SHUG LOOKING TO CRACK DERBY CODE AGAIN

At this time last year, trainer Shug McGaughey had a then-unproven maiden breaker in his barn at Payson Park named Orb (Malibu Moon). The Janney and Phipps homebred would, of course, go on to string together a trio of wins at Gulfstream Park--including the GII Besilu Fountain of Youth S. and GI Besilu Florida

Honor Code NYRA/Coglianesse

Derby--en route to providing his Kentucky-bred trainer with a first victory on the First Saturday in May. While Lane's End Racing and Dell Ridge Farm's ★ "TDN Rising Star" ★ Honor Code (A.P. Indy) has accomplished far more at this stage in his career than his former stablemate, he has a tough act to follow as he looks to take a similar path to the GI Kentucky Derby.

"At this time, Orb had just broken his maiden, and this horse won a Grade II and just got beat in a Grade I," the Hall of Famer said of Honor Code, who came up just short of Havana (Dunkirk) in Belmont's

GI Champagne S. Oct. 5 before out-nosing Cairo Prince (Pioneerof the Nile) in the Big A's GII Remsen S. Nov. 30. "With Orb, starting around the first of January, he just started improving, improving, improving. Everything went right with him. I could work him when I wanted to work him, it didn't rain, and we'll just have to see if all that happens with Honor Code. He doesn't have to improve as much as Orb did, but, hopefully, he'll improve a little bit and we can get the same breaks with him that we did with Orb. Everything went right all winter and spring with Orb."

In an effort to eliminate any potential impediments, McGaughey recently sent Honor Code to Rood & Riddle Equine Hospital in Lexington for an operation.

"He was a ridgling and had a testicle taken out," McGaughey revealed. "I think he probably knew it was there. Obviously, he was running good, so how much [it bothered him] I don't know. But I wanted to get it out of the way so it would be one less thing that I had to worry about."

BELLE COUTURE DECLARED

Belle Couture (Aus) (Redoute's Choice {Aus}), the 3-year-old half-sister to Black Caviar (Aus) (Bel Esprit {Aus}) and All Too Hard (Aus) (Casino Prince {Aus}), has been declared for a maiden race at Bendigo Sunday. Trained by Danny O'Brien and ridden by Damien Oliver, Belle Couture drew post seven of 11 in the third race on the card. The A$2.6 million (US$2.3 million) Inglis

Easter purchase has prepared for her debut with a pair of Flemington jumpouts, finishing second Nov. 22 before winning a Dec. 6 heat. "We've been very pleased with the way that she's come through her last jumpout, and her work has been good in the gallops she's completed since," O'Brien told Racing Victoria. "We're taking her to Bendigo because it's such a good track and every horse gets its chance. It's a big, wide-open track that has a history of a lot of young horses kicking off there and going on to better things. "She's taken everything that we've put in front of her so far in her stride and the next step for her progression is to turn up at the races."

With that issue resolved, Honor Code--the 10-1 favorite after the first round of Kentucky Derby future wagers--has settled in well at his winter home.

"He's doing fine," McGaughey said. "He's up at Payson Park and training every day. I'll probably start working him around the first of the year and see where it takes us. I would think the [Feb. 22 GII] Fountain of Youth would--if everything went right--probably be in our plans, but before that, I don't know."

McGaughey also has a far less exposed soon-to-be sophomore in the barn in William S. Farish and E. J. Hudson, Jr.'s homebred Top Billing (Curlin). Unveiled sprinting in the slop at Laurel Park Dec. 6, the chestnut came with a powerful rally from far back to splash home a 5 1/4-length winner and garner the ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ distinction.

"He's at Payson Park also," McGaughey noted. "I'll look for a spot for him when I see the new [condition] book."

BEGINNING A NEW 'LEGACY'

Edited Press Release

Tommy and Wyndee Eastham have announced the re-launching of Legacy Bloodstock. The Lexington, Kentucky-based Thoroughbred sales agency was formerly co-owned along with Mark Toothaker. Legacy Bloodstock is now accepting horses for the 2014 sales season and has nearly two dozen horses being readied for the upcoming Keeneland January Sale. Eastham resumes operations of Legacy Bloodstock after two years as director of sales for Darby Dan Farm. "I enjoyed working at Darby Dan and it was a great time of growth for both Darby Dan and me," Eastham said. "As Wyndee and I discussed the future of our family, we felt it was in the best interest of our children to operate as a family business. We want Legacy Bloodstock to fulfill its name and ensure that future generations can share in the experience of owning and operating a family business." He continued, "Wyndee has spent 15 years in the industry investing in relationships both nationally and internationally through her positions at Breeders' Cup and NTRA. These relationships will be a great asset to our clients. We are thrilled to have the opportunity to work together in the industry that we share a love and passion for." In its seven-year history, Legacy Bloodstock was among the top 15 international consigners four years in a row, sold numerous Grade I winners, including Champion Stardom Bound (Tapit), and sold the sales topper at nine different sales. "My great friend Mark Toothaker will not be with me on this venture," Eastham added. "Mark and I continue to do a lot of business together and our friendship has never been stronger. I can't thank Mark enough as he was an important part in us being able to bring back Legacy Bloodstock. We are going to work very hard to make Mark proud of our accomplishments since he played a vital part in building the Legacy brand."

Tommy & Wyndee Eastham

KING MUFHASA RETIRED

King Mufhasa (NZ) (Pentire {GB}-Sheila Cheval {NZ}, by Mi Preferido), a 10-time Group 1 winner in Australia and New Zealand, has been retired, according to published reports. The 9-year-old gelding pulled up lame following a gallop Tuesday.

"Mufh has done damage to a sesamoid bone, and we have decided to retire him," managing owner David Archer told Racenet.com.au. "He is happy and well and is looking forward to his retirement as a recreational pony, which was what was planned about now in any event. We are proud of our boy and we are rapt we were able to give him a little more time doing what he loves most--running, which he has done in recent times as shown by his two easy trial wins and that wonderful second in the Windsor Park [Plate] over the last couple of months. We love him, and look forward to spending his retirement with him. A NZ$50,000 (US$40,835) purchase by Archer at the 2006 NZB Select Yearling Sale, King Mufhasa broke through at the highest level as a 4-year-old, scooping the G1 Telegraph S. and G1 Waikato Sprint in his native country.

FORTY TALES RETIRED TO SEQUEL

Perretti Racing Stable's Forty Tales (Tale of the Cat--Forty Love, by Forty Niner) has been retired from racing and will enter stud in 2014 at Sequel Stallions in New York in the first joint venture between Sequel's Dennis Narlinger and Becky Thomas and Joe McMahon's McMahon of Saratoga Thoroughbreds.

Forty Tales

Trained for the Perrettis by Todd Pletcher, Forty Tales was a maiden winner in a single start at two (video) and put together an impressive streak in graded-stakes company during the spring and summer of 2013, rallying to win the GIII Derby Trial going Churchill's one-turn mile Apr. 27 (video) before cutting back to seven furlongs to score in the GII Woody Stephens S. on the GI Belmont S. undercard June 8 (video). He confirmed his status as one of the top 3-year-old sprinters with a 3/4-length victory in Saratoga's GII Amsterdam S. over 6 1/2 panels July 28 (video). Having earned a trio of Beyer Speed Figures in excess of 100, Forty Tales retires with five wins in 11 starts and earnings of $666,789. "We are so excited to be able to offer our clients this exciting prospect and hometown hero and to add to our stellar roster," Thomas said. "We are particularly excited to partner with McMahon of Saratoga Thoroughbreds as well as Chester and Mary Broman to stand the first stallion venture, offering a limited number of shares to our breeders in New York as well as out-of-state clients. The expansion of the New York breeding program has allowed many more opportunities as New York-breds have increased substantially in value on the racing front as well as in the sales ring."

Tale of a New Stallion...

The New York breeding program has another exciting prospect in the retirement of three-time graded-stakes winner Forty Tales (Tale of the Cat) to Sequel Stallions New York. In an effort to expand their clientele, Becky Thomas and Dennis Narlinger of Sequel partnered for the first time with Joe and Anne McMahon of McMahon of Saratoga Thoroughbreds for the deal.

"Joe and Anne McMahon being included in the partnership is just a continuation of the effort to increase the quality of the breeding structure we have in New York," said Thomas. "This is the first horse that Sequel will have stood that is being syndicated. He is set up on a 50-share structure of which there will be 20 outside shares sold and the 30 remaining shares will be owned equally between Joe and Anne McMahon, Chester Broman, myself, and Dennis Narlinger."

Thomas continued, "Joe and Anne have been great supporters of Sequel and they have many breeders that have bred with them for years. I think this will really help New York and give us what we need."

With the help of alternative gaming revenue, the New York breeding program has surged in the past couple years. It is a movement Thomas hopes will change the face of New York-breds. "I keep thinking about ways to blur the lines between New York and Kentucky and we are getting it done," she said.

Thomas closely monitored the career of Forty Tales and is excited about his future at stud.

"He was a very precocious 2-year-old, which is definitely what I look for in a horse that I can get behind," said Thomas. "He is a stretchier version of Tale of the Cat. He has a nice clean neck to him and a lot of length in his back. He is a more refined, elegant type."

On behalf of William Perretti, Jim Crupi signed the ticket on Forty Tales at $80,000 at the 2011 Fasig-Tipton July sale. Perretti, a prominent owner in the Standardbred industry, entrusted Crupi with his first Thoroughbred purchase. Perretti's son and general manger, Anthony Perretti, spoke of the impact of Forty Tale's success.

"Because of the initial success, Forty Tales has made my dad, William Perretti at age 86, enthusiastic about the horse business again," said Perretti. "Hopefully we can repeat our success that we had the last 25 years in the Standardbred business, being one of the top farms and entities in the business."

Initial success in the industry has motivated Perretti to expand.

"We went to the Keeneland Sale and purchased a good amount of yearlings," said Perretti. "We also have a couple 2-year-olds. They all get started at Crupi's New Castle Farm and sent to Todd Pletcher when they are ready."

Perretti credits Forty Tales's attitude for his success on the track.

"From a novice standpoint in the Thoroughbred industry, I would say this horse has heart," said Perretti. "I wish every stallion we stood in the Standardbred business had the heart and guts that he has. He doesn't know the word quit."

Forty Tales will stand for $6,500, stands and nurses, for the 2014 season. --Catlyn Spivey

Power Broker: Well, I knew we would leave somebody out, and the winner this time is Power Broker, who retires to Hill 'n' Dale for $10,000. This is a really interesting prospect for several reasons, but most interesting for me is that he's by Pulpit, a proven source of class and a proven sire of sires, including Tapit, one of only two sires in North America standing for $150,000 next year, as well as Sky Mesa, who's a very useful sire himself. Trained by Bob Baffert, who also trained Midnight Lute before he went to Hill 'n' Dale, Power Broker was an impressive winner of the GI Frontrunner (I think that used to be the Norfolk) in his first try on conventional dirt, as a 2-year-old.

He shipped out of California in May as a 3-year-old this year and went three-for-four in the East, running second to Verrazano in the GI Haskell before coming back in his final start in October to win the GI Indiana Derby--a race which in 2011 produced the subsequent one-two in the GI Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile, Caleb's Posse and Shackleford. This horse has really good credentials and is very reasonably priced at a seriously good farm. I apologize to the connections that we missed him yesterday, because we do aim for 100% accuracy, but I'm happy to give him a little time and space on his own, because you could really fancy a Grade I-winning 2-year-old by the sire of Tapit at $10,000.

"The Anatomy of Horse Race Handicapping"

By J.M. Chodkowski

Reviewed by Christie DeBernardis

The subtitle for this book--"Or How to Have Fun at the Track"--sums up the author's main purpose that he continuously drives home throughout each section. In these chapters, Chodkowski gives a detailed description of every possible aspect that can be taken into account when handicapping a horse race.

The first section of the book is entitled "Handicapping With Your Head" and it provides the reader with an extensive explanation of what all the numbers, abbreviations, and other information provided in the program describes, as well as how it all plays into the outcome of the race. The next section is "Handicapping With Your Eyes," which details the importance of seeing and evaluating the horse itself by going down to the paddock. Chodkowski includes sketches of different conformation types and explains what qualities are most desirable. The third chapter is called "Handicapping the Blood" and informs the reader of the importance of analyzing a horse's pedigree in determining their chance of success in a particular race and describes the different types of races, such as allowances or stakes. In the following section, "Handicapping With Your Gut," Chodkowski explains that for most people it is that "gut feeling" about some aspect of a horse that influences their handicapping the most, whether it be something about the numbers, pedigree, or conformation. The fifth chapter, entitled "Handicapping With Your Heart," talks about how for some handicappers it comes down to the love of a trainer, jockey, or a specific horse and the final chapter "Handicapping With Your Tail" describes the different types of bets and important lingo to use at the windows.

Chodowski's book is a great tool for the new horse racing fan or newbie handicapper. It not only provides extensive information on all possible aspects to consider in handicapping, but does so in a way that makes it fun for the reader. Chodowski's main goal, which he reiterates throughout, is to make going to the races more fun by helping people become more involved through educated handicapping.

Bill to Expand KTDf Availability Set to be Introduced:

Kentucky State Senator John Schickel (R-District 11) presented a bill to the Kentucky state legislature, the Northern Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, and Thoroughbred industry organizations yesterday that would make horses racing for tags of $25,000 or more eligible for Kentucky Thoroughbred Development Fund (KTDf) purse incentives. The bill, pre-filed by Schickel Dec. 12 as BR 328, will be presented during the next session of the General Assembly, which begins the second week of January. "This bill has the support of the Kentucky State Senate," Schickel said, noting that the language was crafted by Sen. Damon Thayer (R-District 17) and David Switzer, executive director of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Association and Kentucky Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders. "We want to protect the horse industry and keep Kentucky horses on this side of the river." Under current rules, only horses not entered for the claiming tag in optional claiming races are eligible for KTDf awards.

"Senator Schickle's bill will allow owners and trainers of Kentucky-bred horses to compete for the entire purse in all allowance optional claiming races," offered Tyler Picklesimer, Turfway's director of racing and racing secretary. "This will encourage horsemen to keep their higher-priced claiming horses in Kentucky for the winter. That translates to fuller fields and more quality horses, which will lead to increased wagering. Increased wagering in turn will increase revenue for Turfway, purse funds for horsemen, and tax revenue for the Commonwealth. There is absolutely no downside to Senator Schickle's bill. It simply allows optional claimers to run for the entire purse."

Dismissed at 9-1 from a 4-1 morning line, Duff One settled off the pace and rail in the early going. She advanced out wide while pushed along by Joel Rosario entering the home bend, continued to pick off horses approaching the straight and bounded home with big strides to graduate going away by two lengths. "She just gobbles up the ground, so you really need to have her in the clear," said winning trainer Gary Contessa. "The only thing I told Rosario was, 'Try and keep her in the clear.' He did a good job and she was able to use that." He added, "It looks like she'll fit well with the stakes horses down here, the newly turned 3-year-olds, on the turf. We'll certainly try the stakes races with her towards the end of January or February." Ready to Act (More Than Ready), who threw her rider while en route to victory in Woodbine's Gll Natalma S. Unknown Road was a debut runner-up behind Coup de Grace (Tapit)--who won an optional claimer at Gulfstream Park Dec. 15--at the Big A for trainer Michael Hushion Nov. 9. Making his first start under the care of Al Stall, Jr., the 8-5 pick moved up the rail shortly after the break to set the early pace through splits of :22.20 and :46.49. Cornell Vet Students Earn TERF Scholarships:

Edited Press Release

Jesse Tyma and Daniel Jackson, both students at Cornell University's College of Veterinary Medicine, have been awarded scholarships by the Thoroughbred Education and Research Foundation (TERF).

"The TERF Scholarships are making a meaningful impact on talented students who will contribute a great deal to the veterinary profession across the span of their careers," said Katherine M. Edmondson, Assistant Dean for Learning and Instruction at Cornell's veterinary college. "The scholarships provide invaluable financial assistance to our students and the encouragement to pursue opportunities that might otherwise be out of reach. We are very grateful to TERF for their support."

Designed to assist students of promise to prepare for careers in equine medicine and surgery, the scholarships help TERF realize its mission to support and promote equine education and research.

Jackson, a member of the college's Class of 2013, has focused his attention in the areas of large animal medicine, field service, and epidemiological research. Tyma, a member of the Class of 2014 who will begin an internship at Rhinebeck Equine after graduation, is interested in a number of specialty areas within equine medicine: emergency surgery, sports medicine, diagnostic imaging, ophthalmology, neurology, and complementary medicine.

OwnerView to Host National Conference:

Edited Press Release

OwnerView, the website and information resource developed by The Jockey Club and the Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association to assist both current and prospective Thoroughbred owners, will host a national, two-day Thoroughbred ownership conference in October 2014 at Keeneland Race Course.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the Del Mar Thoroughbred Club, the Keeneland Association, The New York Racing Association, and the Stronach Group, will feature panel discussions with prominent industry participants as well as an exhibit hall and several informational and educational networking events with owners and industry representatives.

"Del Mar is delighted to be part of a logical and essential effort to grow our game through the encouragement of new ownership in conjunction with educational opportunities for all owners," said Joe Harper, president and chief executive officer of the DMTC.

"We believe that when you bring a good group of dedicated people together--as is the case here--that positive things invariably happen."

Bill Thomason, president and chief executive officer of Keeneland, added: "Owners are the backbone of the Thoroughbred industry, and the future of our great sport is incumbent upon the energizing and engagement of current and prospective owners."

Not only as a racing facility, but also as the world's largest Thoroughbred marketplace, Keeneland is proud to serve as the host for the first year of this unique event. We look forward to working with The Jockey Club, TOBA and our other track sponsors in the months ahead as we plan the agenda and make the necessary arrangements."

NYRA CEO and president Chris Kay offered: "Our industry must strive on a daily basis to create an outstanding experience for existing owners and to make it even more desirable for prospective owners to get in the game. We are proud to support OwnerView as it plans this important ownership conference next October."

Mike Rogers, president of the racing division of The Stronach Group, said: "This is an exciting opportunity to invigorate current owners while also stimulating new ownership and partnerships in our great sport. Having current and future owners participate in this conference, and having a central resource in OwnerView in which they can acquire information, is fully supported by The Stronach Group. We look forward to the national Thoroughbred ownership conference at Keeneland in 2014 as well as working with our friends throughout the Thoroughbred industry in the next several months."

Additional details about the conference, including dates, will be announced in the coming weeks.
