LET IT REIGN

Reigning GI BC Classic champ Zenyatta (Street Cry {Ire}) had another strong gallop over the Churchill main track Thursday morning. Exiting the barn area at 9:15 a.m., the majestic mare was on the bridle on her first circuit the right way of the oval, and had even more energy as she came down the backstretch the final time. The six-year-old picked up her right lead as she came off the clubhouse turn, but exercise rider Steve Willard had to take a stout hold as she neared the three-quarter pole, and she flipped back to her left in protest.

Zenyatta was back on her right lead a few strides later and, reluctantly, pulled up on the far turn before walking home before an outside rail lined with admirers.

"She galloped beautifully," trainer John Shirreffs said. "She's very happy. On the second day of taking her to the track, you might think she'd be a little flat, but she was full of energy. Steve said he could have gone around another time and, as the trainer, that's what you look for--the enthusiasm and good energy."

Shirreffs was on the podium for a press conference later in the morning. Asked if he had any worries approaching the big event, he paused before saying, "Not really, no. She's well-prepared, she's doing great. This is just going to be a lot of fun."

CORRECTION: In a table accompanying Bill Oppenheim's column in Wednesday's paper, Red Giant was improperly listed as dead. He is, in fact, standing the Southern Hemisphere season in New Zealand and will return to Three Chimneys to stand the 2011 Northern Hemisphere breeding season.

Acting Up in the Ladies' Classic

Trainer Rick Dutrow Jr. will saddle Boys at Tosconova (Officer) for Jay Em Ess Stable in the GI BC Juvenile, where he'll be among the favorites, but he'll also have Acting Happy (Empire Maker) for the Siegels as a live longshot in the GI BC Ladies' Classic this evening. Winner of the GII Black-Eyed Susan S. in May, the dark bay filly hasn't faced the starter since finishing third to divisional standout Blind Luck (Pollard's Vision) in the GI Alabama S. at Saratoga Aug. 21, but she has her connections "acting happy," if you will. "There are some nice horses in it, but it's not the toughest Ladies' Classic I've ever seen," Dutrow opined. "Blind Luck is obviously one of the fillies to beat. Boy, she's really had a big year, and you don't see too many horses accomplish what she has, shipping all over the country and winning in all these different spots. We are looking forward to taking another run against her. I know my filly has got the pedigree, the looks, the talent and class to be a major factor in there." Acting Happy will race with shades for the first time Friday, and regular rider Jose Lezcano will be in the irons. "I got to say I'm looking forward to him riding her now that she's got the blinkers on," Dutrow added. "This Ladies' Classic is going to be fun, babe." Field p2

Time for Dirt

Alex G. Campbell Jr.'s homebred It's Tea Time (Dynaformer) failed to make an impact when a tough-trip ninth in the GI Kentucky Oaks under the Twin Spires Apr. 30, but her connections are hopeful she can make her presence felt under the lights this time. The bay filly romped against two rivals when the GIII Lake Placid S. was taken off the turf at Saratoga Aug. 22, and was most recently fourth in the GI Juddmonte Spinster S. on the Keeneland Polytrack Oct. 10. "She's by Dynaformer and has a turf pedigree," admitted Jack Bohannon, assistant to trainer Rusty Arnold. "There is always an exception to the rule, and we're hoping we're one of them. It's unfortunate that she drew on the rail a couple of times [in the Kentucky Oaks and the Spinster], so we feel she was not able to run her true race. Now she's coming out of the two-hole, which isn't much better, but at least it's not the one. It is what it is."

Second Chances

Last year, Quality Road (Elusive Quality) had to be scratched at the gate after throwing a fit before the Classic, but trainer Todd Pletcher does not anticipate any problems this time. The colt was schooled extensively by former New York Racing Association starter Bob Duncan after that performance and, Pletcher said, "He's been perfect ever since." Added Duncan, "Basically, before we even started schooling him at the gate, Todd and I spent a little time with him around the barn, the paddock and the backside and just put him through a few exercises to kind of get connected to him--just moving him around and trying to get some leadership issues settled. Within 15 minutes, he was following us around. Todd and I looked at each other and said, 'Geez, where's the problem?' He was that good. We took him over to the gate the next day and we took our time, because it was his first time after the Breeders' Cup. We didn't know what to expect. He walked right into the starting gate. We added things each time. Will he go in the gate with the open door? Will he go with it closed? Next time around, will he go in next to another horse? He just did everything by the book. Eventually, we did the dress rehearsal over at Aqueduct, which went very well, and he's been good all year."

The Blame Game

As trainer Al Stall Jr. put it during Thursday's press conference, he wouldn't be in the GI BC Classic if he didn't think he could beat Zenyatta. His charge, Adele Dilschneider and Claiborne Farm's Blame (Arch), certainly has the credentials. Three-for-four this year, he sports an identical record over the Churchill main track. The four-year-old couldn't close into a pedestrian pace when second behind gate-to-wire winner Turtle Bird Stable's Haynesfield (Speightstown) in the GI Jockey Club Gold Cup, but he will be tough behind an honest pace.

Blame
Adam Coglianese

"I have to think this is the best field [Zenyatta] has faced, and the margin for error is getting smaller and smaller," Stall said.

Still, the Louisiana native admitted he was impressed after watching the big mare train Thursday.

"She looked awesome," he remarked. "I couldn't imagine how big she is and how much she weighs because it's hard to grasp, but she's in fine flesh. It seemed like she took up the whole chute."

He later reflected, "At the three-eighths pole [in the Classic, everyone who is into racing and has a pulse will be on the edge of their seats, asking, 'what's going to happen from here.' If she comes blowing by us in the stretch, that wouldn't be the end of the world. I'd be happy for racing."

Lookin' Good

Three-year-old Lookin At Lucky (Smart Strike) once again hit the track for a gallop after the renovation break, and once again looked a picture. Rumor is that the bay, who is bidding for a fourth straight victory, is in the best shape he has enjoyed all year, and trainer Bob Baffert is quietly confident.

"He looks good, so far so good," said Baffert. "He'll run his race. We're all going to find out how tough we are; it's a great race, really good top horses in there. I think he's up to it. He keeps going and going."

There is the chance that the bay will be back for a four-year-old campaign.

"So far we haven't made any plans," Baffert said. "There's people that have been trying to buy him for a stallion, but these owners just enjoy racing. You get a good horse like that, you want to watch him run."

He's the Man

The field for the Classic is remarkably consistent, with four horses boasting records clean of off-the-board efforts. Three are favorites--Zenyatta, Blame and Quality Road. The fourth is EIC Fein and Vic Carlson's Musket Man (Yonaguska), 20-1 on the morning line.

Musket Man

A late arrival to the Downs, the four-year-old was glowing with health as he toured the main track Thursday morning.

"He's doing great," trainer Derek Ryan said. "He's never been better. I expect him to be right there."

The colt has only one win in his last eight starts, and has not had his photo taken since capturing the Super S. at Tampa Bay in February, but he has been close in tough company. Second by a nose to Warrior's Reward (Medaglia d'Oro) in the GI Carter H. in April, he was 1 1/2 lengths adrift of Quality Road in the GI Met Mile H., and was beaten just 1 3/4 lengths by Blame and Quality Road in the GI Whitney H. Musket Man was a neck runner-up to Etched (Forestry) in the GII Monmouth Cup last time out Oct. 9.

Etched

"He's coming into the race in great shape," Ryan continued. "Now, if there's a legitimate pace, and if the rider [Rajiv Maragh] reads the pace right, and if he fires, I expect him to be right there at the finish."

All Systems Go

Andrea Pollack had to wait until the beginning of the week to finalize her travel plans for the 2010 Breeders' Cup. Monday morning, trainer Al Stall Jr. made the announcement that her J.B.'s Thunder (Thunder Gulch), winner of the GI Dixiana Breeders' Futurity at Keeneland, would be competing in Saturday's GI BC Juvenile.

The day after the colt's Grade I score, Pollack made it clear that the decision on the Breeders' Cup would be Stall's alone.

"Whatever the big boss says," she insisted. "He has an idea of what he wants to do, and I'm along for the ride."

But she was thrilled with the news that the trip to Churchill Downs was a go.

"I was excited when Al told me, of course," Pollack remarked. "I didn't know for sure--he'd said [J.B.'s Thunder] was doing well all along, but he's interested in developing the horse for long term. But he thinks that the horse can handle this, and he should know, better than anyone."

A native of Oklahoma, Pollack operates the Denver-based oil and gas exploration company Aviva Inc., which she started back in 1976. She was introduced to that business--as well as the sport of horse racing--by her late father, Joseph B. Singer. It is for her dad that she named J.B.'s Thunder.

"I was young, just a teenager, when I first started going to the races," Pollack recalled. "It was great to be able to share that [with her father], absolutely. It was a special time." Cont. p8

Singer raced a number of stakes horses in New York with veteran trainer Walter Kelley, the best of which was the top grass mare Videogenic, a two-time Grade I winner who earned more than $1 million while making a whopping 73 starts back in the mid-'80s.

It was about that time that Pollack decided she'd like to have a string in her own name. Kelley picked out a few yearlings, then handed them over to former assistant Mike Daggett to train. In the ensuing years, the Pollack horses were handled by Daggett, and later by Beau Greely and Stall. Stall now conditions all of the Pollack colorbearers, which number 10 or 12.

The top runners to carry Pollack's Columbine Stable silks have been the sprinter Five Star Day (Carson City), who was first or second in 11 of his 16 career starts, winning the GIII Phoenix BC S. in 2000 and the GII Alfred G. Vanderbilt H. in 2001; the talented turf runner Manndar (Ire) (Doyoun {Ire}), winner of the GI Woodford Reserve Turf Classic at Churchill on Derby Day 2000 and the GI Manhattan H. in his very next appearance; and 2002 GI Hollywood Turf Cup hero Sligo Bay (Ire) (Sadler's Wells).

Both Five Star Day and Manndar took Pollack to the Breeders' Cup in 2000. Neither hit the board, but Manndar was beaten just 4 1/2 lengths by Kalanisi (Ire) (Doyoun {Ire}) when eighth in the GI BC Turf. Five Star Day was back for the 2001 GI BC Sprint and also ran eighth, but just five lengths adrift of winner Squirtle Squirt (Marquetry).

The stable stars stand out, but they are not alone in Pollack's heart.

"I have to say, I've liked something about all of my horses," she said. "But Five Star Day, he was just magnificent speed; Manndar had incredible heart and ability, and he was an old soul; and then Sligo Bay, he was beautifully bred and just classy all the way through."

The latest addition to the honor role, J.B.'s Thunder, was purchased for $42,000 as a Keeneland September yearling.

"Frankie and Daphne Wooten picked him out," Pollack said. "They're the people who break the horse to the saddle and the bit [at their facility in South Carolina]. They were at the sales, and they thought he was beautiful and well balanced, and Al Stall looked at him and agreed. They don't buy all my horses, but I like for them to take a look at them, because they're the ones that have to break them, and they know what it takes."

The Wootens certainly got it right. The bay went gate to wire to break his maiden on the turf at Saratoga Aug. 21, then came back to lead every step in the Breeders' Futurity, winning by four lengths. Pollack was on hand to cheer him on.

"He just amazed me," she offered. "I did not expect him to go to the lead, but he did, and my heart was racing all the way around. Finally, when he came around the far turn, and I saw him so far ahead, a friend of mine said I just dropped my head, because I knew he'd won at that point."

As emotional as Pollack might get when she's watching one of her horses perform, she is a businesswoman as well, and she operates her stable as such.

"Mr. Kelley always said, if you have five horses in training, probably two of them won't be any good, two of them will be OK, and then one will carry the barn," she remarked. "That's what I learned from Walter Kelley. I look at racing as a business. Some things you do for love, and some things for money. In horse racing, you do it for both."

Still, it is the joy she gets from racing that keeps her involved.

"Any time you win a race, I don't care if it's a claiming race or a stakes races, your whole life stops at that very moment that the horse crosses the finish line first," she said. "Everything else seems slow motion after that. I have to say that every single race is just amazing--actually, any time a horse tries really very hard, it's amazing to me."

And the Breeders' Cup is the pinnacle.

"I'm very excited," Pollack said. "My gosh, this is what we all work for, to have a horse like this. This is what we all aim for and pray for, so it's just a 'yippee' moment. Every time you wake up in the morning, it's like, 'oh, yippee!' It gives you lots of hope."

“Bad” to the Bone

Behkabad (Fr) (Cape Cross {Ire}), who boasts six wins from nine career starts, suffered the worst finish of his career when he was fourth in the Oct. 3 G1 prix de l'Arc de Triomphe. The three-year-old was four lengths behind winner Workforce (GB) (King's Best) that afternoon, but jockey Christophe Lemaire thinks his mount can get the better of the Arc winner in the GI BC Turf.

Behkabad (Fr) (right) & Goldikova (Fr)
Horsephotos

"The way he ran in the Arc, I think we have a great chance to win," Lemaire said. "I thought he would win the Arc, but it just wasn't our day. He never had a chance.

"I was in good position, lying fifth or sixth. When the pacemakers started to retreat, the race completely changed. Some horses moved very quickly on the outside, some on the inside, and every jockey tried to find a way to escape. That's what caused the traffic problems. This happened just at the bend, which is the crucial moment of the race, and, unfortunately for us, some horses were luckier than us and they could accelerate. We were waiting for some space to accelerate, but when we finally had the gap, it was too late."

The 31-year-old Frenchman will have his first Breeders' Cup mount this year.

"I always wanted to be a jockey," he said, "and being at the Breeders' Cup is like a dream. To win would be a dream come true."

Close Call for Gomez

It was a close call for jockey Garrett Gomez, who escaped serious injury when he was thrown from his mount, Indy Bouquet (A.P. Indy), in the sixth race at Churchill Downs Thursday afternoon. Gomez, who is named to ride in eight of the 14 Breeders' Cup World Championship races today and tomorrow, including Adele Dilschneider and Claiborne Farm's Blame (Arch) in the GI Breeders' Cup Classic Saturday, was conscious after the mishap and transported to Norton Audubon Hospital for observation. Ron Anderson, Gomez's agent, said the rider complained of discomfort in his right shoulder. "They took an x-ray and the results came back negative," Anderson said. "We are in the process of heading home now. Garrett is fine and in good spirits and he will ride [today]. Indy Bouquet, a three-year-old filly who had two previous starts for WinStar Farm, sustained a compound fracture of the left front cannon bone and was euthanized. "Garrett said the filly warmed up good and everything looked fine," explained Anderson. "She just took a bad step. He said it had nothing to do with the course. It was just an unfortunate accident."

Indian Gracey out of Juvenile Fillies

Trainer Jerry Hollendorfer revealed yesterday that Indian Gracey (Indian Ocean), third after setting the pace in the GI Oak Leaf S., will be scratched from the GI BC Juvenile Fillies. "She has a hot right front foot, so we're not running," Hollendorfer said, adding, "I'd rather know now than in the race. She's talented, so she'll get other chances. But we're going to do the right thing by her and not run this time."

Making his first start for the Greg Fox barn, Battle of Hastings quickened nicely in the stretch and powered home a convincing winner of this Breeders' Cup appetizer. The gelding was a top three-year-old turf horse last season, winning the GII Colonial Turf Cup and the GII Virginia Derby, but had been shut out in 10 starts since. Third to Proviso (GB) (Dansili {GB}) in the GI F. E. Kilroe Mile in March, he was a close third in the GII Arcadia H. the following month and a troubled fourth in this track's GI Turf Classic on the Kentucky Derby undercard. Fifth in the GI Charles Whittingham H. going 10 panels June 5, he tried the Del Mar Poly in his two most recent starts, going down to Dakota Phone (Zavata) in the GII San Diego H. July 31 and a sneaky good fourth in the GI Pacific Classic Aug. 28. He was scratched from last weekend's GII Fayette S. at Keeneland in favor of this, and that would prove a shrewd decision. Covered up in midfield as Wise River (Belong to Me) showed the way up front, Battle of Hastings was shown daylight by Joel Rosario four off the fence in upper stretch and kicked away as much the best. "I had to be really patient," said winning rider Rosario. "That's what you have to do, because if you're not patient, it's not going to happen. He really kicked on after we got clear. I just kind of waited to see how the horse wanted to go and waited for the right time."

KENTUCKY BLOODSTOCK SALES

Fasig-Tipton November - Nov. 7
Keeneland November - Nov. 8-20

Gulf Coast Dispersal Begins at Keeneland

Lance Robinson and Jerry Bailey's Gulf Coast Farm, which announced in early October that it was completely dispersing its bloodstock, will send some 30

Lookin At Lucky Sarah K Andrew

horses through the Keeneland November sales ring during Monday's opening session of the bloodstock sale. The group will sell as hips 5001 through 5032 immediately following the last regularly catalogued lot in the session. A second group, hips 5033 through 5077, will sell at the end of Thursday's session of the auction. The Gulf Coast horses are consigned by Taylor Made Sales Agency.

Gulf Coast has developed a reputation for regularly turning out talented, well-conformed racehorses. Among the 27 stakes winners bred by the farm is champion juvenile and Saturday's GI Breeders' Cup Classic hopeful Lookin At Lucky (Smart Strike). The farm bred, campaigned and/or purchased dual Classic winner Thunder Gulch, Grade I winners Henny Hughes, Yes It's True and Honour and Glory, as well as graded stakes winners Kensei, Cowtown Cat and Salute the Sarge.

Gulf Coast-bred runners to win graded races this term include Conveyance (Indian Charlie), Lou Brissie (Limestone) and Grand Adventure (Grand Slam).

"We were primarily involved with mare-leasing in the past," Bailey said, explaining the decision to disperse the farm's bloodstock.

"And mare leases are no longer a viable option in the industry, so we needed to sell these horses that were involved with the mare leasing. We hope to continue in the industry in other aspects. We'll continue with the farm in Florida and training, and we hope to get involved with some other aspects of the industry in the future." Cont. p14

Bailey said discussions of the summer included the option to scale back, rather than completely disperse.

“We had discussions on all of that,” he said. “We feel if one has a dispersal, it goes best with the buying public if they know they are going to get a chance with all of your horses, rather than just a chance at what you want to sell them. So I think anytime there is a dispersal, it makes for a better marketplace.”

Kensei A Coglianesse

The Gulf Coast dispersal has generated plenty of interest from potential buyers, according to Taylor Made’s Mark Taylor.

“We’ve had a lot of people calling the farm and wanting to come out and see both the mares and the foals,” Taylor confirmed. “I think Gulf Coast has such a reputation in the market for producing not only really top-class racehorses, but also, their signature thing is conformation. The great thing about a Gulf Coast horse, when you get a runner, they are great-looking, too, and their value automatically goes up. So there have been a lot of people that really want to get a piece of that Gulf Coast legacy.”

Through Taylor Made, Gulf Coast sold Private Feeling (Belong to Me), the dam of Lookin At Lucky and Kensei, for $2 million at last year’s Fasig-Tipton November sale. The mare’s yearling colt by Afleet Alex sold for $750,000 through the Gainesway consignment at this year’s Fasig-Tipton Saratoga sale.

The dispersal will give bidders the chance to own a piece of a proven system.

“A lot of people who have historically tried to buy out of these Gulf Coast mares and get shut out—whether it be pinhookers or end users, they haven’t been able to get the horses bought,” Taylor said. “So they say, ‘Oh man, I loved Grand Adventure or I loved Conveyance and I was an underbidder.’ They know that these are really good-looking horses, so people are looking to come out because they know this is a great opportunity; ‘Maybe I can afford to get a younger sibling or something out of the mare, or even get the factory bought and I can continue to produce my own.’”

Taylor is particularly impressed with the Gulf Coast weanlings selling at the November auction.

“In my scale, an A minus is a really high grade for a weanling,” Taylor said. “If I look at 100 foals, there typically might be 10 A minuses. If you look at this Gulf Coast group, there are 15 just in that group alone. Just across the board, it’s a very good group of foals.”

Included in the group is hip 5023, a colt from the first crop of GI Breeders’ Cup Classic winner Raven’s Pass (Elusive Quality). Out of Eishin Bridle (Unbridled), who precedes her weanling into the Keeneland ring, the gray is a half-brother to stakes winner Road Read (More Than Ready) and to Grade I stakes placed Be Smart (Smarty Jones). Taylor called the colt, “absolutely exceptional.”

Among the Gulf Coast broodmares included in Book 1 is Distorted Passion (Distorted Humor--Arianna's Passion, by Unbridled's Song) (hip 5020). The five-year-old mare, in foal to Giant's Causeway, is a three-time stakes winner and twice graded stakes placed (ThoroStride video). She is out of stakes winner Arianna's Passion, a full-sister to graded stakes winner Warbling. Distorted Passion RNA'd at Keeneland January this year for $400,000.

"Distorted Passion is one of my favorites," Taylor said. "She is just gorgeous; she's jaw-dropping."

Also selling Monday at Keeneland is Emptythetill (Holy Bull--In the Till, by Mr. Prospector) (hip 5024), the dam of this year's GIII Southwest S. and GIII San Rafael S. winner Conveyance (Indian Charlie).

"Emptythetill is extremely nice," Taylor said. "Anyone who saw Conveyance as a yearling knows he was a stunner."

The 10-year-old Emptythetill is again in foal to Indian Charlie. (ThoroStride video).

Misty Sixes (Summer Squall--Double Sixes, by Gone West), also in foal to Indian Charlie, will sell as hip 5031. The 12-year-old mare is the dam of stakes-placed Miss Dolce (Unbridled's Song). Her three-year-old filly Its About Midnight (Distorted Humor) was a $725,000 Keeneland September yearling who graduated impressively at Keeneland in her debut Oct. 20. (ThoroStride video).

All of the Gulf Coast horses will sell together at the end of the Monday and Thursday sessions because of their late entry into the sale, but Taylor is not concerned about that impacting their sale.

"It's kind of like the post position draw, you can't help the way it turned out," he commented. "The decision to enter all the horses was made past the deadline for Keeneland, so we had to think outside the box. I think it will be fine. I think it will add some buzz to the end of the sale. Normally you don't like being the last hip number in, but I don't think anyone is going to leave knowing that these kind of horses are coming through at the end of the session."

The Gulf Coast dispersal will continue into 2011, according to Bailey, with mares selling at Keeneland in January, as well as at OBS.

Bailey is cautiously optimistic that the Gulf Coast horses will be well-received at Keeneland.

"We have had a tremendous amount of reaction from people who buy weanlings," Bailey said. "And usually we have a good November sale when the Breeders' Cup is at Churchill. I hope that carries through this year."

'Miss' Hits Big Update...and Aims For BC Glory

A timely update can be a seller's best friend, and they don't get bigger than a Breeders' Cp victory. Three Chimney's Racing's Miss Keller (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire})--

Miss Keller (Ire)
Horsephotos

Ingozi {GB}, by Warning {GB} will be a bit of a longshot in today's GI Filly & Mare Turf, but will do her best to add further luster to an already strong page in advance of Monday's opening session of the Keeneland November Sale, where she's slated to wheel back off two days' rest. Three Chimneys consigns the four-year-old racing or broodmare prospect as hip 211.

Regardless of the outcome today, Miss Keller has already done plenty to boost her cause in the last three months. When the entries closed for the November Sale Aug. 2, Miss Keller was a European handicap winner who had twice placed in Grade II company in the States. Two days later, she beat a tough Keertana (Johar) to notch her first black-type success in the restricted De La Rose S. at Saratoga. It was an important win, and one that got into the catalogue. Her next three starts, however, did not, and those three comprise the best work of her career. After taking the De La Rose, Miss Keller ran a close third in the GII Ballston Spa H. Aug. 28, beaten 1 1/2 lengths after kicking in too late. That was enough to send her favored in the GII Canadian S. at Woodbine Sept. 19, and, after laying closer, pinned a graded merit badge to the sash. Stepped up into Grade I company for the first time in her career in the E.P. Taylor S. at Woodbine Oct. 16, she was shuffled back to third last, but powered to the front in the lane, only to find the flying Reggane (GB) (Red Ransom) too good in the final sixteenth. She was made an 8-1 chance on Mike Battaglia's morning line for the F/M Turf.

Miss Keller's recent success is another feather in the cap of Three Chimneys Racing, the racing partnership run by the Clay family that has done well with small numbers and a specific business plan. Through Kern Lillingston's Lincoln Collins, Three Chimneys Racing buys females in training from Europe, then brings them to the U.S. "In general terms, the grass racing in Europe is very good, so we thought it might be a good idea to buy some fillies with some form over there," Three Chimney's Case Clay explained. "They might be just a little bit below the Group 1 bar, or the group stakes bar. Then we try to win graded stakes over here."

The strategy led to Missit (Ire) (Orpen), a member of the inaugural Three Chimneys Racing class who won the GII Providencia S. in 2008; and Diamond Diva (GB) (Dansili {GB}), who collected the GII Cashcall Mile Invitational S. and twice finished second in the GI Gamely BC S. Last year, Diamond Diva sold for $400,000 as a broodmare prospect to Katsumi Yoshida at the Fasig-Tipton November Sale.

Miss Keller is from the second class of Three Chimneys Racing, and she's not the only star, nor the only filly to provide herself a big update. The four-year-old Ave (GB) (Daneshill Dancer {Ire}) was also catalogued for Keeneland's first session, and all she did was add a first Grade I to her resume with a victory in the GI Flower Bowl Invitational S. at Belmont Oct. 2. Her previous best was a Group 3 win in Europe. Ave will not sell at Keeneland, however, or not its November Sale, anyway. Nor will she sell at the Tattersall December Sale, another event she held an entry to. That's because she's being pointed toward the G1 Queen Elizabeth II at Kyoto Racecourse in Japan Nov. 14. "We have a consignment going to Tattersalls, and we were going to race her in the QEII and then sell her there, but the quarantine and shipping didn't allow us to do that," explained Clay. "So we'll probably go the Keeneland January Sale--and maybe there's an argument that she sticks out better in January."

The members of Three Chimney Racing partnerships are "a group we've put together of friends and people who are near and dear to us," said Clay. "We had success with the first one, and so we did it again. We've started a third partnership, but we haven't made a purchase yet."

The partnerships expire at a certain date, at which point the horses are sold at auction. Clay said there are about 12 people who own a share in Miss Keller. "And everybody's coming to the Breeders' Cup--we've got all the seats squared away and everything, and it should be a fun day," he added. "When you're going in and you're not the favorite, it almost makes it more fun. There's less pressure."

Collins bought Miss Keller last summer for Three Chimneys. In her first start in the U.S., for trainer Roger Attfield, she ran fourth in the GII Lake Placid S. at Saratoga in August. She would also finish a good second in the Gill Valley View S. at Keeneland in October. While Miss Keller's 2010 blossoming can in part be attributed to a daughter of Montjeu getting better with age, Clay said Attfield deserves plenty of credit, as does jockey Javier Castellano, who's ridden her six times and never finished worse than third. "She's a bit quirky, and she hates to be whipped," said Clay. "If you hit her, she stops. Javier has ridden her beautifully, and he doesn't touch her."

Clay is optimistic of a good showing today, but is also keeping things in perspective. "Really, she's coming into the race great form," he said. "She won the Canadian well, and I thought she was going to win the E.P. Taylor. But Regganne snuck up on us and beat us gamely. Touch wood, she's doing really well now, according to Roger. We're going up against the very best--Midday (GB), Harmonious, just everybody--so well just cross our fingers and hope for the best. It'll be tough, but we'll have a lot of fun, no matter what."-LM

SALES NEWS

Deauville August Yearling Sale Moved

Arqana yesterday revealed that the 2011 Deauville August Yearling Sale will be staged later as a result of a shuffle in the European calendar. The showcase auction will take place Aug. 22-25, with the DBS Premier Yearling Sale moving accordingly to Aug. 31-Sept. 1. Arqana's President Eric Hoyeau commented, "There was a general consensus in favour of the August sale being scheduled a little later in order to provide some extra time for the yearlings, as well as for buyers and vendors. The difficulty was to find a date that would not clash with the York meeting, which is so important to our British clients, nor with the DBS Premier Yearling Sale. Therefore, we are very pleased to have come to such a satisfactory result thanks to genuine collaboration between our two sales companies for the benefit of our community of buyers and vendors. The new format can thus be envisaged in the long run, which is essential to its success. Talks are now underway with the management of France Galop to amend the racing calendar on these dates."

THE MCKINSEY REPORT: A RETROSPECTIVE

If there is a document or report in the Thoroughbred industry that is cited or mentioned more often than the "McKinsey Report," I am not aware of it. Almost any discussion of drugs and medication in our sport eventually leads back to a mention of that seminal report of 1991.

Most recently, it was referenced in news stories that focused on the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission's decision in early September to approve a regulation that calls for deeper testing of fewer samples, which should result in overall cost savings.

With the 27th running of the Breeders' Cup scheduled for today and tomorrow, the topics of medication and drug-testing are sure to be revisited once again, not only in our industry trade publications but also in the general-interest outlets that devote coverage to Thoroughbred racing mostly for high-profile events like the Triple Crown and Breeders' Cup.

How much have we progressed in the areas of medication and drug-testing since 1991? And what exactly was the McKinsey Report?

At The Jockey Club's annual Round Table Conference on Matters Pertaining to Racing in 1990, following presentations on the topic of drugs and drug testing, The Jockey Club announced that it was in discussion with McKinsey & Company, Inc., the prominent management consulting firm, to develop a world-class management program for drug-testing in the United States.

McKinsey was subsequently retained and in May 1991, the company delivered the report. It was actually entitled, "Building a World Class Drug Detection System for the Racing Industry: A National Strategic Plan."

The report was unveiled at the annual conference of the Association of Racing Commissioners International (RCI) that month; two authors of the study subsequently presented the highlights of the report at the 1991 Round Table Conference.

In a nutshell, it identified broad changes that would be required throughout the industry if an effective system were to be achieved. It went on to suggest that if the recommendations were implemented quickly and efficiently the industry could eventually have a more effective drug detection system at lower costs than were being incurred at that time.

The McKinsey Report is important because it provided a blueprint. And we are talking about it 19 years later because we are still taking some of the necessary steps that were outlined in that report. Cont. p19

Certainly, the creation in 2001 of the broad-based coalition known as the Racing Medication and Testing Consortium (RMTC) has made drug reform a priority and given the industry a vehicle to conduct necessary research and make recommendations.

In fact, the McKinsey Report served as the road map in the early days of RMTC.

The RMTC's Drug Testing Initiative, in particular, has made significant inroads, as we heard from Alan Foreman, an RMTC board member, at the Round Table Conference in August.

The six major recommendations of the McKinsey Report were:

Animal selection policy: adopt a new system built around testing 50 percent of the winners and other specific finisher categories.

Two states, Kentucky and Washington, are experimenting with this philosophy for the first time ever this year. There is still resistance to such a policy from many industry stakeholders but that could change if there are remarkable results in these two states.

Sample collection and documentation process: all steps in the sample collection process should be fully documented to minimize litigation problems and an industry-wide split sample process should be adopted to maintain fairness.

This has been almost universally adopted. There are almost no cases overturned anymore due to chain of custody issues and while the mechanics of the split sample programs still differ between the states, the opportunity is afforded in all.

Research and technology management: a national research program should be adopted to establish threshold levels; develop tests for drugs where current methods are inadequate; develop new tests for drugs; set trace levels for therapeutic drugs used in training; and foster better technology management.

This has been a major goal of the RMTC since its inception and RMTC is actively tackling the threshold research and support research for drugs where current methods are inadequate. RMTC has spent over $1.5 million on research of this nature and significant progress has been made. It will never be a "mission accomplished" recommendation: there will always be new drugs, both therapeutic and non-therapeutic, so continually offering research support is critical.

Lab operations and configuration: labs should be consolidated.

This is beginning to happen, not as a result of industry pressure but due to the fragile budgets of state racing commissions, the demands of new technology and an ever-increasing number of drugs that samples need to be tested for. It will likely continue over the next five to 10 years.

Quality assurance: the industry should have strong quality assurance activities covering every aspect of the testing process, not just the testing labs, and the RCI should promote a certification process.

The RMTC, as part of its Drug Testing Initiatives, has contracted with a company to provide, for the first time ever, an independent quality assurance program that will go into place in 2011. RMTC and RCI continue to work together on ISO accreditation for racing laboratories.

Responsibilities and penalties: a consistent system of penalties proportional to the offense should be established based on categorization of drugs into six groups ranked by degree of influence on performance.

The RCI Uniform Classification Guidelines for Foreign Substances was developed as a result of this recommendation and is still maintained and widely used today. The RMTC developed a logical set of model penalties based around the classification document and it is currently being used by over 20 states.

Looking back on the McKinsey Report today, it might just be that the report was ahead of its time. But there is no doubt that it has served the industry well.

Much of the progress we have made in the medication area in the past 19 years was due to the McKinsey Report.

"Seminal" is defined as highly original and influencing the development of future events.

The McKinsey Report was that...and has done that.

op/ed feedback

I been reading Mr. Whiteley's essays (TDN 11/4/10) with great interest, and I think the latest, dealing with stud fees, is finally getting to the heart of the matter. If you're trying to judge the viability of any business (assuming, of course, that there's a market for the product), it all boils down to two factors: What's the cost structure? And how do you get paid? If the cost structure is out of whack, the business isn't going to make it. The thoroughbred industry is so compartmentalized that it's easy to forget that it's really just one long (very long) supply chain, and that the end product is the horse on the track. That's where the industry gets paid. All the other activities, starting at the breeding shed, are processes in the production of that horse. If the cost of these processes adds up to more than the revenue the horse can generate, you need to find some savings--in a hurry. Most of the processes involved in the production of a racehorse seem to be based on real factors: labour, overhead, the cost of capital. Stud fees, well, stud fees are something else again. If the percentage of "A" runners produced by even the most successful sires is in the single digits, how can these fees be justified economically? If your financial advisor suggested an investment of $100,000, with a 95% chance of failure, what would you say--besides "Goodbye?" Stud fees don't seem to have any basis in economic reality, and the shockingly low percentage of profitable weanlings and yearlings would seem to bear this out. The market is saying that these horses are not worth their cost of production, and the biggest part of that cost is the stud fee. This is an agribusiness, and if the cost of seed is greater than the value of the crop, you're eventually going to have to start growing something else.

SWORD DANCE DIES AT 26 Top Florida stallion Sword Dance (Ire) (Nijinsky II--Rosa Mundi, by Secretariat) died of natural causes at Gil and Marilyn Campbell's Stonehedge Farm South Monday. Retired to stud in 1990 and pensioned in 2004, the multiple graded stakes winner was 26. The winner of the GII Del Mar H. was responsible for 23 black-type winners, including GI Arlington Million winner Marlin and millionaire and graded stakes winner Blazing Sword. "Sword Dance was the first big stallion we purchased, and he brought Stonehedge and Mr. & Mrs. Campbell a lot of success," King said. "He was a foundation horse in Florida, one of the few to sire an Arlington Million winner. He had a foundation pedigree, and he was such a consistent sire for so long. He will be missed." Sword Dance will be buried at the farm.

Modern Cowboy missed by a nose going this track's one-turn mile in a May 29 allowance, then returned from a brief freshening to take a two-turn Monmouth allowance by a neck Aug. 1. A distant fourth behind ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ Trickmeister (Proud Citizen) in Saratoga's Pleasant Colony S. Aug. 20, the bay dropped back in to an appropriate level and cleared his second allowance condition by 1 1/4 lengths over the Turfway Polytrack Oct. 1. The second wagering choice behind 2009 GIII West Virginia Derby winner Soul Warrior, Modern Cowboy bided his time from fourth as the favorite argued the pace from the inside. The Pletcher trainee swept three wide into contention at the quarter pole and stayed on best of all for a convincing victory. Soul Warrior held well for third in his first run since a midpack fourth in last year's GII Super Derby, a break of over 13 months. Click for the brisnet.com chart or video, sponsored by Taylor Made.

DOE RUN (f, 3, Yonaguska--Slamma, by Grand Slam) was beaten a half-length into second by tonight's GI BC Ladies' Classic hopeful It's Tea Time (Dynaformer) over the Saratoga turf course Aug. 1 and followed with a fourth in the Sept. 2 Riskaverse S. She led into the final furlong of a Sept. 26 Belmont allowance, but yielded late to be beaten a 1/2-length in second. Favored here at 2-1, Doe Run was last but one for the opening half-mile, was asked to pick it up leaving the three-eighths marker and drove past Media Madness (Empire Maker) to take it by 1 1/4 lengths. UP IN LIGHTS (f, 3, Smart Strike--Future Starlet {GSP, $111,229}, by Theatrical {Ire}) was runner-up to future SW Queen of the Creek (Theatrical {Ire}) in a November maiden over this turf course in her final start for the Anthony Mitchell barn, and made a solid impression in her first go for this outfit, finishing third going nine panels at this track July 3. A half-length third over the Saratoga weeds Aug. 15, the bay was cutting back to a flat mile off a narrow defeat going 9 1/2 furlongs at the Spa Sept. 1. Out the back and angled over to the fence within the first half-furlong, Up in Lights was given his cue on the final bend, switched out widest for the drive and overwhelmed Jump Star (Jump Start) to take it by two lengths as the 2-1 chalk. Indy Bouquet (A.P. Indy) fractured her left front cannon bone nearing the final turn and had to be euthanized. Up in Lights is a half to Lady of the Future (Eastern Echo), MSW & MGSP, $507,182. ANTHONY'S CROSS (c, 2, Indian Charlie--Screening, by Unbridled) hit the gate at the start of his six-furlong debut at Saratoga July 31, but recovered nicely to finish fourth. A rallying third to Gill Iroquois S. hero Astrology (A.P. Indy) and tomorrow's Gill Nashua S. aspirant To Honor and Serve (Bernardini) in a seven-furlong test at the Spa Sept. 4, the Pennsylvania-bred could not overcome a wide run on the turn and finished fourth as the favorite going two turns over the Keeneland Polytrack Oct. 9. Settled just off the flank of longshot Voodat (Roman Ruler) through the early exchanges, Anthony's Cross turned up the heat approaching the quarter pole and gradually wore that one down for a 2 1/2-length success as the 6-5 chalk. Anthony's Cross is a half to Fugitive Angel (Alphabet Soup), $203,147, recent winner of the Gill Pin Oak Valley View S. at Keeneland. Sales history: $300,000 yrl '09 FTSAUG. FIGURES RISE AGAIN AT DONCASTER

Yesterday's first session of the DBS November Horses-in-Training Sale resulted in significant increases in average and median of 59 per cent and 88 per cent respectively. While jumps prospects dominated proceedings, trainer David Simcock snapped up one of the smarter flat horses when paying £52,000 for the dual winning two-year-old Lord of the Stars (Speightstown). From Mogeely Stud, hip 357 whose dam is a sister to the Graded-Stakes scorer Forest Grove (Forestry) was also seventh in this year's G3 Molecomb S. for trainer Ralph Beckett. Alastair Lidderdale paid £47,000 for hip 305, the triple-winning four-year-old gelding North Cape (Action This Day) from Henry Candy's Kingstone Warren Stables, while hip 367, Walter Swinburn's three-year-old colt Alubari (GB) (Tiger Hill {Ire}), was secured by Bobby O'Ryan for £37,000. His half-siblings include the Danehill pair of Leporello (Ire)--now a sire--and Group-placed Poppy Carew (Ire) (Danehill), as well as the dams of Devious Boy (GB) (Dr Devious {Ire}) and Marzelline (Ire) (Baratheia {Ire}). DBS Managing Director Henry Beeby said, "We are delighted with an excellent trade for a strong catalogue from regular DBS consignors which was boosted by some significant Irish draft as a result of our amalgamation with the Goffs HIT Sale." Selling continues at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Full results are available on www.dbsauctions.com.

OSARUS NOVEMBER BUOYANT

Lively trade continued throughout Osarus' inaugural November Yearling Sale which was staged at L'Isle Briand's plush racecourse complex in Le Lion d'Angers yesterday evening. The 102-strong catalog yielded a healthy €284,500 aggregate and the sale also set decent benchmarks for average and median. Leading the way was Haras de Saint Arnoult's Hip 69b, who went the way of trainer Henri-Alex Pantall for €16,500. The February-foaled daughter of Anabaa Blue (GB) (Anabaa) is out of a half-sister to the Listed Yerba Buena S. victress Mabadi (Sahm), and is from the family of Ibn Bey (GB) (Mill Reef) and Roseate Tern (GB) (Blakeney {GB}). Second place on the podium went to Haras du Meheran's Hip 82, a jumps-bred son of Saint des Saints (Fr) (Cadoudal {Fr}), who was sold to Haras du Chene for €16,000. Pinhooker Con Marnane enjoyed a busy day's trade and the Bansha House Stables collection numbered six by the end of the session, costing a combined €45,500. Marnane's biggest outlay, and fourth-highest price of the day, was €13,000 for Haras des Loges' Hip 15, an April-foaled daughter of Gold Away (Ire) (Goldneyev). She is a half-sister to the dual listed winner Jioconda (Ire) (Rossini), herself the dam of this term's G3 Tyros S. third Jolie Jioconde (Ire) (Marju {Ire}), and hails from the family of Classic Cliche (Ire) (Salse) and My Emma (GB) (Marju {Ire}). The fledgling sale company has extended its bonus scheme to cover this sale and offers a €6,000 premium to the owner of the first horse to win which was sold under the hammer.
