CLIFFHANGER AT GOODWOOD

In the career of every dominant 3-year-old, there comes a time when that superiority has to be tested against the older generation, and Frankel (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) faces his moment of truth in today's G1 Qipco Sussex S. at Glorious Goodwood. The G1 July Cup and G1 King George successes of Dream Ahead (Diktat {GB}) and Nathaniel (Ire)

Khalid Abdullah (right) with Frankel

(Galileo {Ire}) are positive markers for the merit of the Classic generation, but, in Canford Cliffs (Ire) (Tagula {Ire}), Khalid Abdullah's effervescent performer has a high peak to scale. Frankel did not replicate his dramatic G1 2000 Guineas display when extending his unbeaten record in Royal Ascot's G1 St James's Palace S. last time June 14, leading some to suggest that he could be starting to show signs of vulnerability. Jockey Tom Queally is happy that the brilliant homebred remains at the height of his powers, but admits that the spectre of trainer Richard Hannon's star Canford Cliffs looms large in his mind. "There will be a huge crowd and it should be a great spectacle," Queally wrote in his pre-race blog. "Frankel has shown he's the best 3-year-old around and now he has to prove it against older horses, namely Canford Cliffs. He hasn't met a horse of that calibre before, so this will tell us where he ranks among all the milers around today. A lot has been written and said about tactics, but we have options with Frankel, and in the end I'm sure it will be a case of the best horse winning." Trainer Sir Henry Cecil added, "Everybody is very excited about the race and it's important for racing, but I prefer to keep quiet and let the horse do the talking. He's definitely growing up and is getting much more sensible, so it's easier to do what you want to do with him. The main thing is that it's a fair race and the best horse wins." Cont. p2

SUMMER SHOWDOWN

The fifth day of the 2011 Saratoga meet features a rematch between Winter Memories (El Prado {Ire}) and More Than Real (More Than Ready) in the GII Lake George S. A flashy debut winner over this course last summer, Winter Memories was second-best at even-money to More Than Real in the GII Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies, but has been formidable this year. The grey rallied five wide to take the GIII Appalachian S. at Keeneland in her Apr. 21 seasonal opener, and showed a superior turn-of-foot to claim the GII Sands Point S. at Belmont on Memorial Day (video). The daughter of top turfer Memories of Silver (Silver Hawk) has pleased trainer Jimmy Toner since her last start. "She's filled out, she's matured and developed, and we couldn't be happier with the way she is doing," Toner confirmed. "So far, so good. We're ready to go and anxious to get started." Cont. p3

Canford Cliffs, who arrived here 12 months ago as the sophomore with it all to prove, duly picked up the elder Rip Van Winkle (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) with some style to add to his prior Classic victory in the G1 Irish 2000 Guineas. After an easy subsequent success in the G1 Lockinge S. at Newbury May 14 and a comfortable follow-up in Royal Ascot's G1 Queen Anne S.--when he overturned the great Goldikova (Ire) (Anabaa)--a month later, he arrives for this "Duel on the Downs" with all the confidence of his customarily bullish stable behind him. "Canford Cliffs has completed his preparation and everything has gone smoothly," trainer Richard Hannon commented. "We have done all the talking, and now Henry [Cecil] and I will leave it to the two horses. Obviously, tactics will play an important part, but I'll leave that to Hughesie. We have a lot of respect for Frankel, but we know the strengths of our horse and, hopefully, we will be the ones celebrating afterwards. We took the scalp of Goldikova, and now we are after Frankel--it doesn't come any better than this." Freddy Head sends across Saeed Nasser Al Romaithi's Rajsaman (Fr) (Linamix {Fr}), who is likely to be overlooked with the focus on the main two, but who has smart form in his native France to recommend him if they fail to fire. Successful when receiving seven pounds from Byword (GB) (Peintre Celebre) in the G2 Prix du Muguet over this trip at Saint-Cloud May 1, he was third behind Goldikova and Cirrus des Aigles (Fr) (Even Top {Ire}) in the G1 Prix d'Ispahan over an extended nine furlongs at Longchamp three weeks later. "He's very well, but whether he's good enough is another story," Head told PA Sport. Godolphin's Rio de la Plata (Rahy), who justified ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ status when winning the G2 Vintage S. here as a 2-year-old, was far from disgraced when fourth in the Queen Anne last time. Last year's G1 Premio Vittorio di Capua and G1 Premio Roma winner is no back-number, despite his inflated odds. "Rio de la Plata ran well at Royal Ascot and he came out of that race in good shape," Saeed bin Suroor commented. "A mile is the best distance for him, and he won two Group 1 races in Italy last season. This looks a very tough race, but he deserves to take his chance, and I am hoping that he can run with credit."

After capping her 2-year-old campaign with a Breeders' Cup victory, More Than Real was out of action for seven months before taking her place in the G1 Coronation S. at Royal Ascot June 17. The chestnut was up against it in that bold venture and wasn't persevered with late, finishing 11th on good-to-soft ground over a right-handed mile. "We're trying to get back on course after a failed trip to England, so we'll hope that she's back to her Breeders' Cup form," trainer Todd Pletcher reported about Bobby Flay's colorbearer. "She's training very well and we're ready to run." Pletcher will also lead over Bellamy Star, who was purchased privately by a partnership that includes Paul Pompa Jr. following her success in Belmont's Xtra Heat S. for breeder Kinsman Farm. The dark bay was previously conditioned by Carl Domino. "She's been very straightforward," said Pletcher. "She's trained really well, and it would be my guess that she'll be pretty forwardly placed against this group." Sunlight Sonata, second to Bellamy Star last out, will join stablemate Winter Memories in the starting gate. "[She] is a good filly in her own right," Toner told Daily Racing Form. "Maybe she goes out there, everybody takes back, and who knows what could happen?"

7	2	Rockinante (Fr)	Rock of Gibraltar (Ire)	R Moore	Hannon

All carry 126 pounds, bar Red Duke, 129.

Red Duke bids to defy a three-pound penalty gained when winning Newmarket's G2 Superlative S. last time July 9, when Chandlery was a neck behind in second. Trainer John Quinn told PA Sport, "He's in good form and we're very happy with him. He's very well and we're hoping for a good run, but obviously the penalty is a concern." Chandlery is one of a quartet from the Richard Hannon yard alongside the smooth June 25 Newmarket maiden winner Rockinante, the unbeaten July 8 Ascot conditions scorer Red Seventy and July 16 Lingfield maiden winner Minal. Their trainer said, "Chandlery won here first time out, but he looked to appreciate stepping up to seven furlongs in the Superlative at Newmarket and we have a three-pound pull with Red Duke for a neck beating, so he has an obvious chance. He is a lovely colt. Rockinante was impressive when making a winning debut at Newmarket and, while the second was beaten last weekend, we like ours. Similarly, Red Seventy has done nothing wrong, winning both his races in some style. He was just warming up at the end at Ascot, and, being by Sakhee, should benefit from stepping up in trip. Minal was beaten by Red Seventy at Salisbury, but he finally broke his maiden at Lingfield and deserves a crack at some black type." Lethal Force represents the G2 Coventry S. form, having finished with real effect to be fourth behind Power (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) in that six-furlong Royal Ascot contest last time June 14. "I'm very pleased he confirmed what we thought he was at home by running a blinder in the Coventry," conditioner Clive Cox told PA Sport. "He's continued growing and developing, and that's why we've given him time before his next run. He's still a maiden, but he's shown tremendous promise at home."

Strong Suit's breathing problem has been well-documented and, with that major issue sorted ahead of his impressive win in Royal Ascot's G3 Jersey S. June 15, he is now showing all the elan his connections were shouting about last term. Following the Royal meeting, at which he was also successful in last year's G2 Coventry S., the chestnut was handed a second chance at the top level in the G1 Prix Jean Prat at Chantilly July 3. As he had been in the 2010 G1 Phoenix S., the chestnut was in third spot after that

"[Strong Suit] was very impressive there and he might be a horse for the Sussex next year," commented Richard Hannon Jr., assistant trainer to his father. "I think he will get a mile in time, but there are so many nice races like this for him to mop up first--there is the G2 Hungerford S. [at Newbury Aug. 13] and the G1 Prix de la Foret [at Longchamp Oct. 2]--so there are plenty of options." Jockey Richard Hughes added, "He definitely wasn't the same horse in France the last day as he was today or in Ascot. He gave me a terrible ride to the start and got very worked up, and never really settled in the race. Today he was beautiful going to the start and was a different horse. When he's good, he's good, and he doesn't do anything when he hits the front." Red Jazz is being aimed at the G1 Hong Kong Mile at Sha Tin Dec. 11. "He'll end up in Hong Kong, and it's just a matter of picking some races before then," trainer Barry Hills told PA Sport.

Namibian showed abundant stamina when battling to a game win in the G3 Queen's Vase over two miles at Royal Ascot last time June 17, having previously finished third in a competitive handicap over this trip at Musselburgh June 4. Reined back by Silvestre de Sousa early in the shade of the hot favorite Fiorente in sixth, the bay moved up to join that rival as he made a forward move at the top of the straight. Gaining the edge passing the quarter pole, the bay dug in to his reserves to withstand his challenge and book a potential ticket to the G1 St Leger at Doncaster Sept. 10.

Trainer Mark Johnston commented, "Silvestre said they went quick early, but I actually thought the pace was too slow for him, as I knew he would stay well at the finish. He started at a fairly low grade and clearly has made rapid progress. It was a last-minute decision to run, as I wasn't sure about the trip at all, but when the rain came this morning, it made up my mind. This was a bit experimental coming back in trip, but it has made up our minds for the future, and I would think the Leger would be a target. Obviously, the owner has got to be involved in that decision, but he showed there will be no worries about a mile and six--this is still early days for him."

After a promising debut third in a decent six-furlong maiden at Leopardstown Apr. 10 and maiden win over this trip at Cork 13 days later, Requinto dropped to last in the June 6 Listed Rochestown S. back at that track over an extra panel. He rebounded with an impressive win in the July 9 Listed Tipperary S. reverting to five once again, and showed early speed to race prominently here after a fast break before chasing the furious pace in fifth. Switched wide for his final effort, the bay ground his way to the front with 100 yards remaining before asserting from Burwaaz and Charles the Great on either side. "This fellow showed lots of pace in Ireland, but I was half flat-out on him today as they went very quick," rider Wayne Lordan explained. "When I pulled him and he had racing room, he quickened up and went to the line well. He's an improving horse and he has a good mind." Coolmore's representative Kevin Buckley told PA Sport, "They went terribly quick in front, but he's got lots of speed, just like his dam. The faster the ground, the better. David will see how he is and make a decision, but he could maybe be one for the G2 Flying Childers S. [at Doncaster Sept. 9]."

For Breen and Halls, Two Chances Better Than One...

For the locally based George and Lori Hall and Kelly Breen, hired as the couple's private trainer back in 2007, Sunday's GI Haskell Invitational S. is a numbers game. And in this case, two is way better than one. Those two make for a formidable entry (though they will race as separate betting interests) in the $1-million centerpiece of the Monmouth meeting, also a "Win and You're In" event for the GI Breeders' Cup Classic.

Breen, who was born and raised about 30 miles north of the Oceanport oval, has had a breakout season in 2011, headlined by the 24-1 upset by the Halls' Ruler On Ice (Roman Ruler) in the GI Belmont S. and victories by stablemate and Haskell entrant Pants On Fire (Jump Start) in the GII Louisiana Derby in late March and the GIII Pegasus S. at Monmouth in June. For Breen, a Haskell trophy would make an already sensational season that much more extraordinary.

"I would be blessed," Breen told media assembled for a national teleconference Tuesday afternoon. "People like the Halls have given me the chance to work here in New Jersey and to win this race. The Halls spend their summers in New Jersey, and thank God they live in New Jersey."

Despite the pressure associated with any of the Triple Crown races, Breen admits Sunday will be an even bigger pressure cooker.

"I'll be a lot more nervous for the Haskell than I was for the Belmont," he conceded. "I was even more nervous when Pants On Fire ran as the favorite in the Pegasus. I'll be more nervous than normal with Monmouth being my home track."

Given the wide-open nature of this year's sophomore division, with three different Classic winners and Derby hero Animal Kingdom (Leroidesanimaux {Brz}) sidelined for the balance of 2011, Breen knows a win in the Haskell could be a step towards year-end honors for either of his Haskell starters.

"If there was ever a chance in my lifetime to have a [3-year-old] Horse of the Year, this is it," he stated. "They're both training so well. I'd rather personally have two shots at it rather than one." He continued, "The races are going to decide it. Animal Kingdom is a great horse, and I think Shackleford (Forestry) is a great horse. The next two races are pivotal."

Pants On Fire, ridden to his two graded wins by the now-injured Rosie Napravnik, will have Elvis Trujillo in the irons for the first time this Sunday. Not a perfect situation, Breen admits, but he's going to try to make lemonade out of those lemons.

"Elvis knows him pretty well, though knowing what a horse is going to give you, I'd sure like to have Rosie on the horse," Breen commented. "We're at Monmouth Park with the leading rider. He's a top-enough rider, and we are happy to have him."

Monmouth Preparing for Shack Attack...

Mike Lauffer and Bill Cubbedge's Shackleford (Forestry), winner of this year's GI Preakness S., resurfaces in Sunday's feature, his eye also squarely focused on a championship performance. Given a few weeks of R 'n' R after taking in all three legs of the Triple Crown, the stoutly built chestnut has trained spectacularly at Churchill Downs, firing bullets July 17 (5f in :59 3/5) and this past Sunday (5f in :59 1/5). Shackleford is fit and ready as the second half of the season gets ready to kick off.

"I think his two-week break [following his fifth-place effort in the Belmont] did him a lot of good," trainer Dale Romans said during Tuesday's teleconference. "He hasn't shown any signs of being tired. I am glad we gave him the time off. He came out of his little vacation eager to train."

"He's training as well as he ever has. His last work he did on his own and he was full of energy afterwards."

After nearly upsetting the GI Florida Derby on the engine, he set a modest pace in the GI Kentucky Derby going the mile and a quarter, weakening in the final half-furlong to finish fourth. While many thought he could get used up on a projected fast pace in the GI Preakness S., Shackleford and Flashpoint (Pomeroy) were the only ones to dispute the pace and covered the opening six furlongs in 1:12. That gave Shackleford just enough of a breather and he was able to hold off Animal Kingdom, despite showing signs of tiring late. Romans believes this drop back in trip will suit the colt.

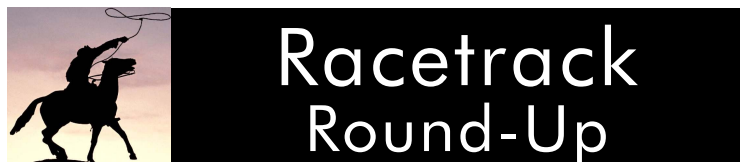

"It probably is [his best distance]," the conditioner said, referring to Sunday's nine-furlong Haskell. "I think he ran well at a mile and three-sixteenths, but if I had to say, a mile and an eighth is his best distance."

But if all goes well this weekend, it'll be a trip to Saratoga and a return to 10 panels at the end of August.

"We'd love to run big in the Haskell and come back in the Travers," Romans confirmed.

Did You Know...

Since the inception of the Eclipse Awards in 1971, only six sophomores have earned divisional honors without winning a Triple Crown race. They are KEY TO THE MINT in 1972, WAJIMA in 1975, SLEW O'GOLD in 1983, HOLY BULL in 1994, SKIP AWAY in 1996 and TIZNOW in 2000.

OPTIONS OPEN FOR BLIND LUCK Trainer Jerry Hollendorfer reports that champion Blind Luck (Pollard's Vision) is "just fine and looks real good" after her stirring victory in the GI Delaware H. July 16, and that he is examining a number of options in trying to plan the rest of the filly's year. As has been widely reported, the GI Personal Ensign H. at Saratoga Aug. 28 remains a possibility, but is not necessarily a slam dunk. "It's on the table, but it is not the leading candidate or a for-sure race. We'll look at it and see if it makes sense," the soon-to-be Hall of Fame inductee commented. At this point,

Hollendorfer, who is also a co-owner of Blind Luck, is leaning towards two starts between now and the GI Breeders' Cup Ladies' Classic, but is trying to determine whether he wants to send his charge away from California for either one or both of those appearances. "I don't think there's any wear and tear, but I just haven't made a decision yet," he explained. After nominating Blind Luck to the GI Hollywood Gold Cup last month, Hollendorfer said he would "definitely" drop Blind Luck's name into consideration for the $1-million GI TVG Pacific Classic to be contested at Del Mar the same afternoon as the Personal Ensign. Under the allowance conditions of the Personal Ensign, a race which could also attract arch-rival Havre de Grace (Saint Liam), Blind Luck would carry 122 pounds and would spot the Delaware H. runner-up two pounds, while there would be a weight concession in the Pacific Classic as a filly against the boys. "I have a lot of choices, so I'm not forced into any decision," Hollendorfer commented. "Whatever happens to be in the best interest of Blind Luck, whatever is the best for her is what we are trying to do." Hollendorfer said the filly could return to the worktab as soon as Thursday at his Del Mar base.

WORKFORCE CONTINUES TO IMPROVE Khalid Abdullah's Workforce (GB) (King's Best) remains on track for a tilt at back-to-back wins in the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe despite suffering a laceration while running second in Saturday's G1 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth S. at Ascot. "I spoke to [trainer] Michael [Stoute] this morning and Workforce is not 100%," the owner-breeder's Racing Manager Teddy Grimthorpe commented yesterday. "On the night of the race, he was quite sore behind, and the following morning he was still not using himself properly, but this morning he is a shade better. We're going to take it gently with him and he'll be checked out this week and probably early next week. We'll get various things looked at by Michael's vets and, hopefully, we'll take him forward again. I hope it's nothing major and I hope it's more muscular than anything, but sometimes tissues take longer to heal than bones. At the moment we're pretty positive and we're hoping to look at Longchamp again. Ryan [Moore] said he got a clip behind and usually horses will hang for a reason, so we hope it's nothing sinister. He's run genuinely right-handed before, obviously at Longchamp in the Arc he couldn't have been more genuine, and even at Sandown the other day he was in front long enough to dive left if he'd wanted to. I would suspect there was something hurting him."

op/ed feedback

It is always informative when Mr. Irwin takes the time to share his thoughts with us (TDN Op/Ed, 7-25-11). There are not many people in the Thoroughbred industry that risk taking it on the chin by telling it like it is. I find this to be a very admirable quality.

There has been much written lately about race-day medications, and I agree with Mr. Irwin that it is an issue that greatly affects the public perception of the sport. However, there is another side to the medication equation that nobody seems to mention, and that is the withholding of medication on, or just before race-day. Both actions can affect the outcome of a race and leave the public with a negative impression.

Withholding of medications became more prevalent with the introduction of the Perfecta (exacta) bet. At least that is how I remember it. I did have an opportunity to work on the backside, and I remember hearing (in those days I could hear) all the "war" stories; perhaps a better word is shenanigans. Medications don't have to be a complex pharmaceutical; it can be something as simple as ice.

In the 1968 Kentucky Derby, Peter Fuller's Dancer's Image was disqualified because traces of Phenylbutazone were found in his system. This was Sports Illustrated sports story of the year and the integrity of the sport was greatly damaged. Phenylbutazone was a legal drug at many racetracks at the time. If I remember correctly, it was legal in Kentucky, but not on race day. "Bute" is still one of the most commonly used medications in horse racing.

As an "Old Dude" with pulmonary problems, I can attest to the benefit that medication has on my performance. Today most horses race on the diuretic Lasix, which I don't have a problem with IF each individual is administered the medication properly and consistently. If history is any indication, we know that there are those that will, and those that won't, leaving the industry with the present-day quandary.

Owners and the public deserve a fair shake. I have owned an interest in several horses that have raced in the United States. At the present time, I have none, and I don't plan on getting involved in racing in North America unless I see some positive improvement in the industry. We need more people like Mr. Irwin to speak out and help identify and resolve the problems.

Thank you.
Frank E. Macauley
Cicirelli Thoroughbreds LLC

As a woman and owner/ part-owner of a couple of race horses in the past few years, I have to respond to Barry Irwin's claim that people run from racing because of the medications and race-day Lasix. He claims racing has the "cooties" because of it and that people don't want to get into racing because of it. Please, spare me the lecture. I do agree that people stay away from ownership due to the fact that it's not a profitable game. I know that myself, but don't blame Lasix and race-day medication for that. Put the blame where it lies--bad marketing and not keeping up with the times. I have asked my younger wealthy friends to get into a horse, and not one of them said no because the horses are on drugs. They said it's not profitable, and their trust managers or financial managers wouldn't allow the investment because it loses money. Training fees, not Lasix fees!!!

I went to the races or watched racing on TV because I loved horses and sports, and never once did it cross my mind that these medications were bad for them, and as an owner and pleasure rider, it still doesn't. Instead of having an automatic negative assumption that all horses are on drugs and all drugs are bad. I did research and found out what they are for. Not hard these days with the internet and old-fashioned books. Instead of telling the public this is bad, why not educate them to what this stuff is? This holier-than-thou attitude is annoying, to say the least. Has this man ever been in a regular riding barn? There will always be a need for medications for horses of all disciplines and breeds, not just racing and Thoroughbreds. When is the last time a fan stopped watching football because the quarterback got a shot of cortisone?

After moving to Manhattan and Florida from beautiful islands in the Pacific, where the trade winds blow pollution away and the air is clean, I contracted allergies and asthma as an older adult. I can't imagine someone telling me that I can't have medications that allow me to breathe better and not die because some group decided that it is better if I just learn to breathe on my own and if I die, then that's just too bad, I was genetically inferior anyway.

I keep asking myself why people are blaming Lasix for the decline of horse racing? It reminds me of sensational headlines in the newspapers like the death of Osama bin Laden while the economy keeps sinking further and further down the hole. If we can distract people with false issues, maybe they will forget about the real ones.

Sincerely yours,
Robin A. Cardoza

SAVED BY A NOSE

by Stephanie Brennan

In an era when there is an increased awareness in the aftercare of the racehorse, I thought I would share this story. About three weeks ago, I received a phone call asking me if I knew of a 9-year-old gelding named Byanosejoe (Cherokee Run). Not only was Byanosejoe a fan favorite on the New York circuit because of his catchy name and his great connections (he was named after one-time owner Joe Torre), but he was also a successful, hard-knocking racehorse.

He was a stakes winner of $195,000, trained by Rick Dutrow in New York, who finished out his racing career at Suffolk Downs. From what we understand, Byanosejoe was retired in 2007 and was given away as a riding horse. The story is a little confusing from this point on, but about a month ago, his previous owner was concerned that he was in poor condition and needed help. After many hours spent searching for this horse (by a dedicated group of horse rescue volunteers), he was located at a meat dealer's stockyard and was heading to New Holland, PA, to be sold for slaughter. However, ironically, the meat dealer who had him said he was "too skinny and too lame to ship to slaughter."

At this point, I was contacted by a rescue volunteer and asked to help out. She had identified Byanosejoe by his tattoo and traced him back to us as his 2-year-old consignor. Final Furlong, a 501(c)3 charity for racehorse rescue and placement, bought the horse back for meat price and paid for him to spend two weeks at a quarantine facility in Pennsylvania. He arrived in Ocala, Florida on July 14, thanks to Brook Ledge Horse Transportation. Byanosejoe was very, very weak and thin, but walked off the van on his own with a bright eye. He was in deplorable condition. His feet were riddled with abscesses, causing acute lameness, and he was literally skin and bones.

The touching part of the story is that the amount of support Byanosejoe has received from his former racing connections is tremendous. His trainer, Rick Dutrow, as well as Kim and Tony Dutrow immediately offered financial support.

At this point, I was contacted by a rescue volunteer and asked to help out. She had identified Byanosejoe by his tattoo and traced him back to us as his 2-year-old consignor. Final Furlong, a 501(c)3 charity for Prominent New York owner Michael Dubb spearheaded a campaign to contact other former owners and raise funds for his aftercare. Joe Torre, Sanford Goldfarb and Gabrielle Farm all responded. His yearling consignor, Reiley McDonald of Eaton Sales, and 2-year-old consignor Niall Brennan Stables, were quick to offer financial support after hearing of his plight. Brook Ledge donated his van trip down. Dr. Raul Bras of Rood and Riddle Podiatry Clinic offered his services after hearing of 'Joe's' story, and the horse is now outfitted with Sigafoos Series II shoes. Joe has a long way to go, but his turnaround in a short period has been nothing short of remarkable. He is sound, eating everything in sight (under a watchful eye, much to his dismay!) and enjoying limited turnout with a quiet, older gelding.

It had been a long time since any of us had thought or heard of Byanosejoe, yet almost everybody connected with this horse during his racing career has been happy to make a donation to his cause. For the few critics out there who subscribe to the perception that the Thoroughbred industry doesn't care about its "older generation," this is one of the many stories that proves otherwise. This is a story where the passion and love of the animal has prevailed. Byanosejoe just won his most important race--for his life.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last year, Stephanie Brennan wrote the TDN with the story of More Than Capable, rescued from Eagle Pass, Texas where he was headed for slaughter in Mexico. He left the Final Furlong program a year to the date he arrived, and now is the pride and joy of a talented 14-year-old jumper rider named Tara Suhls.

The Final Furlong non-profit program was started in 2009 to establish a safe and secure environment for racehorse graduates of Niall Brennan Stables as well as their sales graduates upon completion of their racing career.

Fasig-Tipton Catalogues 372 for Texas:

Fasig-Tipton announced that 372 yearlings have been catalogued for the Texas Summer Yearling Sale, which will be held Aug. 30 on the grounds of Lone Star Park. Immediately after the yearlings go under the hammer, Phase III of the Heiligbrodt Racing Stable Dispersal will be conducted, with five immediately following the Texas Summer Yearling Sale will be Phase III of the Heiligbrodt Racing Stable Dispersal, which will offer 53 head. Among the freshman sires with offspring catalogued are Grade I winners Brother Derek (Benchmark), Divine Park (Chester House), Into Mischief (Harlan's Holiday), Midnight Lute (Real Quiet) and Red Giant (Giant's Causeway). "Talk about critical mass. This year's catalogue includes 49 Texas-breds, 214 Louisiana-breds and 52 Oklahoma-breds," said local director of sales Tim Boyce. "With the sale being on Tuesday, it will give buyers an extra day of looking. Our consignors see the Heiligbrodt horses of racing age as a new dimension to the day, which they hope will encourage some new faces on the sales grounds. The same format worked well at our recent Kentucky Select Sale and should feed the energy here as well. If you plan to race in the southwest, you need to be at this sale." Catalogues are available online at www.fasigtipton.com.

INDUSTRY INFO

Reports of Mares Bred Due Aug. 1:

Edited press release

The Jockey Club reminds stallion owners to submit their Reports of Mares Bred (RMBs) for the 2011 breeding season by Aug. 1. "Timely submission of RMBs is the first step toward an efficient registration process for foals of 2012," said Matt Iuliano, The Jockey Club's executive vice president and executive director. "It also ensures that the breeding statistics by stallion that The Jockey Club publishes each fall for the industry's benefit are as complete as possible." Stallion owners who submit their RMBs by Aug. 1 are among the first to receive their Stallion Service Certificates. Interactive Registration™ is available at no charge for its registered users at registry.jockeyclub.com. Submission of RMBs via Interactive Registration greatly reduces the delays associated with traditional mail and manual processing and can result in significantly shorter turnaround times for receipt of Stallion Service Certificates.

LADY OF THE DESERT RETIRED Jaber Abdullah's Lady of the Desert (Rahy--Queen's Logic {Ire}, by Grand Lodge) has been retired, trainer Brian Meehan announced. The three-time group winner has been sidelined by a splint problem since running second in the G1 Prix de l'Abbaye de Longchamp last October. "You come across a horse like Lady of the Desert very rarely, but when you do, you have to enjoy them," Meehan commented. Having earned ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ status on debut, the daughter of European juvenile champion filly Queen's Logic (Ire) was successful in the 2009 G2 Lowther S. at York and G3 Princess Margaret S. at Ascot before placing third in the G1 Cheveley Park S. Hampered when fifth in the following year's G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches at Longchamp, she reverted to sprinting later in the campaign and was second in the G1 Haydock Sprint Cup before annexing the G2 Diadem S. back at Ascot. "She didn't always have the best of luck--as in the French 1000 Guineas when she was repeatedly blocked, yet still was beaten barely a length--so she did deserve a Group 1 success," Meehan added. "Lady was a real star and a favourite to us all. People talk about class, but it is all too rare and you know it when you see it. We'll miss her at Manton, but we'll always remember her and wish her and Mr. Abdullah all the best for the future. He has had some wonderful fillies over the years, not least Lady's fabulous, unbeaten mother Queen's Logic. Lady of the Desert can follow her example and become a great producer." In total, Lady of the Desert was the winner of four of her 11 starts and over £300,000 in prizemoney.

IRISH DERBY SWITCHED TO SATURDAY Next year's renewal of the G1 Irish Derby will take place on Saturday for the first time since 1987 after the 2012 Irish fixture list was unveiled. Set for June 30, the colts' Classic has been swapped with the G1 Pretty Polly S., which will take place a day later. "The 2012 fixture list will see a number of exciting initiatives for Flat racing in Ireland," Horseracing Ireland's Chief Executive Brian Kavanagh said. "In line with its policy of recent years, HRI has ensured that 2012 will see racing staged on 292 days, an increase of 25 on this year, which should be of benefit to the betting industry. We hope that the initiatives in the 2012 fixture list will lead to further growth."
