RIDING THE WAVE

Zabeel Racing International's Surfer (Distorted Humor) has gone two-for-two over Meydan's new dirt surface, including a maiden stakes score in the G2 Al Maktoum Challenge R1 last out Jan. 8, and the 6-year-old gelding will look to extend his streak to three in the G2 Al Maktoum Challenge R2 at Meydan today. Surfer has always been highly regarded by the team of trainer

Surfer
DRC/Andrew Watkins

Satish Seemar, and was second to back-to-back scorer Prince Bishop (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) in this event in 2013. His strongest performance of last year's carnival was a third in the G1 Al Maktoum Challenge R3, and he has been a decisive winner of both starts this season since switching to the dirt, first in a mile conditions race Dec. 18 and then over the same distance in Round 1 four weeks ago over the re-opposing Frankyfourfingers (Fr) (Sunday Break {Jpn}). Surfer has yet to win beyond a mile, but regular rider Richie Mullen said today's added distance won't pose a problem.

"It was a very good performance in the first round," said Mullen. "He really took to the new surface and has been in good form since. The extra trip is not an issue. This does look a stronger race but he should run well."

One who won't have distance limitations is last year's G1 Dubai World Cup victor African Story (GB) (Pivotal {GB}), who makes his first start since that upset score. The Godolphin colorbearer had developed a love affair with the Meydan Tapeta and enjoyed two victories on the Dubai World Cup card: first in the G2 Godolphin Mile in 2012 and in the main event last year. In between, he took the G2 Burj Nahaar in 2013 and was second in this race last year. The 8-year-old gelding could be counted on to consistently show up on the artificial surface, but how he will handle the dirt remains to be seen. The third of the trio saddled by Saeed bin Suroor will be Emirates Flyer (GB) (Acclamation {GB}), who won last year's UAE 2000 Guineas Trial and was placed in four subsequent starts, including a third in the G2 UAE Derby. He was second in a Wolverhampton conditions race in his first start since that Mar. 29 effort Oct. 9, and was fifth in his first try on the dirt in Round 1. Bin Suroor, who is seeking his 11th win in this race, said, "Emirates Flyer has improved from that first run. He handled the surface and with the benefit of that run should go well." Cont. p8

DONN DRAWS 10

A solid field of 10 drew for Saturday's GI Donn H. at Gulfstream Park. The entries are highlighted by last year's Donn winner Lea (First Samurai) who, after being sidelined for nearly a year, returned to take the

Gill Hal's Hope S. in impressive fashion Jan. 10. "I'd say, he's probably coming into the Donn the same as he was last year," trainer Bill Mott said. "He's coming off a good race and I'm happy with him. He's good enough to be in the race, but I can't predict the outcome." Sloane Avenue

Lea
Lauren King

(Candy Ride {Arg}) adds some international flair to the field as well. The 4-year-old most recently took Kempton's Listed Hyde S. Nov. 19. Cont. p3

“We’ve wanted to give him a go on the dirt for a little while, trainer Jeremy Noseda said. “We thought about going to Dubai for the [G1] Maktoum Challenge and, then discussing it with [owner] Paul Roy, decided we’d sort of take a different route and have a go in America. I had to look at races that would suit him, and if you’re going to come this far and the expense that goes along with it, you have to go for something that has a decent purse. Yes, the competition is going to be harder but it’s something that’s worthwhile.”

Conditioner Todd Pletcher will send out three from his barn in ☆ "TDN Rising Star" ☆ Constitution (Tapit), Commissioner (A.P. Indy) and Protonico (Giant's Causeway). Constitution, winner of last year's GI Florida Derby, returned from an injury to finish fourth in an optional claimer at Belmont in October and was third in the GI Clark H. Nov. 28, one spot back of Protonico. “The horse has been training really well,” Pletcher explained. “He certainly seemed to like Gulfstream last year.”

Protonico, winner of the GIII Smarty Jones S., annexed the GIII Discovery H. at Aqueduct Nov. 1 before finishing a half-length behind Hoppertunity (Any Given Saturday) in the Clark. “I think he ran well and I think it should springboard him forward into this race,” Pletcher said. “I think the added distance will be to his liking. He seems to be coming into this race in good order.”

Commissioner was sidelined after finishing second in the GI Belmont S. and returned to the races with a useful third in an optional claimer here Jan. 10. “I think he ran well and I think it should springboard him forward into this race,” Pletcher said. “I think the added distance will be to his liking. He seems to be coming into this race in good order.”

DR. TED FOLKERTH:

When folks of integrity in the thoroughbred industry like Fred Seitz, John Gosden, and Greg Ferraro DVM speak out to abolish race-day medication, I am troubled by those who feel it is necessary to administer intravenous race day medications for a perceived advantage. I have been a breeder for over 32 years and a practicing cardiac surgeon for over 40 years and it is incomprehensible to think that race-day medication will improve the breed. Clearly, the pendulum has swung for serious breeders to seek breeding stock from countries that do not allow race-day medication. It is past time for the formation of a national organization with uniform rule enforcement that is consistent with countries in Asia, Europe Australia and South Africa.

I applaud the three gentlemen mentioned above and, hopefully, their comments and commitment will be a seminal collection of learned study to lead to a new direction for the thoroughbred industry.

Respectfully,
 Ted Folkerth, M.D.

The Tattersalls February sale has enjoyed a strong year through its graduates, which included the G1 Beverley D. ## ROYAL ASCOT HUNTING CHROME AND FRIEND

Ascot’s Head of International Racing, Nick Smith, will next week begin a three-week international tour aimed at head-hunting global stars for this year’s Royal Ascot meeting, according to Racing Post.

Smith told the trade daily Horse of the Year California Chrome (Lucky Pulpit) and Hong Kong star Able Friend (Aus) (Shamardal) are high on his list of horses to recruit.

“Able Friend and California Chrome would be the two highest-profile horses we’ll be looking at,” Smith said. “Able Friend would be a short-priced favorite for the Queen Anne, and the owner and John Moore have been public in their aspirations to have a Royal Ascot winner. It’s encouraging we have been identified as their overseas target.”

He added, “I sat down with [California Chrome’s trainer] Art Sherman at the Breeders’ Cup. Art said he was considering Dubai and Royal Ascot, possibly one of the two or both. I’ll be following up with him about plans.”

Smith added that he would also be encouraging trainer Graham Motion, who visited Royal Ascot in 2013 with G1 Dubai World Cup winner Animal

Nick Smith

Kingdom (Leroidesanimaux {Brz}), to do a similar trip with dual Eclipse award winner Main Sequence (Aldebaran), who is likely to aim for the G1 Dubai Sheema Classic on the World Cup Card.

Smith will also be visiting Japan and Australia, and he has been invited to Argentina to help identify a possible Royal Ascot contender.

“They want to see if we can find a horse who can go to Royal Ascot to put them on the map, very much like Choisir did for Australian racing, who could possibly run in the [G1] Prince of Wales’s S. if not this year, in the future,” Smith explained.

DIAMOND HOPE BURNSTONE DIES

Burnstone (Aus) (Redoute's Choice {Aus}), winner of the male division of the Listed Blue Diamond Preview Jan. 26 and a leading hope for the G1 Blue Diamond S. Feb. 28, died of a suspected heart attack during trackwork at Cranbourne Tuesday. The 2-year-old was being prepared for the G3 Blue Diamond Prelude Feb. 14, and trainer Robbie Griffiths told Racing and Sports his ownership group had declined an A$1.8 million overseas offer for the colt the previous evening.

"We declined an offer at 10 p.m. last night of A$1.8 million as the owners didn't want to sell the dream, but were open to selling a quarter share," he said. "Our next discussion was going to be increasing his insurance from A$40,000 after we'd just knocked back the 1.8."

Burnstone, a son of the Encosta de Lago (Aus) mare Merlene de Lago (Aus), was an A$40,000 purchase from last year's Inglis Premier Yearling Sale.

Griffiths added, "He did a bit of evens on Tuesday morning and at five this morning I would have told you he was 110%, and 15 minutes later he's had a [suspected] heart attack. He's gone off to Werribee [equine center] for an autopsy, but I don't know how long it will take them before they get the results back."

I AM INVINCIBLE FEE INCREASED FOR 2015

I Am Invincible (Aus) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), Australia's leading first-season sire of 2013-14, will stand for A$55,000 for this year's South Hemisphere breeding season, which begins in September. He stood for A$27,500 last year, and started at a fee of A$11,000.

"We believe the increase in fee is in line with his achievements to date, which are impressive by any standard," said Yarraman Park's Arthur Mitchell. "His statistics are outstanding, with his winners to runners for this season running at 48.5%, which is the best of any stallion in the country, and he is second on the 3-year-old winners list behind only champion sire Fastnet Rock."

I Am Invincible was the country's leading freshman sire by earnings, winners and stakes winners, and he currently on top of the second-season sire table by earnings and winners. His progeny include last year's G1 Coolmore Stud S. winner Brazen Beau (Aus), who will stand at Darley upon retirement from racing.

TBA PRESIDENT DEFENDS BREEDING INDUSTRY

Basil Nolan, president of Thoroughbred Breeders Australia, has thrown his support behind the country's breeders and stud farms in the wake of a positive steroid test from last month's Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale. A colt sold at the sale tested positive for altrenogest, a substance found in Regu-Mate, which regulates cycles and maintains pregnancies in fillies and mares, but it is being debated whether Regu-Mate belongs on the list of banned steroids devised by the Australian Racing Board and the Principal Racing Association last May. Regu-Mate is permitted for fillies and mares on raceday, but not for males; however, it is sometimes used on stud farms and at sales to modify studish behaviour.

"This is not an anabolic steroid and should never have been placed on the banned list," Nolan said in a release. "The TBA has no problem with testing for anabolic steroids, but we have a grave concern that a yearling has tested positive to a drug that's commonly used on studs and at sales throughout Australia. It is not performance or growth enhancing, which is why it is not prohibited in fillies and mares. Ultimately, this is not an anabolic steroid."

Nolan pointed to the fact that the environments at races and sales differ greatly. At the sales, young colts and fillies are expected to stand in their boxes for up to two weeks. cont. p10

“The races and sales are poles apart, and that should have been considered before the Australian Racing Board and Principal Racing Association placed altrenogest on the banned list,” he said.

Nolan noted there was a lack of consultation with the breeding industry when Australia’s anabolic steroids rules were put into place.

“It was simply policy on the run--it was not thought through at all and now we are paying the price. Our industry is now being ridiculed with aspersions that all these yearlings are being doped. It’s totally unfair and the breeding industry is rightly up-in-arms,” he said.

The Australian Racing Board is currently reviewing the situation and has said Regu-Mate may be removed from the banned list.

‘RED’ THE GIFT THAT KEEPS ON GIVING FOR NICHOLSON

One man who has more tales from the heath to tell than most is Steve Nicholson. As the work rider of Red Cadeaux (GB) (Cadeaux Geneveux {GB}), Nicholson’s face has become well known during his travels around the world with his much-loved charge.

Now entering his 37th year of duty in Newmarket, the 52-year-old won’t see much of the town this spring as he is once again packing his bags to head south with Red Cadeaux, this time for The Championships in

Red Cadeaux and Steve Nicholson

Sydney. Confirmation of this trip earlier in the week was greeted with delight by Red Cadeaux’s many fans in Australia, where his battling performances in the Melbourne Cup—in which he has finished second in 2011, 2013 and 2014—have made him something of a national hero, albeit one with an international background.

“I daren’t wear my jacket with Red Cadeaux’s name on when I go out in Australia as I get stopped in the street all the time,” said Nicholson. “I was in the supermarket once while I was wearing it and it took me ages to do my shopping as people kept wanting to talk to me about him.”

It’s not a bad problem to have, and together the duo—with a collective age of 61—has clocked up some air miles. This will be their fifth trip to Australia, and Red Cadeaux has also raced in Hong Kong, Japan, Dubai, Singapore and Ireland. With six full seasons and 48 starts under his belt, he is just shy of completing 80 racing miles on the track.

It was back in 1983 that Nicholson started his globetrotting with racehorses when he accompanied the Ben Hanbury-trained Coquito’s Friend to Sweden to win the Stockholm Cup.

“I came to Newmarket in 1978 and have only changed jobs once,” recalled Nicholson, an apprentice jockey in his early days in the town. “I worked for Ben Hanbury for seven or eight years then went to work for Olivier Douieb, who had several different yards at the time with horses for Mahmoud Fustok and quite a lot of big American owners. In December 1985, Sheikh Maktoum Al Maktoum bought Fustok out and we were all moved en masse to what became known as Oak Stables.”

During his time with Douieb, Nicholson was assigned to the talented Group 1 winner Lead On Time, who later took up stud duties at Haras du Quesnay.

“He was a Nureyev colt out of a Lorenzaccio mare, and he was the most expensive horse bought in Europe at the time at 1.4 million guineas because the sale’s top-priced filly, who cost 1.6 million guineas and was by Artaius, failed her wind test and was returned,” he states with clarity 30 years after the event. This kind of detail is common in Nicholson’s reflections, which consistently include sire and damsire of the all the memorable horses with which he’s been involved.

He continues, “Lead On Time was the first good horse I looked after and I traveled a bit with him to France. As a 3-year-old he beat older horses easily in the Prix Maurice de Gheest, but then shortly after that he pulled up lame after galloping one morning. Sheikh Maktoum had a reserve for the big Vernons Sprint [now known as the G1 Haydock Sprint Cup] at the time and that was Green Desert, who ended up winning it. That shows how much they thought of Lead On Time if Green Desert could be his understudy. Later on I used to ride his brother, Great Commotion.”

Despite having only changed jobs once, Nicholson has had three different bosses since his move to Douieb. Following that trainer's return to France, his assistant Alex Scott took command of the stable. Scott was at the helm for just six years until one of the most shocking events in recent Newmarket history saw the young trainer shot dead by the stud groom at his Glebe Stud just outside the town. In his stable at the time was an unraced 2-year-old by the name of Lammtarra, who would go on to win the Derby, the King George and the Arc in a short but brilliant career.

Nicholson said, "I rode Lammtarra as a 2-year-old, then what happened to Alex happened. In fact, our last winner the day before he died was Fraam, who was by Lead On Time. He won the Joel S. at Newmarket and Alex was over the moon that day."

During his time with Scott, Nicholson made his first visit to America with a filly named Furajet in 1991. He added, "While I was in the barn in California, one of the grooms took me over to show me his horse who he said was something special. He was just a 2-year-old at the time but it was A. P. Indy, and I've followed him ever since. Apart from Red Cadeaux he's my favorite horse of all time."

A foreshadow of the bond Nicholson would eventually strike with Red Cadeaux also came in his days working for Scott, who trained his sire Cadeaux Genereux.

"When Alex took over at the yard, Cadeaux Genereux was four. I loved riding him, he was such a good sprinter--he won the [G1] July Cup in record time, beating Danehill--but you'd never believe it riding him in the morning. I used to struggle to get him up Long Hill."

Cadeaux Genereux winning the William Hill Sprint Championship in 1989
Racing Post

When Scott's assistant Ed Dunlop assumed responsibility at Oak Stables--later renamed Gainsborough Stables--Nicholson remained in place and has enjoyed plenty of foreign visits since that time, including with another of his former partners, the dual Oaks winner Lailani (GB) (Unfuwain).

"I went to Belmont with Lailani when she won the [G1] Flower Bowl, and it was a bit of a surreal time to be in New York as it was just two weeks after 9/11."

"I was also out in Dubai with several horses for the first Carnival, so before Red came along I'd been almost everywhere apart from Australia," he said.

With owner Ronald Arculli having settled on Australia over Dubai, next Friday Nicholson, along with colleague Robin Trevor-Jones, will return there with Red Cadeaux to complete quarantine back at the familiar Werribee complex in Victoria, where the international horses are stabled for Melbourne's Spring Carnival.

NTRA REPORT FROM CAPITOL HILL

FEATURED LEGISLATOR:
U.S. REPRESENTATIVE JOHN YARMUTH (D-KY)

District: Kentucky's 3rd that includes the city of Louisville – home to Churchill Downs, host of the Kentucky Derby and Kentucky Oaks.

Experience: Rep. Yarmuth is serving his fifth term in the U.S. House of Representatives. He first took office in 2007.

Impact on horse racing industry: Rep. Yarmuth has previously authored legislation to address IRS reporting and withholding requirements relative to winning pari-mutuel wagers that the industry has identified as outdated and inequitable when compared to the taxation of winnings for other forms of gambling.

In June of 2014, Rep. Yarmuth joined 16 other members of Congress in supporting a key initiative of the NTRA, a request that the IRS modernize the definition of the "cost of a wager" when determining whether a winning horseplayer is subject to IRS reporting and withholding. Last week, Rep. Yarmuth hosted a face-to-face meeting with the U.S. Department of Treasury to discuss strategies for addressing the industry's concerns with current tax law. The January 28 meeting included Rep. Yarmuth, two horseplayers, a representative from Churchill Downs, Inc. and the NTRA. This goal is to secure a regulatory solution that eliminates the need for a legislative change.

For more information contact Joe Bacigalupo, director of government relations and membership development, (859) 422-2677 or visit www.SupportHorseRacing.org.

His initial target is the 10-furlong G1 Darley Australian Cup on his favored left-hand course at Flemington Mar. 14, in which he could meet his most recent Melbourne Cup conqueror, Protectionist (Ger) (Monsun {Ger}). All being well, he will then head north to Sydney, where his ultimate Championships target is undecided but will be either the G1 Queen Elizabeth II S. or G1 Sydney Cup at Randwick Apr. 11.

Emma Berry and Pantomime Prince alongside Steve and Red Cadeaux

Nicholson is approaching the trip with a mixture of excitement and apprehension, the latter stemming from his protective feelings towards the horse he rates above all others in his career.

He said, "Red is so well liked in Australia and I wouldn't like to see him go out there and not run his race for some reason, but once he gets to Werribee he does seem to come alive. He loves it there and charges out to the track each day."

He added, "He gets lots of individual attention when he's there which I think he enjoys. I always go back to see him about 9 p.m. and give him an apple and put his rug on. He probably gets a bit spoiled, really, but he's what we're there for and he's taken me all around the world so he deserves it."

Nicholson continued, "He's easily my favorite horse of all time. He may not be a regular winner but he's just such a lovely character--and his dad was a lovely horse as well. He was totally laidback."

After a winter break at Longholes Stud, Red Cadeaux was back at Dunlop's La Grange Stables for a few weeks and Nicholson's opinion is, "he feels good."

He continued, "I'd be the first one to say finish him if he ran two or three bad races in a row with conditions in his favor, but he always seems to pull something out of the bag and at the moment he's moving better behind than he's ever moved."

While many work riders would doubtless be thrilled to swap Newmarket's current arctic conditions for a warmer spell in Australia, Nicholson maintains, however, that it's a time of the year he enjoys on the Heath.

"When I've been away in the winter in Dubai I have missed seeing the 2-year-olds change at home, and some of the geese start to turn into swans," he said. "It's a great time of the year in Newmarket as we start to gear up towards the start of the Flat season, so I will miss that a bit this year but I can't complain really."

One thing he will also miss is the chance of a big night out at the Godolphin Stud and Stable Staff Awards in London Feb. 23. He is on the shortlist of three for the Rider/Groom Award, but should he be successful, one of his colleagues will have to receive his prize for him.

"I didn't really want to be nominated and the boss didn't tell me he was doing it but it's obviously an honor to be recognized," he said modestly.

One of the aforementioned 2-year-olds Nicholson will be particularly keen to check up on when he returns is Red Cadeaux's Teofilo (Ire) half-brother, who is currently under his care.

The bay colt will eventually race in the same red and blue silks, having been bought by Arculli as a foal for 220,000gns.

"I don't ride him but I look after him and everyone seems pleased with him so far," said Nicholson.

Asked whether he envisages a similar international campaign for the youngster, he replied with a grin, "If he lasts as long as Red Cadeaux I'll probably be retired by then, but let's hope he's worth sticking around for."

NO INJURIES IN TTC BLAZE

There were no serious injuries, equine or human, in an early-morning fire confined to a multi-purpose building at The Thoroughbred Center on Paris Pike outside of Lexington.

More than 75 firefighters battled the blaze, fanned by high winds, which broke out around 8:15 a.m. and lasted better than two hours. According to the Lexington Herald-Leader, Lexington Fire Department Major Lee Hayden said that a second alarm was circulated given the aggressive nature of the fire. The paper reported that around 9 a.m., an alarm was sounded alerting firefighters to leave the building as the blaze began to heat up. Firemen resorted to battling the flames from ladder units.

The fire was reported to be under control as of 10:30 a.m., though crews remained on the scene checking for hot spots. At 2 p.m., Paris Pike was reopened to vehicular traffic.

The Thoroughbred Center is owned by Keeneland and maintains a pair of training tracks and offers other equine services. The building, which housed some offices and apartments as well as Central Kentucky Tack and Leather, suffered heavy smoke and water damage and lost most of its roof. The flames never reached the main offices of The Thoroughbred Center, which is connected to the multi-purpose building by a breezeway.

While no serious injuries were reported, a female employee at the center suffered smoke inhalation, but refused medical attention. A male firefighter was transported to the hospital after inhaling smoke, but was released uninjured.

BLOODSTOCK AGENT RICHARD LOSSEN PASSES AWAY

Richard W. Lossen, well-known bloodstock agent, died Tuesday, Feb. 3, at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky at the age of 76. He had spent more than 40 years as an owner, breeder, adviser and agent. Lossen spent the summers of his youth as an exercise rider, groom, and hotwalker for his father on the Kentucky/Ohio/West Virginia circuit. After growing too tall to pursue his early dreams of being a jockey, he went on to pinhooking weanlings and later moved to Lexington to set up as a bloodstock agent in the 1970s. During the boom years of the 1980s, Lossen handled a large portfolio of stallion shares in horses such as Mr. Prospector, Seattle Slew, Danzig and Secretariat, and would sell several hundred breeding nominations for clients each year. Among the racehorses he bought for clients were champion Turkoman and Grade I winner Jameela, later the dam of champion Gulch. Mares bought by Lossen for clients included the dams of Awesome Feather, Stormello, Bail Out Becky, Double Trigger, Miswaki, Deputy Minister and Midshipman, as well as the granddam of Wise Dan, and he bought, sold, or syndicated a number of stallions including Bernstein, Put It Back, Hoist the Silver, Valid Expectations, and Kitalpha.

Lossen is survived by his three children, Joe Lossen, John Lossen, Lexington and Kate Lossen McStay. The family is planning an informal gathering of friends on Saturday, Feb. 7 from 6 to 9 at McCarthy's in Lexington. For friends wishing to make a memorial contribution, the family suggests the Bluegrass Conservancy, 380 South Mill Street, Suite 205, Lexington, KY 40508.

LAKE SUSPENDED FOR 120 DAYS

By Mike Kane

Veteran trainer Scott Lake was assessed a suspension of 120 days--twice what was originally reported--by the Maryland Racing Commission as the result of horses in his care testing positive for an anabolic steroid.

Mike Hopkins, the MRC's executive director, said Wednesday that the commission had clarified the penalties handed to Lake. Hopkins said that Lake received a 60-day suspension, which begins Thursday, for the positive for stanozolol in races in December at Laurel.

The Maryland positive and penalty coupled with a previous positive in Pennsylvania pushed Lake over a points threshold in the Multiple Medication Violation Penalty System, automatically adding a second 60-day suspension. The suspensions must be served consecutively, producing a four-month ban.

Maryland has adopted the National Uniform Medication Program, which includes additional sanctions for multiple violations.

Maryland trainer Hector Garcia also received a stiffer suspension, 13 months, for his three stanozolol positives and a fourth for the sedative xylazine, according to the multiple medication violation guidelines. Garcia was filling in for trainer Juan Vazquez, who was serving a 90-day suspension for an altercation at Delaware Park. Garcia and Vazquez have been ordered by the Maryland Jockey Club to remove their horses from MJC property.

TIGER RIDE (f, 3, Candy Ride {Arg}--Royal Tigress {SW}, by Storm Cat) rallied smartly for a debut success over the Keeneland grass Oct. 25, and was flattered when three also-rans from that heat came back to score. Away a bit sluggishly, the Dixiana homebred settled in second last early. She began to thread her way through traffic and pick off rivals on the home bend, sliced through a seam and into the clear in upper stretch and leveled off impressively to mow them all down en route to a 3 1/4-length score. GBRI PARTNERS WITH BRITISH POLO DAY

Great British Racing International has partnered with British Polo Day in an extension of its efforts to bring overseas investment to the British racing and breeding industries. British Polo Day is a global network of exclusive, invite-only polo events, creating a platform to showcase British luxury goods in 10 international markets.

A racehorse and jockey ready for polo
GBRI

GBRI will be joining British Polo Day in time for the first two events of 2015 in Abu Dhabi and Dubai Mar. 21 and 27, respectively.

"GBRI is delighted to join forces with British Polo Day, as they have developed the ideal platform to introduce the joy and excitement of British racing to an international high net-worth audience, who congregate at British Polo Day events around the world to celebrate the horse and British culture," said Carter Carnegie, international executive of GBRI. "Working with the Federation of Bloodstock Agents (FBA) and others in British racing, we hope that these functions will provide an opportunity for the industry to cultivate new owners. GBRI will be working closely with the FBA to source and develop new opportunities for British racing during British Polo Day events."

6	Good Place	Street Cry (Ire)	de Vries	bin Suroor

All carry 121 pounds bar Ad Idem and Shahrasal, 131 pounds.

This first fillies' Classic of the season features a rematch of the top three finishers of the UAE 1000 Guineas trial over seven furlongs here Jan. 15. Local Time got up in the dying strides that day to deny the front-running Ad Idem by a nose on the line, with Runner Runner a long way back in third.

Local Time was recording her fourth consecutive win in her first outing since taking Newmarket's G3 Oh So Sharp S. Oct. 4, but the Godolphin colorbearer could find Ad Idem tougher this time, as trainer Mike de Kock's South African shippers generally move up off their first local run. Ad Idem was making just her third start in the trial, having broken her maiden at first asking in her native country last January and having finished second in the G2 Debutante S. before embarking on the long and complicated journey to Dubai. As a Southern Hemisphere-bred, she is shouldered with 10 pounds more than her Northern Hemisphere-foaled rivals. The Saeed bin Suroor-trained Good Place jumped in the air at the start of the trial and after making up considerable ground early in the race checked in fourth. She won over this trip at Ascot in September before contesting the G1 Fillies' Mile, where she was seventh, and could figure here with better racing luck.
