CAMELOT TO MISS ECLIPSE

Camelot (GB) (Montjeu {Ire}) will miss Saturday's G1 Coral-Eclipse at Sandown, with connections giving the triple Classic hero a break. While last year's 2000 Guineas and English and Irish Derby winner will not represent Coolmore in the 10-furlong feature, it is likely that the operation will be double-handed with the June 18 G1 Queen Anne S.

winner Declaration of War (War Front) set to join ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ Mars (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in the line-up. "At the moment, Camelot is unlikely to run; he hasn't really been himself this season and is going on the easy list for the rest of the month," a statement on Coolmore's website read. "Currently Mars is a probable runner in the Eclipse S. on Saturday and Declaration of War is also a possible for the race."

SHORT FIELD FOR SWAPS

Java's War (War Pass) boasts the field's best resume. He kicked off the season with a fast-closing second to Verrazano (More Than Ready) in the Mar. 9 GII Tampa Bay Derby, and circled the field en route to a neck success in the GI Blue Grass S. over Keeneland Polytrack Apr. 13. Off slowly and never a factor when 14th in the May 4 GI Kentucky Derby, the Ken McPeck trainee was flattered nonetheless when Blue Grass runner-up Palace Malice (Curlin) bounced back from his own Derby flop to annex the GI Belmont S. Cont. p3

ORB WORKS; TRAVERS NEXT

Phipps Stable's and Stuart Janney III's Orb (Malibu Moon), winner of the May 4 GI Kentucky Derby, registered his first official work at Fair Hill training center in Maryland yesterday morning. It was Orb's first drill since finishing third in the GI Belmont S. June 8. With regular exercise rider Jenn Paterson aboard, Orb completed three furlongs over the dirt track in :36 seconds. "Jenn was very pleased," trainer Shug McGaughey told Daily Racing Form. "He's down there with Bruce Jackson and he was very pleased. All things are moving along forwardly." Fourth in the May 18 GI Preakness S., Orb is expected to train straight up to the Aug. 24 GI Travers S. at Saratoga. "I'm planning on training to the Travers, but that could change," said McGaughey. "I don't want to throw away all we accomplished in the last 3 1/2 weeks." Shipped to Fair Hill the day after the Belmont, Orb has been undergoing salt water spa treatments in addition to sessions in the hyperbaric chamber. "He's getting his energy level back, he's put on quite a bit of weight," added McGaughey. "His attitude is really good. I don't want to take one step forward and two back. I want to take three forward." According to McGaughey, Orb will work one or two more times at the training center before shipping to Saratoga later this month.

Brennans Take Down Triple Crown

Lucas Marquardt recently caught up with the Brennan brothers--Niall and Ian--whose pupils accounted for all three legs of this season's American Triple Crown. Both Ocala-based horsemen who break and train young horses, Niall put GI Kentucky Derby winner Orb (Malibu Moon) and GI Belmont S. winner Palace Malice (Curlin) through their early paces, while Ian was the early conditioner of GI Preakness S. winner Oxbow (Awesome Again).

Paul Makin's Chief Havoc (Giant's Causeway) is the lone entrant with any early speed, and figures to get as loose as he wants early. The former British-based Jeremy Nosedo trainee donned cap and gown in his second start for conditioner Peter Miller three back at Santa Anita Apr. 4 before finishing second to subsequent GIII Affirmed H. show horse Manando (Bluegrass Cat) going a sixteenth shorter here May 3. The chestnut aired by 4 3/4 lengths and earned a 101 Beyer Speed Figure for a track-and-trip allowance 27 days later, and will likely prove not for catching if he duplicates that effort. Cal-bred Tiz a Minister (Ministers Wild Cat) picked up the pieces to take the Affirmed from out of the clouds last time June 2; while GIII El Camino Real Derby hero Dice Flavor (Scat Daddy) was fourth in the Affirmed off an eighth-place run in the G2 U.A.E. Derby in March.

'KING' LOOKS TO ACE POKER

Gerald and Susan Kresa's King Kreesa (King Kugat) looks to break through at the graded level in Thursday's GIII Poker S. on the Belmont Park lawn. A close second at 23-1 in last October's local GI Jamaica H., the New York-bred was third behind Saturday's GI Shoemaker Mile S. runner-up Za Approval (Ghostzapper) in Gulfstream's GIII Appleton S. Mar. 30 after setting unrealistic splits. He filled the same slot behind Lubash (Freud) in this venue's GIII Fort Marcy S. May 4, but turned the tables on that foe in the restricted Kingston S. June 1. The fleet-footed 4-year-old will have to avoid a duel with Big Screen (Speightstown), who was DQ'd from first to second for interfering with stablemate Souper Speedy (Indian Charlie) in the rained off and subsequently downgraded Jaipur S. here June 7. Morning-line choice Data Link (War Front) would benefit from quick early fractions and should appreciate the class drop. Last year's GI Maker's 46 Mile upsetter has collected three more graded stakes trophies since then, but had the misfortune of running into Horse of the Year Wise Dan (Wiseman's Ferry) when attempting to defend his Maker's 46 title in Lexington Apr. 12. With some quick works in the interim, the Stuart Janney III homebred appears well-positioned to do one better here.

JERSEY SHORE ALL ABOUT PACE SITUATION

Seven speedy 3-year-olds seeks graded glory in Monmouth's six-furlong GIII Jersey Shore S. this afternoon. Morris Bailey's three-time stakes winner Whiskey Romeo (Forestry) gets the morning-line nod while breaking from the outside. The Tony Dutrow pupil most recently took Belmont's seven-panel Trippi S. in box-to-wire fashion Apr. 26. Drawn immediately inside of that runner is New Farm's undefeated Rainbow Heir (Wildcat Heir).

"There's a lot of speed in this race," said Ben Perkins Jr. "But he's pretty fast himself. There's speed both inside and outside of him, so [jockey] Elvis [Trujillo] is going to have to use his judgment in where to put him."

Rainbow Heir annexed his first two starts at Laurel in February and March, respectively, before defeating fellow Jersey-bred allowance foes by two lengths May 12. The chestnut earned a 96 Beyer Speed Figure for that effort. The colt boasts two bullet works, including a best of 17 going five furlongs in 1:00 handily June 10. He was also the fastest of four in his latest outing breezing five furlongs in the same time.

"He handled the track well," said Perkins. "He ran green in the race before [Mar. 21 at Laurel], so he needed one more start to prepare for this. The break has really helped him. He's had a steady stream of solid workouts."

Thomas McClay homebred Uptown Boy (Johannesburg) had never earned better than a 75 Beyer in his first nine tries, but he received a gaudy

105 last time for a seven-length romp in Penn National's E Dubai HPBA S. June 1. Adding more fuel to the fire will be Jerry Durant's Amarish (Scat Daddy), a precious stakes-winning 2-year-old last season for Jeff Bonde. The bay was emboldened with blinkers back on last time, ending a four-race drought in a five-furlong Churchill off-the-turfer June 6.

BROTHERS IN ARMS

By Lucas Marquardt

This past February, John and Jim Harbaugh were the story of Super Bowl XLVII, as the first brothers to not only coach in the NFL, but to line up against each other in the sport's marquee event (John's Baltimore Ravens ultimately came out on top of Jim's San Francisco 49ers).

Racing, as it turns out, would have its own equivalent just a few months later, when the brothers Brennan--Niall and Ian--saw former pupils account for all three legs of the American Triple Crown. Both Ocala-based horsemen who break and train young horses, Niall put GI Kentucky Derby winner Orb (Malibu Moon) and GI Belmont S. winner Palace Malice (Curlin) through their early paces, while Ian was the early conditioner of GI Preakness S. winner Oxbow (Awesome Again).

The brothers, of course, are no strangers to success. Niall has been one of the most respected yearling-to-juvenile resellers in the U.S. for the last two decades, with horses, including the recent Grade I winners Point of Entry, Dayatthespa and Love and Pride on his honor roll. Ian has broken and trained yearlings for some of the best operations in the business over the last decade, including Bluegrass Hall/Calumet, Vinery, Stonestreet and Fox Hill Farms, for whom he trained eventual Horse of the Year Havre de Grace. He also broke the likes of My Miss Aurelia, Pure Clan, Trappe Shot, Friesian Fire, and Musket Man.

Still, it's a unique and special accomplishment that two brothers trained three horses to win America's Triple Crown races in 2013. It speaks, in part at least, to the horsemanship and drive instilled in them by their father Liam Brennan, a former champion jockey and a successful trainer, as well as their home country's ability to turn out some of the industry's best horsemen and women. cont. p6

"The Irish have had so much success around the world in horse racing because you grow up around it," said Niall. "It's part of the culture, and it becomes second nature."

The Brennans grew up in Newbridge, Co. Kildare, just 10 miles away from The Curragh. Their father, Liam, was a top jumps rider, securing three consecutive riding titles in the late 1950s. Liam also enjoyed some success on the flat, but because of his size, was generally restricted to riding in handicap races. Around the time Niall was born, Liam decided to make the move to training, and set up a yard on his father's--Niall's grandfather's--cattle farm.

Niall and Ian grew up like many Irish kids, playing soccer and, in Niall's case, rugby, too. And like many Irish kids, they rode ponies and competed in local competitions as young boys. But with a pedigree steeped in racing, it was only a matter of time before they followed in their father's footsteps. Niall began race riding at 16. Ian, six years his junior, did the same.

"The more I was around racing, and went racing with dad during the holidays, the more I knew it was what I wanted to do," said Niall. "There was never any pressure growing up, I just loved it. When you grow up around something as a kid you may not appreciate it, but you learn so much through osmosis--you just absorb it growing up."

Niall's early tutelage was a sort of equine Rhodes scholarship. He took the Irish National Stud course, spent time in Australia, then came to the U.S. and worked at Pegasus Stud, which stood Storm Bird and was managed by Paul Shanahan. In the mid-1980s, Hall of Fame trainer Carl Nafzger put Niall in charge of a string at Arlington Park. During the summer, Ian came over to ride in the mornings, giving the younger Brennan his first exposure to America and its racing.

Around 1987, Niall ignored advice from friends and signed a year's contract as the farm trainer at George Steinbrenner's Kinsman Farm in Florida. He got along well with "The Boss," and wound up staying for three years.

GI Belmont winner Palace Malice
Horsephotos

In 1990, Niall struck out on his own. He got a boost when Rob Whiteley, manager of Carl Icahn's Foxfield Farm, tabbed him to break its yearlings, and he also began pinhooking yearlings with fellow Irishman Mike Ryan, whom he'd met through a joint client.

Ian returned to help his brother, as a rider and assistant trainer, and by the mid-1990s knew that he wanted to stay the States. He began training on his own around 2003, and a few years later was asked to manage Vinery's new training and rehabilitation center near Ocala. Encouraged by Vinery to keep his existing clients--they had 100 stalls, but only 30-35 or their own horses--he jumped at the chance. Last December, it was announced that

GI Preakness hero Oxbow
Horsephotos

Barbara Banke's Stonestreet Stable had purchased the center, but it's largely been business as usual.

"They didn't change a whole lot--the were existing clients--and it was a really smooth transition," said Ian. "The people at Stonestreet very good to work with, and Barbara's great. She's very easy going. She visits a lot, actually. We're re-doing some of the farm--we're re-fencing and things--and she's down probably once a month. She's really into it. She's actually really good looking at the horses, picking up from month to month which horses are improving."

Ian and his team had about 200 head on the farm this past spring--including lay-ups from the track--a number he found excessive. "I won't do that next year--it's just too many," he said. "A comfortable number is 90-100. It's easier with the staff and everything."

Of those, about 30-40 will be Stonestreet yearling, with the rest coming from of outside clients.

While Niall is maybe best known as a consignor of 2-year-olds, a large portion of his operation--about 40% of the 150 horses he breaks each year--involves training for clients who primarily breed to race. They include the high-profile operations of Stuart Janney and the Phipps family, who bred and race Orb. The Phippses also own five-time Grade I winner Point of Entry.

"I've been fortunate with my clients who do not go to the sales," said Niall. "The Phippses, the Janneys, guys like Marc Keller, and some clients we've had for years and years who might only have three or four horses a year. I love having horses with them--for the friendships as much as anything."

But there's also very little pressure with those horses, because they're being developed at their own pace. That's not to say we push horses to make the 2-year-old sales, but the reality is that they have deadline, and you're trying to get dressed up for that date. There's a part of that I really don't enjoy."

Somewhat ironically, Niall and Ian each attended the other's big moment for the first two legs of the Triple Crown--Ian made the trip to Kentucky for the Derby, Niall to Baltimore for the Preakness. But they watched the Belmont together, where they ran 1-2 with Palace Malice and Oxbow.

Asked about sibling rivalry, Ian said, "We're always competing, that's just the way we are and the way we were brought up. We'll slag one another a little bit, but it's all in fun. It's a friendly rivalry. But you know, if it wasn't for Niall, I probably wouldn't be where I'm at. He brought me along, taught me a lot, and gave me a chance. So far it's worked out pretty good."

It's safe to say, meanwhile, that no one enjoyed this year's Triple Crown run more than Liam Brennan, who was in the States visiting when Orb won the roses on the first Saturday in May.

"He was delighted," said Ian. "He's always delighted when one of us are doing well, and so with both of us there, it was great."

The making of a good horse is a collaborative effort, and Niall is quick to praise others for the success of horses like Orb, Palace Malice and Derby third Revolutionary, whom he sold as a juvenile in training.

"I'm the first-grade teacher, the kindergarten teacher," he said. "It's guys like Todd [Pletcher] and Shug [McGaughey] who get them to the big races, and they deserve the credit. It really matters where these young horses go."

That's true, but as the Brennan brothers perennially prove, where they start matters, too.

Fiesolana signaled her entrance to the major leagues when scoring in the G3 Ballyogan S. over six furlongs at Leopardstown last time June 13, and continued her rise up the ladder by defying a three-pound penalty here. Campaigned by Jean-Claude Rouget at up to 11 furlongs, the bay signed off for that stable with a sixth in the Listed Prix des Lilas over a mile at Longchamp last June, and was running for the first time after a subsequent absence when runner-up for her new stable in a conditions event over an extended seven-furlong trip at Tipperary May 1. Taking a mile handicap at The Curragh May 25 prior to the Ballyogan success, she was able to employ her stamina reserves to follow up here. Second early after a fast break, she traveled strongly into the stretch and after hitting the front passing the quarter pole gamely held off Along Came Casey in the run to the line.

NEWS TODAY

MUKHADRAM ON TARGET

Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum's Mukhadram (GB) (Shamardal) is on course for Saturday's G1 Coral-Eclipse at Sandown, connections announced yesterday. Runner-up to the re-opposing Al Kazeem (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) in the June 19 G1 Prince of Wales's S. at Royal Ascot, the William Haggas-trained 4-year-old pleased in a workout yesterday morning. "William was thrilled the way he took the race and how he came out of it," the owner/breeder's Racing Manager Angus Gold said. "Richard Hills rode him a pipe-opener this morning and was absolutely delighted with the horse, saying that he moved beautifully." Gold also revealed that TDN Rising Star Ekthiham (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), who slipped in the G2 Hardwicke S. at the Royal meeting last Saturday, has suffered a setback.

Cont.

"He was in [next Thursday's] G2 Princess of Wales's at Newmarket, but [trainer] Roger [Varian] told me he got a very minor swelling in a joint three days ago," he explained. "He thought he just knocked it and it might just preclude him running next week. We have the option of the G1 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth S. [at Ascot July 27]. Had he stood up and had he won the Hardwicke, that's where we'd be looking to run him."

DAISY DEVINE DQ'D FROM WILEY WIN

Daisy Devine (Kafwain) was disqualified from her second-place finish when attempting a title defense in the G1 Jenny Wiley S. at Keeneland Apr. 13 after she tested positive for Clenbuterol, according to the Daily Racing Form. Clenbuterol, a class three medication, is a bronchodilator commonly used for therapeutic purposes. Daisy Devine's tests revealed she had almost double the legal limit. The Kentucky Horse Racing Commission fined her trainer Andrew McKeever $500 and suspended him for 15 days.

"I accept the penalties under the trainer-responsibility rule and I thank the Millers [Daisy Devine's owners] for their support," McKeever told the DRF. "Having said that, I must make it known that neither I nor my staff nor any veterinarians administer clenbuterol to any of our horses in Kentucky. Since this positive came to our attention, we have installed a security system in my barn whereby all horses can be monitored at all times."

It will take a while for the new system to be put in place but when it is Ontario racing, both thoroughbred and harness, will have a commissioner's office, the emphasis will be on less is more when it comes to racing, the product will be improved, taking care of the bettor will be a priority and harness racing will revolve around a high-quality circuit. SMILING TIGER RETIRED

Alan Klein and Philip Leberherz's talented sprinter Smiling Tiger (Hold That Tiger--Shandra Smiles, by Cahill Road) has been retired, according to bloodstock agent Mersad Metanovic. The three-time Grade I winner will head to stud at Premier Equine Center in California for the 2014 breeding season. He will stand for $5,000.

Smiling Tiger

Winner of the GI Ancient Title S., GI Bing Crosby S., and GI Triple Bend H., the 6-year-old posted a record of 23-9-2-8 and earnings of $1,480,704. Trained by Jeff Bonde, the chestnut was also a two-time third-place finisher in the GI Breeders' Cup Sprint. Smiling Tiger, bred in Kentucky by Dr. Rodney Orr, concluded his career with a win in the GIII Vernon O. Underwood S. at Betfair Hollywood Park Dec. 2. "He was just a very special horse," said Metanovic, who, along with Bonde, selected Smiling Tiger as a $40,000 WASSEP yearling. "He had that look in his eyes of having no fear. He danced every dance and he certainly didn't owe us anything. He'll be a good stallion." Produced by the stakes-winning mare Shandra Smiles, Smiling Tiger is a half-brother to the promising ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ She's a Tiger (Tale of the Cat), an impressive debut winner at Pleasanton June 22. Owned by Mark DeDomenico, Allen Aldrich and Stuart Downey, She's a Tiger, purchased by Metanovic for $150,000 as a KEESEP yearling, will be pointed toward Betfair Hollywood Park's $150,000 Landaluce S. July 13.
