ANIMAL KINGDOM SHARP IN BELMONT PREP

GI Kentucky Derby hero Animal Kingdom (Leroidesanimaux {Brz}) had his final prep for Saturday's GI Belmont S. yesterday morning, going an effortless half in a bullet :47.76 as he tried out the main

Animal Kingdom (outside) Horsephotos

strip at Big Sandy for the first time. Breezing in company under jockey John Velazquez, the chestnut cruised through an opening quarter in :24.18 and was under no pressure as he started to edge ahead of his overmatched workmate nearing the wire. He drew well clear while galloping out in solid splits of 1:00.06 and 1:14.38. Team Valor International CEO Barry Irwin, on hand as his syndicate's colt hit the track just after the renovation break under nearly cloudless skies, was pleased with what he witnessed. "I liked it," Irwin said. "It looked like he handled [the track] really nicely. He looked like a grass horse--he was like an inch off the ground. He was moving great; it looked like he went in :50. I think he's got a lot of energy, still. I think that's the key with him. He didn't look like a tired horse or anything." Trainer Graham Motion added, "[Velazquez] didn't ask him at all. He did it all on his own. That's why I only wanted to go a half with him, because I figured he'd gallop out pretty strong. He just hasn't changed. He's remarkable. He's taking everything in his stride and he hasn't gotten worked up about it. You saw how he was today. He couldn't have been more laid back. That's what's impressed me." Velazquez had his hands full during the move. "He was half-way running off with me," he admitted. "I took him as slowly as I could. He got very competitive with the other horse. After he passed him, he kept galloping very strong. He knew he had the jockey on top of him because he just played with me. He had me at 'hello.'"

An Easy Half for Nehro...

Zayat Stables' Nehro (Mineshaft) also worked a half on the Belmont main track Monday morning, but in less eye-catching fashion than the Derby winner. With exercise rider Cesar Garcia in the irons and on his own, the dark bay went the opening quarter in :26.24, then hit the gas to finish up in :50.88. He galloped out five-eighths in 1:04.17. The move mirrored his final Derby prep, a half in :51 1/5 in the slop at Churchill five days before his second-place effort in the "Run for the Roses." Toby Sheets, assistant to trainer Steve Asmussen, watched the work from atop a grey pony at the finish line. He gave it two thumbs up. "I though he worked great--it was just exactly what the boss wanted," Sheets said. "We were very pleased with him. He came back good, so onward and upward." While Animal Kingdom went on to finish second in the May 21 GI Preakness S., Nehro skipped the second leg of the Triple Crown. He had a more serious workout at Churchill Downs May 30, going six furlongs in a bullet 1:12 1/5. Belmont Notes cont. p2

Prime Cut Added to Belmont Line-Up...

Donald A. Adam's Prime Cut (Bernstein) punched his ticket to the "Test of the Champion" with a solid five-furlong breeze at Churchill Downs Monday. Exercise rider Dane Noel guided the bay through opening fractions of :25 and :37 before hitting the line in 1:01 flat. The pair galloped out an extra furlong in :14.20. On the board in six of his seven career starts, Prime Cut made his stakes bow in the Apr. 23 GIII Coolmore Lexington S. on the Keeneland Poly, finishing second, and most recently ran third in the GII Peter Pan S. at Belmont May 14. "We made the decision the other day that we'd go ahead and run, pending everything going good through this week," trainer Neil Howard said. "He's doing good. We don't feel like we've pushed or reached too much with him, and he's got a nice prep over Belmont, so we kind of left it that we'd go ahead if everything went well this morning, and it did." The 3-year-old is scheduled to fly to New York today, along with Belmont hopeful Santiva (Giant's Causeway). Edgar Prado will ride Prime Cut in the Belmont.

For investors in high-class bloodstock, there was something very reassuring about the results of all three European Classics contested over the weekend. They all fell to animals that were fulfilling the Classic potential of both sides of pedigrees, as all three are by stallions with previous Classic winners to their credit, and all three come from families that had produced winners of the Epsom Derby or Oaks.

Dancing Rain Edward Whitaker/Racing Post

The Oaks went to Dancing Rain, who became the first mile-and-a-half Classic winner for Danehill Dancer, following his Group 1 Classic successes over a mile with Speciosa, Again and Mastercraftsman. Dancing Rain also became the third female Classic winner out of a daughter of Indian Ridge, this particular daughter of Indian Ridge being Rain Flower, a three-parts sister to the 1992 Epsom Derby winner Dr Devious. Next in the sequence came Pour Moi, whose startling last-to-first effort provided Montjeu with his third winner of the Epsom Derby in the space of seven years. Those seven years have also seen three other Montjeu colts win the Irish Derby and another two win the Grand Prix de Paris (many people's idea of France's true equivalent to the Derby). Consequently, Montjeu has unrivaled claims to being Europe's most prolific source of mile-and-a-half Classic colts.

Edward Whittaker/Racing Post

Pour Moi's third dam is Northern Dancer's famous daughter Royal Statute, who also ranks as the second dam of Snow Bride, the filly awarded the 1989 Oaks prior to becoming the dam of the 1995 Derby winner Lammtarra.

Finally, the Prix du Jockey-Club fell to the unbeaten Reliable Man, whose sire Dalakhani won the same race in the days before its distance was shortened. Some would argue that victory should have gone to another son of Dalakhani, the slow-starting Baraan, but that doesn't change the fact that Dalakhani now has three Classic winners from his first four crops, the others being Conduit (St Leger) and Moonstone (Irish Oaks). Dalakhani's crops haven't been as large as those of some of his rivals--his three Classic winners come from a total of 288 foals in his first four crops.

Reliable Man's Classic connection on his dam's side comes from his second dam Fair Salinia, winner of the Oaks in 1978 before adding the Irish equivalent with the help of the stewards.

The other common denominator between Pour Moi and Reliable Man is the presence in their pedigrees of Sadler's Wells and his old rival Darshaan. Whereas Pour Moi is by a son of Sadler's Wells and has a dam by Darshaan, Reliable Man is by a son of Darshaan and has a dam by Sadler's Wells.

Perhaps we shouldn't be too surprised at this, as Sadler's Wells and Darshaan have become almost inextricably linked in the middle-distance sector of European Classic breeding. Sadler's Wells appeared in the pedigrees of eight of the 13 runners in the Derby, while Darshaan appeared in the pedigrees of seven. The two appear together in the pedigrees of five of the colts, including two of the race's other main players-- the gallant runner-up Treasure

Treasure Beach (purple cap) sportinglife.com

Beach (sire by Sadler's Wells, broodmare sire by Darshaan) and the very creditable fourth Memphis Tennessee (by Montjeu's son Hurricane Run, with a second dam by Darshaan).

To illustrate just how widespread this alliance has become, here are a few facts and figures:

Sadler's Wells sired 169 foals from 75 of Darshaan's daughters, and did so exceptionally well, with 17% stakes winners and eight Group 1 winners, that his stallion sons also became automatic choices for breeders lucky enough to own a Darshaan mare. Galileo, Barathea, Montjeu and Refuse To Bend all have large numbers of offspring out of daughters of Darshaan, whose total number of foals by sons of Sadler's Wells adds up to 400. Grandsons of Sadler's Wells are also getting into the act, and there are already 35 foals of racing age by sons of Montjeu.

Then there's the other side of the coin. Darshaan sired 52 foals--and 13% stakes winners--from daughters of Sadler's Wells. One of those 52, City Honours, went close to winning the 1998 Derby. Darshaan's last foals were born in 2002, but alternatives became available in his Classic-winning sons Mark of Esteem and Dalakhani. Mark of Esteem sired 33 foals from Sadler's Wells mares, but has been overtaken by Dalakhani, who already has 70 foals out of daughters of the Coolmore legend.

Pour Moi's dam, the unraced Gwynn, was one of the Darshaan mares that visited Sadler's Wells. Easily the best of her three foals by him was Gagnoa. Although she won a pair of Group 3 races, her most eye-catching performance for the Coolmore partners came in a vintage edition of the G1 Prix de Diane, in which she finished second to the brilliant Zarkava, ahead of Goldikova and Proviso.

Gwynn then moved on to Sadler's Wells's sons, producing Pour Moi to Montjeu, followed by 2009 and 2010 fillies by Galileo. The 2010 filly drew a 900,000-guinea bid from John Magnier at last year's October Yearling Sale.

Pour Moi's second dam, the Conquistador Cielo mare Victoress, was only a minor winner over 1 3/8 miles in the French Provinces, but her female line was strong enough to earn her every chance as a broodmare.

However, she was deemed surplus to requirements by the time she was 12, and was sent from Dalham Hall to the 1996 sales, carrying a foal by Darshaan. She was bought for only 37,000gns by the astute Barronstown Stud, who consigned the Darshaan foal--Gwynn--to the 1998 yearling sales, where she was knocked down for 250,000gns.

Victoress's record of two winners from 10 foals of racing age doesn't sound impressive, but three of her daughters have so far produced stakes winners. One of them, the Sadler's Wells colt Atlantic Waves, contested the 2006 Derby after winning the Feilden S.

I have already mentioned Victoress's distinguished half-sister Awaasif, as it was this winner of the G1 Yorkshire Oaks who ranks as the dam of Snow Bride and second dam of Lammtarra. Even so, Victoress's most famous half-sister is possibly not Awaasif, but Konafa. This daughter of Damascus produced three group winners, and one of those group winners was Korveya, the Riverman mare who sold for $7 million at the age of 16 in 1998. Korveya's price reflected the Classic-winning achievements of her daughter Bosra Sham and sons Hector Protector and Shanghai.

Internallyflawless and Red Giant are two other recent Grade I winners from this outstanding female line, which is clearly losing none of its potency.

All Fine with Derby Heroes...

Connections of the weekend's Classic winners Pour Moi (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) and Reliable Man (GB) (Dalakhani {Ire}) have reported their colts none the worse for their exertions.

The former's trainer Andre Fabre has a holiday planned for Susan Magnier, Michael Tabor and Derrick Smith's Epsom Derby hero and he told the Racing Post, "He had a hard race, having given everything and a break over the summer will do him good."

Alain de Royer-Dupre had initially earmarked the July 14 G1 Grand Prix de Paris at Longchamp for Sunday's G1 Prix du Jockey Club winner Reliable Man, but owner/breeder Sven Hanson told PA Sport yesterday, "Nothing is decided regarding his next race. The trainer will probably make the decision, but he will see how the horse is over the next couple of weeks. Yesterday was a great thrill and the horse seems okay today."

FRAVEL UP FOR BC POST? The San Diego Union-Tribune, citing “multiple sources,” reported Monday that Craig Fravel, currently the president and general manager of Del Mar Thoroughbred Club, is a leading candidate for the position of CEO of Breeders’ Cup Ltd. When contacted by the Union-Tribune, Fravel declined to comment. Breeders’ Cup spokesman Jim Gluckson told the publication, “We are in the midst of searching for a new CEO. We can’t discuss any candidates, or whether an announcement is coming.” Breeders’ Cup has been looking for a replacement since former CEO Greg Avioli resigned in March to take over as president and CEO of the racing and gaming division of MI Developments. Breeders’ Cup Chairman Tom Ludt heads up the search committee, which includes directors Helen Alexander, Antony Beck, Jerry Crawford and Richard Santulli.

Slow into stride and a strong-finishing fourth behind ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ Maybe (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in a maiden over this track and trip on debut May 11, Teolane was the easy winner of a seven-furlong maiden at Leopardstown May 29. Using her long stride in front from the outset, the chestnut was pressed by the well-backed Princess Sinead inside the final quarter, but ran on strongly to assert her superiority. "She could be anything, and the further she goes, the better she'll be," trainer Jim Bolger said. "She is not certain to go to Royal Ascot, as it might come too soon, and my long-term aim for her is the G1 Moyglare Stud S. [at The Curragh Aug. 28]. If she does go to Ascot, she'll run in the [June 17] G3 Albany S., and my other filly Somasach (Johannesburg) will run in the [June 15] G2 Queen Mary S. If Teolane doesn't go, Somasach might go for the Albany." Click for the Racing Post chart or the Video, courtesy attheraces.com.

Having quickened up nicely to win a five-furlong Doncaster maiden on debut Apr. 16, Lilbourne Lad was defeated by just a head when second in a May 14 Newmarket conditions event next time, but rebounded to garner black type at the first attempt here. Sent straight to the front, the sole British raider kicked clear inside the two-furlong marker and powered home under hand-riding for an impressive score. "Lilbourne Lad is a very nice horse and we have always liked him a lot," trainer Richard Hannon told irishracing.com. "We were a bit disappointed he got beaten on his second run, but I think it was a lack of experience and also giving the winner three pounds. I couldn't have been more pleased and he surprised me a bit as he's not a horse that does a lot at home. It was a real good performance today and we'll have to look at [Royal] Ascot after that. He's also in a lot of the sales races." Click for the Racing Post chart or the Video, courtesy attheraces.com.

Breaking through at the fourth attempt in an Apr. 28 five-furlong Tipperary maiden, Rose Bonheur successfully stepped up a panel in a May 11 handicap here before finishing ninth when pitched into the G1 Irish 1000 Guineas at The Curragh May 22. Racing keenly in second as Blaze Brightly cut out the early gallop in this one, she eased to the front at the quarter pole and a couple of backhanders saw her stride clear to secure black-type for the first time. "Her Guineas run was good, when she was only beaten just under six lengths, and she won well [here]," trainer Kevin Prendergast told irishracing.com. "She is very consistent and, on her Guineas run, had to have a big chance today. Seven furlongs is probably her trip and she would want to settle better to get that extra furlong. We'll probably go for a Group 3 over seven furlongs next and there's a couple coming up over the next month to six weeks [the June 29 G3 Brownstown S. at Fairyhouse and the July 16 G3 Minstrel S. at The Curragh]." MORE THAN READY FILLY TOPS MM DAY TWO

A daughter of More Than Ready out of MGSW and MG1SP Lady Mulan (NZ) (Bigstone {Ire}) became the Magic Millions National Yearling Sale topper yesterday when selling for A$190,000 (US$203,893) on day two of the three-day auction. Brisbane-based conditioner Danny Bougoure scooped up the brown filly, who was offered by Willow Park Stud. "She has a lot going for her," Bougoure said. "Others in the family had averaged about $400,000, so she looks great value." Bougoure continued, "She has a great pedigree and she's a really lovely filly. Thankfully, I had a client for her and I'm thrilled to be able to buy her. She is the most expensive horse I've purchased and, after buying a colt by More Than Ready yesterday [for $130,000], I'm very happy." The session's second-highest buy was a Haradasun (Aus) filly out of the GSW and G1SP Danewin (Aus) mare Classy Dane (Aus). She was consigned by Attunga Stud, as agent, and purchased by Justin Bahen's Hong Kong-based Bahen Bloodstock for A$175,000. Through two days, 276 lots have been sold from 396 offered for a clearance rate of 70%--down 8% from last year. With an average price of A$31,592, the aggregate is A$8,719,500. "There's an adjustment taking place in the market and we've seen that over recent days," offered Magic Millions Managing Director Vin Cox. "The clearance rate of 70%, and even higher today, was pleasing in this climate. That is probably more an indication of vendors meeting the market rather than the market itself." Cox added, "There appears to have been some great value buying and this will continue during the third session of the National Yearling Sale." The third and final session of yearlings concludes today, with the National Racehorse Sale slated for Wednesday. For more information, visit www.magicmillions.com.au.
