FUTURITY CLOSES DEL MAR MEET

The GI Del Mar Futurity brings the curtain down on the 2013 racing season at the oceanside oval, with a field of 11 juveniles scheduled to go postward in the seven-furlong contest this evening. Jaam Racing's unbeaten Alberts Hope (Run Away and Hide) is the 7-2 favorite. The bay gelding was a first-out winner at 33-1 odds at Hollywood Park July 14 and came back to win the Aug. 4 GI Best Pal S. at Del Mar as the 5-2 favorite. Trainer Bob Baffert, who has won a record 11 Del Mar Futurities, sends out Kaleem Shah's Can the Man (Into Mischief), who topped this year's Barretts May sale at $320,000. The bay colt captured his debut over the Del Mar oval Aug. 17 in his only previous trip to the post. "He's a nice little horse and he's fast," Baffert said. "We drew the number two hole and I'd have liked to have had a little better post position, a little further outside, so he could use his speed more. Sometimes when you have a speed horse going from 5 1/2 to seven [furlongs], it's tough on them when they get pressured. There are horses in there that are getting better and better." Trainer Jeff Bonde saddled Saturday's GI Del Mar Debutante winner She's a Tiger (Tale of the Cat) and will look for the Debutante/Futurity double with Skydreamin (Sky Mesa). The 15-1 shot opened his career with stakes wins at Golden Gate and Pleasanton and adds blinkers here off a last-of-sixth effort in the Best Pal. "He's as big as a buffalo," Bonde said of the bay colt. "The other day [in the Best Pal] he was hollering and screaming at the pony going to the gate, and through the whole race. They were running and he was screaming. He came back and worked [6f, 1:12.60] from the gate without a sound. We've checked him out and there's nothing wrong with him. So we'll see what happens."

CHEVELEY PARK BUY LETHAL FORCE

This year's G1 Diamond Jubilee S. and G1 July Cup hero Lethal Force (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) has been purchased by David and Patricia Thompson's Cheveley Park Stud to stand at the Newmarket-based operation in 2014. Owned by Alan Craddock, the 4-year-old will remain with trainer Clive Cox for the remainder of this season and continue to carry the colors of his existing owner. The Stud's Managing Director Chris Richardson told PA Sport, "We are delighted to have secured such an imposing and impressive athlete as Lethal Force, whose many qualities complement our portfolio of stallions in every way, especially as he is an exciting alternative outcross whom we look forward to supporting with our own broodmares. Rated 130 by Timeform, Lethal Force is the highest-rated sprinter to retire to stud in recent years, offering British breeders a wonderful opportunity for their mares."

CHICQUITA HEADS MAKIN DISPERSAL

This year's G1 Irish Oaks winner Chicquita (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) will be sold at Goffs November sale as part of a dispersal by Australian owner/breeder Paul Makin. Also runner-up in the G1 Prix de Diane, the 3-year-old will be one of 25 horses to be offered by the Castlebridge Consignment on his behalf under the Paulyn banner. Also included in the draft, will be a Galileo (Ire) yearling half-sister to the G1 Epsom Derby hero Pour Moi (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) and broodmares such as Fleeting Spirit (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), in foal to Galileo. (Cont. p3)

The Paul Makin dispersal also includes the 14-year-old Funsie (Fr) (Saumarez {GB}), the dam of another Derby winner in Authorized (Ire) and also the 2.5-million gns purchase Hydrogen (GB) (Galileo {Ire}), the highest-priced yearling at European auction last year. Henry Beeby, chief executive of Goffs, said, "Rarely is such a superior collection of horses offered for sale at public auction. It is a privilege and an honour to be appointed as the auction house of choice for the Paulyn dispersal and we are absolutely thrilled that Paul Makin has put his faith in the Goffs team and our unrivalled promotion and customer care. We have already received a host of high-class entries for the sale, and now with the exceptional Paulyn Dispersal as the jewel in the crown, it truly is a mouth-watering prospect." Makin added, "All of the Paulyn breeding stock is already in Ireland and by the time of the sale all of our racing horses, some as yet unraced as 2-year olds, will be on farms in Ireland, our consignor is Irish and the Irish Government need a boost. I love Ireland and I hope this dispersal, without reserves, will encourage other vendors to come along for the ride." Full details available on www.goffs.com.

The China Horse Club, which has experienced global success with its runners this year, recently unveiled the China Equine Cultural Festival, which will take place in Inner Mongolia Sept. 20 & 21, and will feature the first-ever live Thoroughbred racing in Mainland China. The event is expected to attract strong international support, and is part of an ambitious plan to build the Thoroughbred industry in that country. The TDN's Kelsey Riley sat down with Eden Harrington, General Manager of the China Horse Club, to discuss the current operations and future of the China Horse Club.

KR: Can you explain why the China Horse Club was formed, and what its main goals and objectives are?

EH: The China Horse Club's goal is to become the premier lifestyle, business and racing club in China. To achieve this goal we not only need to provide a peerless service to our members--we need to make a meaningful and lasting contribution to the industry in China. Core to the CHC is the successful establishment of a self-sufficient Thoroughbred industry in Mainland China. That means a breeding industry, racing industry, logistics, auctions, horse feed, media, veterinary services, etc.--a value chain that established jurisdictions have. To achieve these standards, the CHC has partnered with leaders of industry in a number of fields. We are also mindful that an industry needs a lot of skilled people, and we have set up a scholarship program that has already seen students work in the industry in Ireland and France, and in 2014 this will hopefully expand to Britain, Australia and beyond. Cont.p4

As a club and service provider, we offer our members a bespoke experience that will not only provide them with the highest standards of service and amenities, but will also provide members with the opportunity to race both locally and internationally. This is quite unique anywhere in the world. We have international stables in Australia, France, Singapore and the United States.

KR: Can you explain how the different syndicates under the CHC umbrella are differentiated?

EH: Our syndicates are based around the countries and cities in which we have stables. We have four international stables: France (Paris/Chantilly), Singapore, Australia (Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane) and the United States (New York), and each of these centers has a slightly different appeal for different members of the CHC. We want to provide a reason for our members to go and race in cities that they enjoy going to, and these cities are among the most popular cities for our members. We ensure they have a wonderful getaway in their city of choice and enjoy racing their horses while they are at it.

Eden Harrington

KR: I understand the CHC has had six winners in four different countries this year, and the club has also been active in sales rings around the world, including an expense of almost A$5-million at the Inglis Easter sale. Can you describe the club's strategies for sourcing horses?

EH: We have been delighted with the manner in which our racing operation has begun. We have had six individual horses race across four countries and each has won at least one race. Our program is to be disciplined and seek opportunities. We have had some good fortune to date in determining what opportunities we should take and which ones we should let go. It is important our members enjoy racing, and winning is hard to beat. This year's Inglis Easter Yearling Sale was the first sale in which we have bought under our own banner, but it certainly isn't the first sale we have been active at. At Easter we purchased some lovely yearlings, including some high profile ones with our partners, Coolmore. We remain hopeful they can run up to their looks.

KR: How does this fit in with the club's announced intention to import more than €100 million of bloodstock over the next 10 years?

EH: The announcement that €100 million will be spent in the next decade is naturally exciting for the Thoroughbred industry internationally. The focus of this money will be on breeding stock. China requires quality foundation mares and stallion prospects. Again, the intention is to be selective and play to our long term plan. I would expect this will open opportunities for the breeding industry in America. There are some wonderful operations in the U.S. that continue to breed great racehorses and have very successful breeding programs.

KR: How many horses-in-training does the CHC currently own?

EH: Across our racing and breeding divisions we have an interest in nearly 100 individuals. It is an exciting space to be in. Our racing team has some lovely young horses set to race in the next 12 months as well as some promising older individuals that I think you will hear more of. Hopefully we will be able to expand our interests in the U.S. later this season as well. Our U.S. stable is the newest of our four stables and focuses on one mare at present called Tabreed [(GB) (Sakhee)].

Tabreed was selected at the Arqana Sale in December by our French trainer Nicolas Clement to race in the U.S. under the care of his brother, Christophe. Tabreed is a winner and is stakes placed. She is possibly unlucky not to have won more than once under Christophe's care. In time she will be an important addition to our breeding program.

Tabreed winning at Monmouth June 29

KR: How is the CHC governed?

EH: The China Horse Club is managed by international staff that have experience in a range of fields. Many of the senior staff were heavily involved in the highly successful Meydan grandstand project. Assisting in the management of the China Horse Club is an elite advisory board. This 'council of peers' are leaders of industry from many fields, and we are very fortunate to have these esteemed individuals involved in our club. The makeup of this board has not yet been publicly announced, but that will happen very soon.

KR: The CHC recently announced that it will host two days of live racing at the China Equine Cultural Festival in Inner Mongolia, which takes place Sept. 20 & 21. Can you describe for our readers what the China Equine Cultural Festival is?

EH: The CECF is a celebration of Thoroughbred racing in Mainland China. It is also the first internationally endorsed Thoroughbred event in this part of the world. Aside from international participation from breeders, owners, jockeys, sponsors and support from fellow Jockey Clubs over a two-day festival, there will be a wonderful blend of local and international dignitaries. There will also be invited speakers at an International Symposium. His Excellency Professor Joseph Deiss, the former President of the United Nations General Assembly, heads a list of VIPs who will be present. In time we hope to build the profile of this event, and it would be wonderful to have participation from American vendors, jockeys, trainers and administrators, and possibly a guest speaker next year or in the near future. The U.S. has a great deal to offer.

KR: How will the club's operations and objectives change when racing commences in Mainland China?

EH: Our objectives are long term and take into account 2014 and beyond. Next year is the Year of the Horse, and so it will be very significant in China for the CHC. There will be some significant and very exciting announcements on this in due course.

KR: Are there any plans for live racing dates in Mainland China beyond the China Equine Cultural Festival?

EH: The CECF will be the first exhibition race the CHC is involved with, and we are honored that the Hohhot Sports Bureau is hosting this event. It is our intention to race more regularly in 2014 and beyond.

THE GERMAN INDUSTRY: SMALL BUT MIGHTY

Liesl King has been filling you in with maximum efficiency and her usual flair for fashion about the sales, races, and other social activities last weekend in Baden-Baden, which is gaining a reputation in racing circles as 'the Deauville of Germany.' Certainly the sale, the latest edition of which was last Friday, just gets better and better, with more and more buyers from outside Germany. Seven yearlings sold for €200,000 or more, five of which went to foreign buyers, plus two Dansili colts bought for German owners. Emmanuel de Seroux's Narvick International (for Japan); Darley (which bought seven total through their English-based German representative, Franziska Schaertlin Coffey); Angus Gold, (for Shadwell) were high on the buyers list, along with Freddy Seitz of Brookdale Farm in Kentucky, who signed for two, including an €260,000 Montjeu filly. Overall, with 19 fewer yearlings catalogued and 20 fewer sold (-12%), the gross showed a 26% increase, and the average jumped a massive 44% to €47,983.

The success of German-breds, and German families, hardly needs advertising after their exploits of the last few years. Danedream (Lomitas) of course burst into prominence when scoring in the 2011 G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe. She then came back to win the 2012 G1 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth S. at Ascot, defeating Nathaniel in a good battle, and added a second win in the G1 Grosser Preis von Baden, but was prevented from defending her 'Arc' title by a disease outbreak and subsequent quarantine of her training grounds in Cologne. In what proved to be her final race in last year's GP von Baden, she defeated Germany's then-two top 3-year-old colts, Pastorius (Soldier Hollow) and Novellist (Monsun), who finished third and fourth. Both colts came back this year to win Group 1 races in France: Pastorius won the G1 Prix Ganay, but came back after a fruitless trip to Singapore to finish down the field in the G1 Eclipse S. at Sandown, and is now on the shelf with an injury. Novellist, meantime, won the G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud, then ran a lifetime best for a second consecutive impressive German win in the 'King George.' Like Danedream, he followed up last weekend in Sunday's edition of the G1 Grosser Preis von Baden as his Arc prep, and is now general co-favorite, along with the Fabre-trained likely G2 Prix Niel-bound Flintshire (Dansili), or second favorite. It's a pretty impressive roll of honor over the last 24 months.

But the German racing brand has a problem, and, unusually, the problem is not quality, but quantity. There aren't enough of them. German foal crop numbers are in decline--down a third since 2008, and not really because of the Meltdown.

Costs, as everywhere, are high, and returns on the German racetracks are low. Smaller breeders have been getting out, and even the big owner-breeders who are the backbone of the German industry have been cutting back as the risk-return ratios have worsened. Until last Friday's sale those breeders who could be identified as 'commercial' were working against revenues averaging in the €30,000 range at their flagship sale. The only way German owner-breeders have been able to make it pay is by selling their best stock as it develops. Markets as diverse as Australia, Japan and America, as well as the major European operations, are keen to buy German-breds. With a collective foal crop which was small enough to start with and has been shrinking, the top German breeders can see that it won't take long to kill the goose that laid the golden egg--especially when they sell the good fillies from those top German families.

Pastorius

If they need to see any examples of what happens when a country sells off their top pedigrees, they need only look at what's happened in America. For over 30 years American breeders have been selling to the Maktoums, to the Japanese (especially during the market crash of the late 1980s and after 2008), and to anybody else prepared to compete at that level, spending big money for the best available stock. Now international buyers stay away from the American sales in droves, because they don't know the sires and don't understand the pedigrees. They say it's because of drugs, but that's actually a secondary issue, and a convenient excuse. The real reason is because, on the whole, they don't understand the pedigrees any more, and they don't need to try and understand them, because the sires in Europe are so good. It's probably a mistake, because American-breds in Europe punch well above their weight in terms of numbers, but it doesn't matter as much to European buyers when you see there are 47 yearlings by Galileo in Tattersalls' October Sale Book 1. Cont. p9

TDN WEEKLY SALES TICKER

by Bill Oppenheim

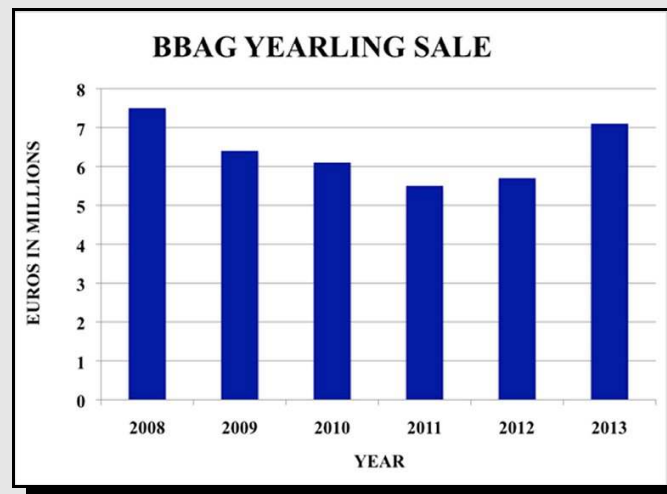

"In 2008, Doncaster's Premier Yearling Sale saw 401 horses sell for just under £13.5-million and an average of £33,650. Now, five years later, the totals are back in that neighborhood: in last week's sale, 410 yearlings grossed just over £13.3-million and averaged £32,441, with a monumental 86% clearance rate from the catalogue. The gross was up 25% from last year, and is within 1.5% of the 2008 total; the average was up 21% from last year, and is within 4% of 2008's. Massive sale last week in Germany, too."

Data compiled by Brianne Stanley

One thing about being smaller to start with is it can be easier to reverse the trend of declining numbers--a little bit can go a long way--and there are several moves afoot in Germany, both short- and long-term, which could result in the creation of more German-breds, both from the old, established families, and from new ones which could be developed if there were more breeders with commercially justifiable reasons to invest. I can't emphasize enough how different a program it is to create quantity from quality than to try and create quality from quantity. They have a real basis on which to grow. Maybe there are only eight or 10 major breeders in Germany, but the traditions of their involvement routinely go back three to five generations in their families--that's the human families as well as the horses. There are good indications that this central corps of top breeders realize that only by joining together to reinforce existing structures, and creating new ones can they lay the groundwork for the 'Made in Germany' racing brand to grow and expand. It's an ironic twist that they already have all the international recognition and demand they need. It is their domestic market which is in desperate need of development. They need more domestic racehorse owners, to create domestic demand so that breeders can justify expanding their numbers. It's a big project in a country with a great equestrian tradition, but little recognition of horse racing by the vast majority of the German public. Cont. p10

But German breeders have the raw material to build from, and if the big owner-breeders--because it actually does all depend on them--can muster the political will, and find the time and the people to help implement the plans which must be drawn up and financed--there is a chance they can reverse the decline in the foal crop, and enhance the chances of the German-bred horse racing brand to first, sustain itself, and, second, grow.

Keeneland Week 2 Sires...

As we saw last week, the 875 yearlings catalogued in Keeneland's first week represent just 76 sires. But, beginning on Saturday, Sept. 15 with the new Book 2 (formerly Book 3), there will still be eight more days of selling, with another 3,033 yearlings catalogued, representing 239 sires (click here to see an alphabetical list of all Book 2 sires). The vast majority of Book 1 sires have more representation in Week 2, plus a lot more besides. (List of stallions with 45+ catalogued p11)

Five sires have 50 or more catalogued in the second week, headed by WinStar's Congrats, with 65, and Coolmore's (nee Ashford's) Henrythenavigator, with 63. Each has 10 catalogued for Week 1, and therefore are among five sires with 70 or more yearlings catalogued throughout the sale. These yearlings are from Congrats's first Kentucky crop since moving up from Florida. He stood in 2011 at Vinery for a $15,000 fee. 'Henry,' who made the switch from Kentucky to Ireland this year, is the only second-crop sire with three Grade I/Group 1 winners, after the 2-year-old colt Sudirman upset War Command in the G1 Phoenix S. last month. Also with 50+ catalogued in the second week are: WinStar's 2010 G1 Kentucky Derby winner, Super Saver (57, plus four in Book 1); Lane's End's high-class sire Candy Ride (55); and Three Chimneys' Sky Mesa (50, plus six), now fully recovered from a stuttering start back in 2007. Candy Ride, with 24 in Book 1, is one of the five with 70+ catalogued for the whole sale--he has 79--along with Congrats and Henrythenavigator.

The overall leader in yearlings catalogued is Spendthrift's Malibu Moon, currently number three on the TDN North American 2013 General Sire List. He has 87 catalogued, of which 38 are in Week 2. Ashford's Giant's Causeway, number four on the North American list, as usual is in the top five by number catalogued, with 74.

Finally, big thank-yous and bouquets to Ben Fondrian, CEO, and Peter Muhlfelt, who is in charge of PR and the press room at the Baden-Baden racetrack. The international team which came in to cover the weekend included our own Liesl King, who as I mentioned above did heroic work throughout; ex-TDN staffer Marie Kizenko; Isabel Mathew, from TurfCom in France; Katherine Fidler of Britain's Racing Post; and the Breeders' Cup's Josh Christian. I know Josh particularly wanted to thank Sebastian Weiss for showing him the ropes.

INDUSTRY INFO

T.I.P. Award Recipients Announced:

The Jockey Club's Thoroughbred Incentive Program has chosen the winners of the Thoroughbred of the Year Award and Young Rider of the Year Award, its non-competition awards.

The Thoroughbred of the Year Award is given to a Thoroughbred that has been successful in a non-competitive career. This year's recipient is Loveable Rascal, an 11-year-old therapy horse at Fieldstone Farm in Ohio.

Loveable Rascal, bred by Airdire Stud, launched his career as a talented hunter jumper upon leaving the racetrack. He retired from that job six years ago due to injury and began a new start as a therapy horse.

"Rascal is one of those horses that not only knows he is helping riders, he wants to," said Jinene Studinski, Equine Director at Fieldstone Farm. "Through Rascal's generous heart and instinct to serve, children with autism and Down Syndrome have said their first words. Adults with multiple sclerosis and children with neurological disorders have improved balance and gained strength. Some have even taken their first steps after riding him. High school students and military veterans have found hope and strength. Rascal is an amazing horse that reaches people of all ages and with all kinds of challenges and helps them become stronger physically and emotionally so they can better cope with daily life."

The Young Rider of the Year Award is presented to a rider age 18 or under who owns or leases a Thoroughbred for 4H, Pony Club, or other similar activities. This year there were four recipients.

Chloe Bellerive owns Lemon Twister, who raced just four times. Together they compete in 4H, FFA, and are ambassadors for the breed and their T.I.P. earning will go to further that goal.

"Everywhere we go, after I exit the rings, someone always asks me about his breeding, and I very proudly state he is a Thoroughbred and an ex-racehorse that I was very lucky to find," said Bellerive.

Madison Shaughnessy adopted her horse MissGuided from a local horse rescue where she volunteered. She will use her T.I.P. money towards college.

Natalie Roberts owns Comcord, who was quite difficult in the beginning, which inspired her to go to Vet school.

"Cece was a very difficult horse when she first came off the track; however, many of her behavioral issues were caused by physical pain related to management practices that were easily corrected," said Roberts.

The final recipient is Annise Montplaisir, who was introduced to Cyclone Larry when working as a Racehorse Ambassador at the North Dakota Horse Park. She also intends to use her award money towards her education.

5.15 Chantilly, Debutantes, €24,000, 2yo, f, 1mT
RIP ROARING (GB) (Sea the Stars {Ire}) makes his debut for Khalid Abdullah and Andre Fabre, and is the latest progeny of their stellar performer Nebraska Tornado (Storm Cat). This track was the scene of the first of that high-class distaffers two top-level successes in the G1 Prix de Diane 10 years ago.

UCHENNA (IRE) (f, 2, Fastnet Rock {Aus}--Uriah {Ger} {GSW-US, SW & GSP-Ger, $171,640}, by Acatenango {Ger}), who missed the break when a first-up seventh at Kempton Aug. 14, was away from the gate in better fashion here and stalked the pace in second until the straight. Easing upsides Tea in Transvaal (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) approaching the two pole, the 9-2 chance came under pressure soon after and was driven out to deny that rallying rival by a head. Sales history: 42,000gns yrl '12 TATOCT. Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-0, £3,235.

INICIAR (GER) (c, 3, Galileo {Ire}--Iota {Ger} {G1SW-Ger, $254,019}, by Tiger Hill {Ire}), beaten a neck when second at Munich on debut Aug. 11, justified a supplementary entry in this return. Settled just behind the leading trio for the most part, the 13-5 second favorite came under pressure on the home turn and was ridden throughout the 300-meter straight to prevail by a half length from Thanos (Fr) (Librettist) in the dying strides. Lifetime Record: 2 starts, 1 win, 1 place, €9,200. Click for Equidia VIDEO.
