LOOK TO THE SKY

Rested since her success in the G1 1000 Guineas, Ben Keswick's Sky Lantern (Ire) (Red Clubs {Ire}) came back to underline her premier status in the fillies' miling division when dominating yesterday's G1 Coronation S. at Royal Ascot. Drawn widest bar one here, the grey's chances had been more or less discounted by jockey Richard Hughes in his Racing Post column in the morning, and he was in no hurry to send her up from that unfavorable post early. Making up ground smoothly from rear on the outside in early stretch, the 9-2 joint-favorite was back on the bridle passing the quarter pole and, when the button was pressed, swept by the Guineas runner-up Just the Judge (Ire) (Lawman {Fr}) with a furlong remaining for an emphatic four-length success from a closing Kenhope (Fr) (Kendargent {Fr}). For Hughes, the result was a welcome first at the meeting at which his renowned confidence had begun to waver. "Richard [Hannon] said to go out there and enjoy myself and do what I'm good at, and that made all the difference," he said, fighting back the tears. "She had to be ridden like that to win, and made the other horses look slow." Cont. p4

ROCK SOLID

Runner-up in the G1 Golden Jubilee S. three years ago before going one better in 2011, Simon Gibson's Society Rock (Ire) (Rock of Gibraltar {Ire}) might even have given Black Caviar (Aus) (Bel Esprit {Aus}) something to think about had he not blown the start in the same race 12 months ago, and he returns to Royal Ascot again today for another tilt at the race now named the Diamond Jubilee. Admirably consistent throughout his career, Society Rock seems to have overcome the stalls issues that have dogged James Fanshawe and his team, and he showed he retains all his ability when annexing the G1 Haydock Sprint Cup in September and the May 15 G2 Duke of York under a subsequent penalty. Cont. p5-6

'JULIA' BACK AFTER OAKS NIGHTMARE

Stonestreet Stables homebred and "TDN Rising Star" Dreaming of Julia (A.P. Indy) will look to bounce back from a nightmare-trip fourth as the G1 Kentucky Oaks favorite in today's G1 Mother Goose S. at Belmont Park. On her best, she will be extremely tough to beat here. Then again, she would probably be very difficult to beat in just about any spot if she showed up with her best. Last year's local G1 Frizette S. winner turned in one of the performances of the year for either sex and any age two back when she blew open the Mar. 30 GII Gulfstream Park Oaks by 21 3/4 lengths, earning a gaudy 114 Beyer Speed Figure. Backed at 3-2 in Kentucky May 3, the daughter of MGISW Dream Rush (Wild Rush) was squeezed back badly at the start, but came running late to only be beaten 2 1/2 lengths by stablemate Princess of Sylmar (Majestic Warrior). "I don't really think she lost any credibility in the Oaks because she was annihilated at the start, and if that wasn't bad enough, she got stopped later in the race," trainer Todd Pletcher said of the likely odds-on favorite. "I thought she ran very well in the race, considering everything she tried to overcome, and we're hoping to get her back on course." Cont. p3

Another looking to put the Oaks behind her is fellow "Rising Star" Close Hatches (First Defence). She started her career off with three wins, including a comprehensive 3 1/2-length defeat of Princess of Sylmar in Aqueduct's Apr. 6 Gazelle S., but never lifted a hoof in the Oaks, finishing seventh. The Mott/Juddmonte representative bounced back last time to finish a distant second behind Midnight Lucky (Midnight Lute) in the GI Acorn S. going a mile here May 27. Alex and JoAnn Lieblong's Marathon Lady (Graeme Hall) comes in off a trio of near misses at the graded level. She came up a nose short when second in Turfway's Gill Bourbonette Oaks Mar. 23 and had to settle for third in a merry-go-round renewal of the Gill Fantasy S. at Oaklawn Apr. 10. Let go at 12-1 for Pimlico's Gill Black-eyed Susan S. May 16, the bay chased out wide throughout before being tagged on the line by Fiftyshadesofhay (Pulpit). Toasting (Congrats) finished third. "I think she's progressing and moving forward with each race," said Marathon Lady's trainer Steve Hobby. "She's maturing all the time, and getting bigger and stronger. Of course, beating Dreaming of Julia is going to take some doing--she'll probably have to beat herself--but it's a Grade I race and a small field, so why not take a chance?"

After her debut success over six furlongs at Goodwood last May, Sky Lantern took the Listed Coolmore Stud Sprint S. at Naas days later. She finished runner-up to Certify (Elusive Quality) in the G3 Sweet Solera S. on Newmarket's July Course and to Ollie Olga (Stormy Atlantic) in the G3 Prestige S. at Goodwood a fortnight later. Ridden with more restraint in The Curragh's G1 Moyglare Stud S. in September, the grey came alive with an impressive success there before flying to the States for the G1 Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf, where she failed to get a clear run until it was too late. Returning to finish runner-up to Hot Snap (GB) (Pivotal {GB}) attempting to give that rival three pounds in the G3 Nell Gwyn S. at Newmarket Apr. 17, she comprehensively reversed that form in the main event back there May 5, where Just the Judge was her closest rival a half-length behind. After that rival went on to take the Irish equivalent, many expected a reversal of the placings here, but instead were greeted with an emphatic confirmation as Richard Hughes exercised all his notorious verve in the saddle.

Allowed time to coast early on as Lovely Pass (Ire) (Raven's Pass) led, she was not stressed to close onto the heels of Just the Judge as the pair made their wide moves inside the final quarter in pursuit of the Irish raiders Big Break (GB) (Dansili {GB}) and Viztoria (Ire) (Oratorio {Ire}) ahead. Just the Judge's lead was short-lived before the furlong pole as Sky Lantern was set alight, and the result was settled in an instant. Richard Hannon Jr. is in command of the yard in which Sky Lantern is housed, and the trainer's son and assistant said, "She was really special--I thought she could win a Coronation but I never thought she could win like that. She's got very big and is very hard to get fit, so needed her first race of the year and, although people said she was a bit lucky to run down Just the Judge in the Guineas, I didn't think there was much luck about it. She didn't quite get the respect she deserved there, but I don't think anybody can quibble about what sort of filly she is now. They say the crowning of the fillies every year is in the Coronation at Royal Ascot, and I don't think you can say that she is not a champion 3-year-old filly. She might get a mile and a quarter and a mile and a half, so she's got lots of options." Hong Kong-based owner Ben Keswick, whose Rockcliffe Stud is likely to become a player in British bloodstock, added, "It's the most amazing feeling and this is a special day for us. "Well done to the Hannon team. She'll be coming back to our home in the future." Just the Judge's trainer Charlie Hills commented, "I'm very proud of her, and although the [widest] draw didn't help, there are no excuses. She's certainly run her race and great credit to Sky Lantern. If anything, today has told us to step up in trip to a mile and a quarter, and we can't rule out trying a mile and a half in time. We'll find our races with next year in mind, as hopefully she stays in training."

SEA SIREN SOUL

“He’s a very good horse who goes on any ground, and we think we’ve got the key to him in the gates, which was always his problem,” jockey Kieren Fallon said of Society Rock. “He used to give three or four lengths away at the start and it cost him, but we’ve got that right and he’s the one they have to beat. He loves Ascot and James’s horses are in great form.” From Australia is Michael Tabor, Derrick Smith and Susan Magnier’s triple Group 1 winner Sea Siren (Aus) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}), and she bids to add further international spice to a meeting that has boasted a Stateside scorer and close second for South Africa in the G1 King’s Stand. Winless since the Oct. 26 G1 Manikato S. over this trip at Moonee Valley, she was last seen finishing runner-up in the May 25 G1 Doomben 10,000, and trainer John O’Shea’s assistant Bryce Heys said last week, “Royal Ascot’s six furlongs is definitely testing, and she is going to have to adapt to that. Hopefully she will be ridden with some cover to utilise her turn of foot. Her recent form has not been ideal as regards to coming to Royal Ascot. She had a long time off after Hong Kong last year and it has taken a bit to get her back. She is probably not far off where she was winning Group 1s last year. She is a delight to deal with, very laid back with a good constitution as regards her appetite and the work she can take.”

Last year’s Haydock Sprint Cup runner-up and G1 Prix de la Foret winner Gordon Lord Byron (Ire) (Byron {GB}) was drawn on the wrong side in the Duke of York and made eye-catching late progress to be third there and commands respect, as does Godolphin’s Soul (Aus) (Commands {Aus}), who was only beaten 1 1/4 lengths by Black Caviar when fourth in this 12 months ago. He confirmed his liking for this venue when only beaten a head by Mince (GB) (Medicean {GB}) on weight-for-age terms in the G3 Bengough S. over this trip in October. Heading the 3-year-old division is Clipper Logistics’ G2 Gimcrack S. and G1 Cheveley Park S. scorer Rosdhu Queen (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), who tried and failed to stay seven furlongs when fourth in the G3 Fred Darling S. at Newbury last time Apr. 20. Another sophomore with outside claims is Mick and Janice Mariscotti’s May 17 Listed Carnarvon S. winner Zanetto (GB) (Medicean {GB}), and trainer Andrew Balding said of him, “He’s done nothing wrong this season, and he was very impressive last time. The two moderate runs in his career have been at Ascot, but we’ll find out whether that is coincidence, or he’s not 100% happy on the course. He’s a very straightforward horse to train and has always been a good workhorse, and it looks a particularly open Diamond Jubilee this year. This is the first time we’ve pitched the 3-year-olds against the older horses to see what the generation is up to.”

Battle of Marengo was bidding to emulate the 1974 success of English Prince (Ire) (Petingo {GB}), who was the last horse to successfully carry a penalty in this "Consolation Derby," but it was the relatively unexposed Hillstar who emerged from the shadows to outgun the heavily favored G1 Epsom Derby fourth and register a career high in this first black-type start. Having debuted with a fourth going seven furlongs at Sandown Aug. 31, the bay relinquished maiden status over the same trip at Leicester Oct. 16, and opened his sophomore campaign with a handicap second when upped to a mile-and-a-quarter at Newmarket Apr. 18. Best laid plans went out of the window in the 10-furlong London Gold Cup H. at Newbury next time May 18, when unscheduled forcing tactics resulted in another runner-up finish, but he repaid connections' faith with a determined stretch rally here. Hillstar was dropped out and raced at the back of the eight runners for much of the contest. Picking off rivals one-by-one inside the last half mile, he was sent in pursuit of Battle of Marengo, who had kicked clear, approaching the two pole and responded bravely under a drive to inhale that game foe and assert superiority nearing the line. "He's a horse we have always thought a lot of, and he won a nice maiden last year," commented winning rider Ryan Moore. "In both his starts this year, he had to deal with really fast ground and the races didn't work out for him. The trip suited him, and the penalty Battle of Marengo had to carry probably made the difference. I got taken a little further back than I would have liked to have done by Mutashaded and we had a bit of a task turning for home, but he has a good turn of foot and showed it there." Conditioner Sir Michael Stoute, who claimed a sixth renewal of this test, added, "We had him in the Derby and we had him in the Irish Derby, but his two races this year just didn't go right. He hit the gate too well at Newbury and was too keen, so we dropped him out today to make sure he didn't do that. We've always loved this horse." Aidan O'Brien, who indicated Battle of Marengo may drop back in trip next time, said, "He ran very well and went an even pace. He was lobbing along, but the other one came from the back to get him." Mutashaded's trainer Roger Varian added, "I was pleased with him, because he'd only had two previous starts and one this year. [Jockey] Paul [Hanagan] said they went a man's gallop and he was babyish, but he came through really nicely and wasn't disgraced. He's had a hard race so we'll take him home and see how he is before deciding where to go next."

Leading Light's 15-length fourth of five to subsequent G3 Sandown Classic Trial victor Sugar Boy (Ire) (Authorized {Ire}) at Galway Aug. 4 gave little indication of what was to follow, but he left that debut effort behind when breaking through at Tipperary in his only other freshman start Oct. 7. He then dished out a seven-length thrashing to subsequent stakes scorer Dibayani (Ire) (Shamardal) in a 10-furlong conditions heat at Navan on sophomore return May 7, and arrived here with a three-pound penalty for annexing the May 26 G3 Gallinule S. at The Curragh last time. The eventual winner was steadied in fifth after an even break, but kept the leaders within range when slipping one spot racing down the back straight. Joseph O'Brien got to work a full half mile from home and, once seeing off Lady Jane Cecil representative Disclaimer (GB) (Dansili {GB}) when driven to the front passing the two pole, he was joined by Feel Like Dancing entering the final furlong, but pulled out all the stops to outstay that rival in determined fashion. "We were a little worried about the trip, but other than that we thought he was a nice horse and he toughed it out," said the winning rider. "He's very relaxed, he has a great attitude and tries hard. When you get stuck into him he fights and that is what he's done today. He's very idle and when he gets to the front he stops. I was able to make the running on him in his last couple of starts and when anything gets to him, they don't get past. He's always just doing enough." Aidan O'Brien added, "He hadn't won over any further than a mile-and-a-quarter before and I think Joseph wanted to ride him without committing him. He settled well, everything worked out well and we're delighted."

Qatar Racing's silks are certain to be a prominent feature at this meeting for years to come, and they were in the winner's spot for the second time this week after the wayward, but impressive Kiyoshi stamped her authority on this affair. Fourth over five furlongs on debut at Newmarket Apr.

18, the bay moved forward to win a decent contest over an extra panel at Goodwood last time May 23 and, despite attracting money in this market, was expected to play second fiddle to the heavily backed Sandiva. Held back in last early by Jamie Spencer after breaking from the stand's-rail draw, she raced up the center of the track initially and, when asked, surged between rivals and to the front approaching the furlong marker. Veering dramatically right towards the far side when in the clear, the bay was still able to make the previously unbeaten Sandiva and Frankel's half-sister Joyeuse look pedestrian. Jockey Jamie Spencer was impressed. "She's always been a very good filly and we've taken our time with her," he said. "The reason she ran in April is because she's good and really she wants seven or a mile, so she's got a bright future ahead of her. It was a bit surprising that she hung, but she didn't do it at Goodwood and I'm putting it down to greenness and the crowd."

For David Redvers, the result was a relief as well as a joy after a long wait since the Listed Windsor Castle S. win of Extortionist on Tuesday. "There is a lot of pressure on to produce the goods this week and although it started well, that is almost forgotten by now," he commented. "I'd like to say a big thank you to Tor Sturgis, who insisted I pull this horse out of the box, as her pedigree was a bit light and as soon as I saw her I fell in love with her." Trainer Charlie Hills was celebrating his first Royal winner since taking over from father Barry and said, "She showed a great turn of foot and was going to win from a long way out. She was there soon enough and this place is quite daunting, so we can forgive her. She looked pretty special there and will get a mile." ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ Joyeuse ran a race full of promise when making ground late after being held up towards the rear by Tom Queally and encountering some traffic. Khalid Abdullah's Racing Manager Teddy Grimthorpe told PA Sport, "It was a very good run. She settled well, she's still quite green but she was running on well at the end. She's still very progressive, as it was only her second start. I don't know where we go now. It depends if we stay at six--then there's the July meeting--or we find her something else at seven."

Slamming Thomas Chippendale by six lengths on that occasion, the form received a boost when the third Main Sequence (Aldebaran), who was a further 4 1/2 behind, ran a close second behind the subsequent G1 Prince of Wales's S. runner-up Mukhadram (GB) (Shamardal) in the G3 Brigadier Gerard S. Trainer Roger Varian is hoping for a bold show. "Ekthiham is in great form. If he can reproduce his last performance then he will have a big chance," he said. "We know he acts at the track and he is versatile regarding the ground conditions." Another gelding looking to earn a place in the line-up in this track's midsummer showpiece is Dr. Marwan Koukash's Mount Athos (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}). Impressive when winning the G3 Geoffrey Freer S. over an extended 13-furlong trip at Newbury in August, the Luca Cumani trainee was arguably unlucky not to have finished closer than fifth in the Nov. 6 G1 Melbourne Cup. He returned to dominate Chester's G3 Ormonde S. on testing ground that he has shown a dislike for in the past May 10. Last year's G2 Grand Prix de Chantilly winner Aiken (GB) (Selkirk) was fourth in this 12 months ago, and also filled that spot in the G1 Irish St Leger at The Curragh in September before finishing runner-up in the G3 British Champions Long Distance Cup over two miles here on Champions' Day. George Strawbridge's homebred has a bit to find on the two principals, as does Khalid Abdullah's Noble Mission (GB) (Galileo {Ire}). The brother of Frankel (GB) was runner-up to stable companion Thomas Chippendale in the G2 King Edward VII S. here last year, and has not gone on as much as connections would have hoped subsequently, but has at least enjoyed a confidence-boosting score in Goodwood's Listed Tapster S. over this trip May 25.

TAKING THE TEST

With the upcoming King George crown up for grabs, today's G2 Hardwicke S. at Royal Ascot acts as an important dress rehearsal for ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ Ekthiham (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) as he bids to fulfil all his early promise. Last year's G2 Dante S. runner-up was gelded after proving difficult to train, and that move has already looked a smart one in his starts this term. Unlucky to be third behind the subsequent dual Group 1 scorer Al Kazeem (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) and the re-opposing Thomas Chippendale (Ire) (Dansili {GB}) when stopped in his run by the winner in the closing stages of Sandown's G3 Gordon Richards S. Apr. 27, Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum's imposing bay made another step forward when upped to this trip in the Listed Buckhounds S. at this venue May 11.

SADLER SEEKS THIRD OAKS IN FOUR YEARS

Hronis Racing's lotapa (Afleet Alex) gets the morning-line nod in today's GII Hollywood Oaks as she looks to provide trainer John Sadler with his third winner in the last four renewals of this event. He annexed the race with Switch (Quiet American) in 2010 and Zazu (Tapit) in 2011. Claimed from GEM Inc., Steven Bajer, Robin O'Hara and trainer Marty Jones for $50,000 out of a winning debut here last June, lotapa resurfaced to best optional claiming foes at Santa Anita Feb. 15. She split champion Beholder (Henny Hughes) and subsequent GII Black-Eyed Susan S. winner Fiftyshadesofhay (Pulpit) in the GI Santa Anita Oaks Apr. 6, and successfully cut back to seven panels in the local Railbird S. May 19. Hall of Famer Jerry Hollendorfer, who led Hystericalady (Distorted Humor) to victory here in 2006, has both Tommy Town Thoroughbreds's Doinghardttimeagain (Ministers Wild Cat) and Railbird runner-up Ciao Bella Luna (Tribal Rule) this time. The former is three-for-three over this strip, and was last seen besting restricted company in the track-and-trip Melair S. Apr. 27. She earned a 94 Beyer Speed Figure for that effort to go with a 95 in Santa Anita's 6 1/2-furlong Evening Jewel S. two back Mar. 30, and her Melair performance has been flattered by the second and third-place finishers, who have both come back to win. With four straight bullet works here coming into this, the homebred looks quite formidable. Ciao Bella Luna was off the board in her two previous route tries, and turned back to upset Keeneland's GII Beaumont S. Apr. 14. She was second to lotapa last time in the Railbird.

RIPOSTE HAS OAKS OPTION

Thursday's G2 Ribblesdale S. winner Riposte (GB) (Dansili {GB}) could be supplemented for the G1 Darley Irish Oaks, connections announced yesterday. Following the Juddmonte homebred's 2 1/4-length success in Royal Ascot's 12-furlong contest for the Lady Cecil stable, a tilt at the July 20 Curragh Classic is on the cards. "She's fine today and she would have a couple of possibilities," Khalid Abdullah's Racing Manager Teddy Grimthorpe told PA Sport. "She's not in the Irish Oaks, but if she comes out of this race well, it's going to have to be considered. She stays a mile and a half well and if she's not ready for that, then she could go for the [Aug. 22] G1 Yorkshire Oaks."

A # will distinguish first-time stakes-winners, a @ will indicate first-time graded stakes-winners, a ▲ will denote a first-time Grade/Group 1 winner, a + will indicate first-time starters, an (S) will be used for state-bred races, a (C) will be used for maiden-claiming races and an (R) will be used for other restricted races.

MONGAN CALLS TIME ON RIDING CAREER

Jockey Ian Mongan, an important cog in the Warren Place machine who posted a career high when partnering Twice Over (GB) (Observatory) to victory in the 2011 G1 Juddmonte International at York, yesterday called time on his riding career. "It's a big decision," Mongan told Racing Post. "It's been on my mind for some time as I've not been a nice person to live with for a while now. The weight is harder to keep off as you get older and I'm comfortable having made the decision now, but it wasn't easy. I was meant to be riding an odds-on favorite for Lady Cecil at Goodwood [Thursday], but I woke up at 132 pounds and I had to do 126 pounds. My weight's been an issue for a while now and that's just too much. It's better to have a jockey who's not had to waste to that extent. I've had a fantastic time riding, but my career has reached a point where I feel comfortable with the decision. I've achieved everything I set out to, I've ridden 750-odd winners, won a Group 1 and ridden winners at Royal Ascot. I just don't have that hunger and dedication I used to and it's not fair to owners and trainers to turn up like that and ride their horses."

Ian Mongan aboard Bullet Train

AUSTRALIA'S ELIZA PARK SOLD

Eliza Park stud, which stands Black Caviar (Aus)'s sire Bel Esprit (Aus), has been sold to Hong Kong based Sun International, according to Racing Post. The operation, which was put up for sale by former owner Lee Fleming in March, will now be known as Eliza Park International, and will maintain its current stallion roster, which also includes Black Caviar's full brother Moshe (Aus) as well as European shuttlers Astronomer Royal (Danzig) and Bushranger (Ire) (Danetime {Ire}). Eliza Park consist of six properties in Victoria and Queensland. "Our investment in Australia will be significant both in terms of stallions and other bloodstock," Ting Kong Cheng, a representative of Sun International, told Racing Post. "I can assure Eliza Park International's clientele that we are committed to providing a superior level of professionalism and will soon bring about some initiatives that will benefit supporters both domestically and globally."

DARLEY FLYING START ANNOUNCES NEWEST INTAKE

The Darley International Student Programme has announced the latest intake of trainees for the 2013-2015 Darley Flying Start scholarship, which consists of 12 individuals from seven different countries. The group includes Americans Miguel Clement, Sarah Holmes and Brittlan Wall.

Darley Flying Start, a two-year course, provides its trainees with a wide breadth of training in the global Thoroughbred industry as well as management and leadership courses while based in Ireland, England, Kentucky, Australia, and Dubai. It's graduates are currently employed or running their own businesses in Europe, the U.S., Canada, South America, Asia, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. Darley Flying Start was established in 2003, and for the first time this year, trainees will be offered the Graduate Certificate in Management (Thoroughbred Industry) accredited by the UCD Michael Smurfit Graduate Business School in addition to the Darley Flying Start diploma.

The 2013 trainees, who will commence training in Ireland Aug.19, are:

- Kathryn Barr (Australia)
- Amanda Bossom (UK)
- Jack Bruce (New Zealand)
- Miguel Clement (U.S.)
- Daniel Filtness (UK)
- Sarah Holmes (U.S.)
- Melissa Jordan (UK)
- Tam Man Hei (Hong Kong)
- Brittlan Wall (U.S.)
- Caroline Walsh (Ireland)
- David Walsh (Ireland)
- Laura Vanska (Finland)

RACETRACK ROUND-UP

Little Mike Heads to the U.N. ...

Priscilla Vaccarezza's Little Mike (Spanish Steps), hero of the 2012 GI Breeders' Cup Turf Classic, is preparing for the $500,000 GI United Nations S. at Monmouth Park July 6. The gelding started his season in Dubai, where he was eighth in the G1 Al Maktoum Challenge Mar. 9 and 11th in the G1 Dubai Duty Free Mar. 30. "He didn't like the Tapeta too much in the first race," Carlo Vaccarezza commented. "In the second race he sprained his ankle. We got him back to the barn and his ankle was like a watermelon. We gave him some time to heal and he's looking good. We breezed him [four furlongs in :50.80] at Churchill [June 11] and he is feeling himself again." Vaccarezza continued, "He really likes Monmouth," said. "He won a few races on the turf earlier in his career over there so it should be an easy transition for him. It's a really prestigious race, the UN. I used to watch it growing up in New York every year so we really want this one for Mike and for his fans."

Calidoscopio (Arg) (Luhuk) took the 2012 renewal of the Clasico Belgrano and took advantage of its Breeders' Cup "Win and You're In" status to rally from far back to take last year's GII Breeders' Cup Marathon. Ever Rider will try to follow in those same hoofprints after leading every step of the way for the narrowest of victories Friday.

Sunny Rex looked hopelessly ticketed for the minors inside the final furlong, but flew home late to just miss, while Es Corino completed a longshot trifecta.

"When I can get him to the front, he becomes twice the horse," commented winning jockey and Paraguay native Eduardo Ortega Pavon. He won by 13 lengths two starts ago. I was able to control the pace and that was the key to the race." Added the victorious owner Alberto Ibanez, "I will go with the horse to Santa Anita and it will be a great pleasure for us."

CHRB UPDATE ON REVIEW OF SUDDEN DEATHS

"The California Horse Racing Board is continuing its ongoing review of sudden deaths in racehorses. Given that one barn at Hollywood Park housed a relatively high number of the sudden deaths that occurred over the last two years, CHRB investigators have taken steps to determine if there was a relationship between the barn and sudden deaths. Interviews were conducted with the personnel at that barn, including the trainer, assistant trainer, and veterinarians. All were very cooperative and provided all relevant information. Environmental possibilities as a cause are also being evaluated and tests will be conducted. The pathology and toxicology work has been completed on those horses with no indication of foul play. This aspect of the review is believed to have been as thorough of an examination as has ever been done anywhere in the world with such cases. This is all of the information the CHRB is releasing prior to a final report to be issued upon completion of the review."

CHANGEOVER IN THE GREAT PARK

Story and photos by Liesl King

I am lucky enough to be spending Royal Ascot week in a lovely cottage in Windsor Great Park. Surrounded by giant trees, it is a very peaceful place. Pheasants and deer dot the lawn at dusk and dawn, while the constant chatter of birds fills the air. Peaceful indeed--except for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. every day of Royal Ascot week.

Crowd gathering in Great Windsor Park

Then it changes into a noisy place, with the sounds of people cheering, kids screaming and the clatter of hooves shattering the forest silence. For just a kilometer from Ascot Gate, in Windsor Great Park, the Changeover happens. Never heard of it? Ah, let me enlighten you. Every day of the Royal Ascot Festival, The Queen and her invited carriage guests, her ladies in waiting and her luncheon guests all depart from Windsor Castle in a long line of cars to the changeover spot, about a kilometer from Ascot Gate. On a lovely flat stretch of forest road, the four carriages, two outriders and the four riders at the back of the procession, together with a healthy police presence and various palace personnel, wait patiently for her arrival. As do a thousand odd spectators. The changeover has also become the scene of that great British tradition-- the picnic!

People start arriving early in the morning, walking uphill from the Gate, eager to get that prime spot behind the discreet white rope. As the exact spot where The Queen's carriage will come to a halt is anybody's guess, it really just depends on how lucky you are. And, if one is going to spend five hours in a beautiful park, waiting for your Queen, what better way to while away the time than to have a picnic? Out come the tables and chairs and--though not quite in the league of car park one--the surroundings make up for the lack of caviar and champagne.

The carriage horses are usually stabled in the Royal Mews at Buckingham Palace, but for Royal Ascot week, they reside in the Royal Mews at Windsor Castle. The four-in-hand team pulling the Queen's Ascot landau is made up of the famous Windsor Greys. A mixture of Irish Draught, they are usually 16.1 hands high and are chosen for their steady temperament and stamina, while the other four-in-hand teams are Cleveland Bays.

Windsor Greys waiting for The Queen

Bred by The Queen, they are all backed and trained by the royal grooms. As the procession of empty carriages wind their way down the road, a ripple of excitement goes through the crowd. The long wait is now almost over. Then, the newcomers to the changeover utter sighs of dismay as they notice the covers on all the carriages. By now an expert on these royal carriages, after my day in car park one, I readily assure them that the covers are only up when traveling empty and are sure to come down before The Queen arrives. Spots on the rope are sacred places and jealously guarded, yet as the waiting crowd catch a glimpse of a long line of black cars appearing in the distance, there is a surge towards the ropes and elbows are liberally applied. Everybody wants to get that first glimpse of The Queen. My neighbor, in fact, has travelled all the way from Kentucky just to have a gander at The Queen up close and personal.

The Queen and Princess El Hassan

A bit of logistical maneuvering comes next, as the first cars stop behind the carriages to decant The Queen's luncheon guests and her lady in waiting, who graciously wave at the crowd as they walk past the waiting carriages, to join another set of black cars at the front of the procession. This way, The Queen's guests will already be ensconced in the Royal Box sipping champagne, while she makes her way down the Ascot turf to join them.

After the cars carrying her guests have safely departed, The Queen's car draws up next to her carriage. This is the moment the crowd have been waiting for. There is a great sigh of admiration as she graciously exits the car, pauses for a moment or two, giving the crowd a chance to snap that precious picture, before getting into the carriage. For the unlucky ones who could not get close enough, the carriages depart at a gentle walk, giving the rest of those assembled a chance to get a quick snap with that handy iPhone. Then the leading postilions give the signal with their whips, the Windsor Greys smartly accelerate into a trot and the procession heads down towards Ascot gate. The entire length of the route is lined with spectators, big and small. Near the end of the ropes a small group of children dressed as princesses under their bright yellow safety vests, furiously wave their Union Jacks as The Queen goes by. At Ascot Gate, an old man, properly dressed in black suit and tie, sits in a wheelchair. He has been there for a couple of hours already, but the smile on his face as The Queen passes by is priceless. It may not have the pomp and circumstance of the Royal Procession down the hallowed Ascot turf, but there is an endearing realness to the people gathered here, under the trees in a royal park, to pay homage to their Queen.

SUMMER RACE MEET AT GULFSTREAM

Live racing will return to Gulfstream June 25 to conclude their 2012-2013 racing season. The summer meet officially begins Monday, July 1, followed by a special July 4 card before starting the regular Saturday and Sunday race schedule. "We're very excited about Tuesday's live program and the support and interest from the horsemen," said Gulfstream Park President Tim Ritvo. "We think it's going to be a great day for all our guests. We're looking forward to Tuesday and anxiously awaiting the start of our summer meet on Monday, July 1." The popular 10-cent Rainbow 6 will return as well.

Forgotten Voice was a winning favorite in this meet's 2009 Royal Hunt Cup H. for Jeremy Nosedo, and his final outing on the flat was a last-of-12 finish in the 2010 G2 Lennox S. at Goodwood, 1060 days prior to this return. Injury kept him off the track until 2012

when he was sent hurdling for National Hunt champion trainer Nicky Henderson, and his prep run for this assignment was running second in a Group 2 novice hurdle at Aintree Apr. 5. The veteran broke well for his old partner Johnny Murtagh and was restrained to race a little better than midfield. Looking for a gap behind the leaders at the quarter pole, Murtagh threaded the needle to challenge at the distance and drove the evergreen gelding to the front with 75 yards remaining. "I was following Ryan Moore and couldn't get out, but when I switched back in and gave him a few smacks he really came alive. He's hardy, he's coming off the back of Aintree so this is a piece of cake. This was always a good horse who liked good ground and when [jumps trainers] Nicky Henderson and Willie Mullins show up on the big day they have to be respected. They're top of their profession."

Henderson added, "He's a lovely horse, who won a Hunt Cup with Johnny a long time ago. He had some leg problems and retirement was beckoning, but that's a shame with a lovely big horse like this. He's a very good hurdler, but he took a while to settle down and [jumps jockey] Barry [Geraghty] got on very well with him. Johnny said he felt great the whole way. I was worried that he wouldn't get two miles over hurdles, as it took him a while to settle down, but Barry relaxed him. I thought about sending him chasing, but [owner] Mrs. [Susan] Roy didn't like that, so this was my alternative plan. We've got a great team and it's fun to keep a few going over the summer."

Lightning Cloud has performed with credit on more than one occasion at this venue, and managed a third placing behind Tuesday's G1 King's Stand S. fourth Jack Dexter (GB) (Orientor {GB}) in a seven-furlong apprentice handicap on Champions' Day in October. Warming up for this career-best with a seventh placing in a decent Doncaster handicap over this trip last time June 1, the grey raced keenly in the midst of the stand's side group through the early strides. Appearing to be cantering just behind the first wave two furlongs from home, he readily took a gap and the lead 150 yards out and was driven out by Neil Callan to assert. "This is my third win in the race and [trainer] Kevin [Ryan] came to me a month ago about this horse and was very keen on him," his rider said. "He was absolutely swinging, pulling my arms out a furlong and a half out, so I had to let him go and he's picked up and won well." Ryan added, "We got a few things wrong with this horse and we put a few things right in the last three weeks. He's been working great and deserves a day in the sun."

TRAINER MCINNES BANNED FOR THREE YEARS

Yorkshire trainer Ian McInnes has been disqualified for three years by the British Horseracing Authority having been found guilty of running Commando Scott (Ire) (Danetime {Ire}) after the now 12-year-old had undergone a prohibited procedure. He was charged with running the horse nine times after a biaxial neurectomy to his right hind plantar digital nerve in July 2008. The procedure involves severing nervous connection to the lower leg and is banned on welfare grounds. The BHA's disciplinary panel concluded that McInnes ran the horse contrary to the rules, and that he failed to conduct his business of training racehorses with reasonable care and skill. He has also been found guilty of misleading officials during the ensuing investigation and was handed a further penalty of six months.

Both suspensions will run concurrently and his sanction, which takes immediate effect, expires June 21, 2016. "Obviously for the regulators and the licensed individuals, the welfare of the horses must come first," commented BHA spokesman Robin Mounsey.

Very few exciting juveniles turn up at Musselburgh, but last Friday Sheikh Majid bin Mohammed al Maktoum's Somewhat turned up to light up that Scottish venue and book his ticket to Royal Ascot and today's Listed Chesham S. It is interesting that Mark Johnston has chosen to pitch the blueblood back into action just eight days after recording a seven-length success over this trip, and he is one of a host of potential class acts in the line-up. They include Godolphin's Autumn Lily, a half-sister to the Group 1 performer Alexandros (GB) (Kingmambo), who made a smart impression on her winning debut over six furlongs at Haydock June 12, and the Richard Hannon-trained colt Bunker (Ire), who unusually for one by his sire showed abundant speed to also win over the same track and trip on debut May 23. From Ballydoyle is the June 2 Limerick maiden third Friendship (Ire), Derrick Smith, Susan Magnier and Michael Tabor's son of the 1998 GI Beverly Hills H. and GI Matriarch S. winner Squeak (GB) (Selkirk), while Master Carpenter (Ire) is another with strong claims. Bought into recently by Cheveley Park Stud, the Rod Millman trainee took a six-furlong conditions event at Pontefract last time May 21 and looks likely to be suited by this rise in trip.

Military Secret (Ire), g, 4, Footstepsinthesand \(GB\)--Dance Clear (Ire) (MGSP-US, GSP-Ire, $228,744), by Marju (Ire). Happy Valley, 6-19, Hcp. ($180k), 1200mT, 1:09.37. B-Michael Dalton. *Formerly Riviera Poet (Ire). €135,000 yrl '10 GOFSEP. Formerly trained in Ireland by Dermot Weld, Military Secret was third to eventual G1 Irish 2000 Guineas hero Power (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) in a Curragh maiden in May 2011 before breaking through at Galway in July. He was made the 2-1 favorite for the G2 Futurity S., but could do no better than fifth and hadn't been spotted since, having dealt with several injuries subsequent to his acquisition. Midfield upon settling in this local debut, the 22-1 chance was forwardly placed while busily ridden into the turn. He handled the sharp home bend nicely, peeled out four wide for the drive and stayed on well to score by a half-length. "He did a tendon in November, and we considered retiring him then," trainer Andreas Schutz told South China Morning Post. "It looked like a proper bow on the outside, but the scans don't look as bad. We will see how he pulls up, but the owner has a few options he can bring in to replace him, so we have to consider that." Winning owner Dr. Steven Lo Kit also campaigns G1 Audemars Piguet Queen Elizabeth II Cup and G1 Singapore Airlines International Cup hero Military Attack (Ire) (Oratorio {Ire}).
