to have you aboard with Highclere,’ and he did. We’ve had a lot of fun together. He was [partners] in a very good staying horse we had called Distinction, who went to the Melbourne Cup. He won the Goodwood Cup and [placed] in the Ascot Gold Cup. [Ferguson] is in a good filly at the moment called Rose Blossom, who runs in a listed race [today] in Scotland.”

Herbert met Hurley through a mutual friend.

“She came to one of our yearling parades, which are lovely, and wound up coming to Richard Hannon’s one day to see how the training went,” Herbert recalled. “She loved it, and was hooked. She came into a couple of syndicates.”

“That’s how it works--through word of mouth, with introductions,” Herbert noted. “We’re hugely driven by PR, and good horses create good PR. At the end of the day, we try to market ourselves not just to the racing world, but outside of it, to anyone who’s perhaps only thought about owning racehorses. They may pick up a Sunday newspaper or luxury goods magazine and read a good article and think, ‘This might be fun.’”

In 2000, Highclere was represented by the outstanding filly Petrushka (Ire) (Unfuwain), an Ir£110,000 yearling purchase who went on to capture the G1 Irish Oaks, G1 Yorkshire Oaks and G1 Prix de l’Opera during her sophomore campaign. The chestnut was conditioned by Sir Michael Stoute, who will send out Harbinger today.

“We’re not really going to send the precocious type of yearling or two-year-old to Sir Michael Stoute,” Herbert explained. “We’d much rather send him the later-maturing, expensive, well-bred horse that he’s so brilliant with. Petrushka only ran once as a two-year-old, and turned out to be champion three-year-old filly in Europe. [G1 St Leger runner-up] Highest also had the same type of profile. As for Harbinger, Sir Michael said that his three-year-old year was a bonus, because he was really going to come into himself at four. He’s been proven correct on that, with two very impressive victories to date.”

The chance to have a Royal Ascot runner is very alluring to potential Highclere investors, but Herbert believes that showing people the activity on a Newmarket morning is a major selling point.

“We entertain people in the Jockey Club rooms at Newmarket,” he said. “We can really spoil people there. They can have a delicious dinner, stay overnight and, after breakfast, go out to Newmarket Heath. Some of our owners, the week before last, saw the Derby winner [Workforce] have his last piece of exercise and have a pick of grass afterwards, which is quite fantastic. Apart from seeing their own horses, there is the chance to catch the equine superstars. I think that’s really attractive.”

Newmarket's really steeped in history. Most of our trainers tend to be based there. Our trainers are wonderful with our owners, and they really explain what's going on. It's fun going along in the early morning mist at Newmarket, and I think it's very appealing."

Highclere's new syndicates are typically launched in June, and can be viewed on www.highclereracing.co.uk.

"We try to create balance," Herbert said. "We try to get two horses that are not too backward in the same syndicate, maybe get one that's a bit more precocious than the other. That one may go to a Richard Hannon or a William Haggis or Michael Bell, and the later-maturing horse to Sir Michael Stoute or Jeremy Nosedo. They are all good trainers and they know what we're trying to do. They're all very informative with our owners."

"The idea is to take syndicate ownership and bring it as close as you possibly can to single ownership," he added. "That's what we're doing every day of the week. It's very flattering that people who have had success think, 'Well, I'd like a to have a few more and a bit more action,' almost as an insurance policy, and come into a Highclere. Sometimes they wished they'd done it sooner, and that's lovely to hear. People can be scared of syndicates--they may think they won't know anyone or hear what's going on, that they won't be involved, that they won't get into the parade ring. This week, every one of our owners has gone into the parade ring at Royal Ascot, and they've been totally looked after. Anyone can join Highclere. It's open to all. The new syndicates are open for business, as they say. We have a good number of international owners. We know that works, and we'd welcome more."

John Warren, Herbert's brother-in-law and bloodstock advisor to The Queen, will be scouting for Highclere's new prospects.

"We expect to buy about 15 more yearlings this season," Herbert confirmed, "And then probably add about three or four breeze-up horses next year."

Highclere will continue to look for new recruits in the same price ranges as in the past, beginning at about 50-60,000gns (approximately $100,000) and going up to about 150,000gns ($250,000).

"I think people realize that whatever syndicate they buy into, they're getting into horses bought by someone like John Warren, and they're going to have every chance," Herbert offered. "Obviously, you can spend more to have a better pedigree and maybe have a better individual, but I think John is wonderful judge of horseflesh."

Herbert's success with Highclere led to Classic success at Epsom with a different venture. Motivator (GB) (Montjeu {Ire}), purchased by Warren as a yearling for 75,000gns, wound up capturing the G1 Derby in 2005.

"Ascot asked me if I'd consider setting up some sort of a club for them," Herbert said. "I came up with the Royal Ascot Racing Club, which is a super-luxury club with 230 members that has a fantastic room at Ascot. It has private catering, the best facilities and viewing, and horses that run for the club. It's turned out to be a very successful mix. People have become great friends."

"We've been very fortunate to have some good horses in addition to Motivator," Herbert remarked. "I believe there were 25-percent black-type horses to horses bought. But the concept is very different from Highclere, and the two shouldn't be mixed. One is a racing club, and the other is private syndicates with a few share owners, where we're very hands on. The people actually own the horses, while in the racing club, the club owns the horses. But it's worked out well, and we won the Derby!"

Harbinger wasn't the Derby type, but he captured the G3 Gordon S. at Glorious Goodwood last summer, and his wins this spring in the G3 John Porter S. and G3 Ormonde S. suggest he's on his way to bigger and better things.

"If he's well and handles the slightly faster ground condition [in the Hardwick], he must have a great chance," Herbert said. "We're hopeful he'll run a big race. He's an improved horse. If he does well here--and it is a tough Group 2--then possibly it's a tilt at the [G1] King George [VI and Queen Elizabeth S.], or another Group 1 race will follow." --MK

Joy and Fun is a really solid seven-furlong horse, so in terms of stamina he will be fine." Connections of the Mar. 20 G1 Coolmore Classic H. winner Alverta are hoping that the subsequent layoff will help the mare. "She has really enjoyed the work here," trainer Paul Messara commented. "I have been on the gentle side with her. She is normally very good when fresh and she is not a horse you want to over-gallop. Six furlongs is on the short side for her, but the six here is probably like an Australian seven furlongs."

Jackaroo earned ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ status when beating his stable companion and subsequent Tipperary maiden winner Eskimo by two lengths in the seven-furlong Gowran Park maiden Ballydoyle used for the likes of Spartacus (Ire), Antonius Pius and Henrythenavigator. Zaidan looked a colt to follow when winning in authoritative fashion on debut over five furlongs at Doncaster May 1 and alongside the impressive May 24 Leicester maiden scorer King Torus represents a strong home defense. The latter is trained by Richard Hannon, who annexed the last two editions with Free Agent (GB) (Dr Fong) and Big Audio (Ire) (Oratorio {Ire}), and he said, "He is a lovely Oratorio colt who bolted in by five lengths first time out at Leicester. He was very green to half-way, but when Hughesie pulled him out he took off, and the extra furlong will suit him perfectly."

Doubles Partner, a $450,000 FTSAUG WinStar yearling purchase, was an impressive, quick-closing winner of the GII American Turf S. at Churchill Apr. 30, bringing his turf record to three-for-three. He broke his maiden in his fourth outing when switched to the sod in Kentucky Nov. 28, and followed that effort with a game win over Lentenor (Dynaformer) in a Gulfstream allowance in February. The full-brother to Barbaro was fourth next out in the GI Florida Derby. Paddy O'Prado was a disappointing sixth in the GI Preakness S. May 15 after finishing third in the GI Kentucky Derby over a sloppy track two weeks earlier. The grey was second in the GI Bluegrass S. over Keeneland's Polytrack in April, and took the GIII Palm Beach S. on the lawn at Gulfstream Mar. 6. Turf seems to be his preferred surface, and he appears to be training well. Two Notch Road ships in from Monmouth off a pair of allowance wins at the Oceanport oval. This is a significant step up in class, but the gelding has proved his detractors wrong before; he won the Continental Mile S. at Monmouth last August at 107-1 as a maiden in his first grass start.

| 7  | Gozzip Girl (K)        | Dynaformer            | Dominguez | Albertrani | 4-1  |

Gozzip Girl stamped herself a turf star last year with a strong sophomore campaign accentuated by a smashing 3 1/4-length victory in the July 5 GI American Oaks at Hollywood over an overflow international field. She failed as the odds-on favorite in two subsequent races, however, running fourth in the Sept. 12 GI Garden City H. at Belmont after encountering a world of early trouble, and then finishing a dull third in the GI QE II Challenge Cup at Keeneland Oct. 17. Gozzip Girl tested positive for the tranquilizer acepromazine after the QE II, and trainer Tom Albertrani was suspended for 30 days. Gozzip Girl has been off since then, but Albertrani told Daily Racing Form, "This is the best I've ever seen her look going into a race." Legendary Woodbine-based conditioner Roger Attfield sends two challengers southward. Ave, a Group 3 winner in Ireland for Sir Michael Stoute last term, was third in her stateside debut last out in the GIII Galorette H. at Pimlico May 15. Lady Shakespeare, a Charles Fipke homebred, finally broke through last time in the GIII Bewitch S. at Keeneland Apr. 22 (over fellow New York runners Changing Skies, Sweet and Flawless and Nehantic Kat) after a pair of close seconds at Gulfstream in the Jan. 16 Marshua's River S. and GIII Orchid S. Mar. 28. Attfield sports a record of 5-1-2-0 with Belmont runners over the past five years. He scored with German-bred Noble Stella (Monsun {Ger}) in the 2006 rendition of this event after she had run second in the GII Sheepshead Bay H. a month earlier. His Muskietier (Ger) (Acatenango {Ger}) was runner-up in the 2009 GI Man O' War S.

| 6  | Afleet Express (K)    | Afleet Alex      | Castellano | J Jerkens | 5-2 |

Afleet Express overcame a tardy start impressively at first asking when he powered home from the back of the pack to take a Dec. 5 six-furlong maiden special weight by 1 1/2 lengths in the mud at Aqueduct. He ran second and fifth in Gulfstream allowances over the winter while still plagued by gate issues, but figured it out and then some last time in a May 22 allowance at Belmont. The $245,000 KEEJAN yearling purchase broke alertly in the seven-eighths contest, pressed the pace for a half-mile and exploded in the stretch to post a 7 3/4-length drubbing. His final time of 1:21.72 earned a 105 Beyer Speed Figure. This will be the colt's first try around two turns, but his pedigree (Afleet Alex --Expanse, by Distant View) does not suggest that an extra 1 1/2 furlongs will be beyond his scope. Jackson Bend flashed some of the talent he displayed as a juvenile when third, beaten only 3/4 of a length, in the GI Preakness S. May 15. The Pegasus's distance should be right up the son of Hear No Evil's alley. Afleet Again validated his 24-1 upset of the GIII Withers S. when he was a late-closing third here in the Spend a Buck S. May 23. He should come running late again.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE NTRA BOARD OF DIRECTORS

As members of the NTRA Board of Directors, we devote our time and energy to the NTRA because it is the one industry organization that can take on major issues and challenges that require consensus, collaboration and a national approach. As a group (representing racetracks, breeders, owners and horsemen), we are more unified and more supportive of the NTRA's role on behalf of the industry than ever before.

The NTRA's accomplishments over the past decade serve as an ongoing reminder of what can be accomplished when the industry works together to achieve common goals.

One important example is the organization's work on Capitol Hill. Whether it be issues pertaining to interstate simulcasting, Internet wagering, tax withholding, or accelerated depreciation of racing stock, the NTRA has proven to be an effective voice for the industry at the federal level.

There can be little doubt that, after a decade of unified legislative advocacy, the Thoroughbred industry is in a much stronger position today to influence public policy that impacts every segment of our industry, including bettors.

There are other, equally important examples of positive achievements realized from working together at the national level. In 2008, the catastrophic injury to Eight Belles, after the Kentucky Derby, following so closely on the heels of Barbaro's injury in the 2006 Preakness, set off a crisis of confidence within the industry and drew a relentless barrage of criticism of our sport from fans, the media, industry stakeholders and Congress alike. In both instances, the NTRA effectively and professionally represented our industry on various fronts ranging from Congressional testimony to crisis communications and issue management.

In 2008, acting in a familiar role as a convening authority, the NTRA formed the Safety and Integrity Alliance, which is supported by virtually every major racetrack and horsemen's group in the country. In less than two years, the Alliance has implemented meaningful change in our safety policies and procedures on a nationwide basis and addressed some serious public perception issues.

And although the NTRA doesn't receive as much attention for its work during "non-emergencies," the organization has successfully undertaken a number of significant initiatives on behalf of its members.

It has built a group purchasing arm that has saved the industry about $75 million since 2002. Could a group of organizations band together to attempt to enact a similar program? Absolutely. In fact, it was tried in the early 2000s—with marginal results.

Could more than 50 organizations in the U.S. and Canada create a national handicapping championship offering a $1 million purse? Conceivably, yes, but the NTRA (with Daily Racing Form, participating members and fans) actually pulled it off, delivering more than $5.5 million in prize money to players during the past 11 years.

Can any single organization produce award-winning advertising? Of course, but to our knowledge the NTRA is the only entity to produce popular ads promoting horse racing that have been honored both nationally (National Addy and Mercury Award as the nation's top radio spot) and internationally (Gold Lion Award at Cannes, France).

Legislative advocacy in Washington; Horse PAC, our industry's Political Action Committee; marketing and PR; group purchasing; sponsorship support from entities like John Deere and UPS; promotions like the Daily Racing Form/NTRA National Handicapping Championship and NHC Tour; an industry-wide Web 2.0 strategy; NTRA Live! Webcasts; the new NTRA Virtual Horse Racing Game; the Eclipse Awards; the Safety and Integrity Alliance; national and international affiliations designed to grow our business and the popularity of our sport—these are just a few of the NTRA's accomplishments on behalf of the industry's many and varied stakeholders.

As directors, we represent every employee and every voting and dues-paying member of our respective stakeholder groups. We take this responsibility very seriously and want to hear from you. The NTRA has accomplished a great deal for our industry, but we know there is much more to be done. We're counting on you for support and input. Please share your thoughts with us at NTRABoard@ntra.com.

He was content to race towards the tail of the far-side group this time. Ridden along 2 1/2 furlongs down, he managed to thread his way through the field onto the rail and came with a strong run once in the clear to assert with 100 yards remaining. "I came from far back, but I know this horse well now, and he has a lot of gears," jockey Fergus Sweeney told PA Sport. "I knew from when I was off the bridle and having to squeeze him along at halfway that they must have gone a bit too quick up front. From two [furlongs] out, they were coming back a bit quick, and it was just a case of finding the holes. If you've got a gear there, the gaps appear. This is my first Royal Ascot winner, I'm in my thirties now and I didn't think it was going to happen."
