CHATTERBOX FIRES A BULLET AT KEENELAND

GI Longines Breeders' Cup Distaff with a bullet work at Keeneland Sunday morning. The Carolyn and Gray Fletcher colorbearer covered a half-mile in :47.20 with regular pilot Florent Geroux in the irons.

"She was eager to go when I cut her loose," trainer Larry Jones said. "We know she likes Keeneland and she has done well since her last race. It is all good."

QUEII EXACTA TO SKIP BREEDERS' CUP

The top two finishers from Saturday's GI Queen Elizabeth II Challenge Cup, Her Emmynency (Successful Appeal) and Miss

Temple City (Temple City), will likely miss this year's Breeders' Cup, according to their trainers.

Conditioner Michael Stidham was pleased with how Her Emmynency exited her win over the weekend. "She looks good this morning," Stidham said Sunday. "I told [jockey]

Her Emmynency (blue cap) and Miss Temple City | Coady Photography

Florent [Geroux] yesterday to just let her place herself and if somebody else goes for the lead, fine. She sat just off Mizz Money and it worked out perfect. She's definitely not going to the Breeders' Cup. Our goal is to come back with a good 4-year-old next year and hopefully one that is good enough for the Breeders' Cup [at Santa Anita]. We might consider the [GI] Mrs. Revere [at Churchill Downs Nov. 14]." Cont. p3

CHAMPIONS DAY PLAN FOR BALLYDOYLE FILLIES

Aidan O'Brien is readying a formidable squad for British Champions Day at Ascot Saturday Oct. 17 that includes, among others, the high class fillies, 'TDN Rising Star' Found (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Tapestry (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}). Both fillies were last seen running in the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe just over a week ago where Found fared best after a troubled passage to finish ninth, five lengths behind Golden Horn (GB) (Cape Cross

Found | Racing Post

{Ire}). She previously finished a good second to the Arc winner in the G1 Irish Champion S. at Leopardstown and according to O'Brien the 2014 G1 Prix Marcel Bouscagat winner will be aimed at the G1 Qipco Champion S. over 10 furlongs. Tapestry will bid to bounce back from a disappointing effort in the Arc and will tackle the G1 Qipco British Champions Fillies And Mares S. Reflecting on a highly successful weekend that saw Air Force Blue (War Front) and Minding (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) stake major claims for Classic glory next year O'Brien commented, "Air Force Blue seems grand this morning. We have had a good few days and it is nice to have a couple of nice 2-year-olds. I'd imagine they are both finished for the season."

Isfahan was a debut fourth to Sound Check (Ger) (Lando {Ger}) going one mile at Dortmund in his only prior start Sept. 20 and exacted revenge in this, Germany's premier juvenile event, to claim a first career success. The chestnut broke with the tail end, but soon advanced to race three lengths off the pace in second. Shuffled back to sixth rounding the home turn, he slipped to last of the seven runners entering the final quarter mile and stayed on resolutely under mainly whipless rousing in the closing stages to assert superiority in game fashion.

The unbeaten Cassina De Pomm (Ity) provided her sire Pounced (Rahy) a first group win landing the G3 Premio Dormello, the Italian championship event for juvenile fillies at San Siro. She relished the strong pace set by stablemate Berneri and the very soft ground running on well when she found a gap, entering in the last 400 meters. Identity Run Fast closed from the back of the pack, but could only snatch second place over Page One. Cassina De Pomm, who scored a five length win in her debut Sept. 1 and doubled quickly in the Listed Premio Repubbliche Marinare, is the third winner out of Clever Annie, a half-sister to the high class broodmare Claba Di San Jore (Ire) (Barathea {Ire}), the dam of the Group 1 scorers Jakkalberry (Ire) (Storming Home {GB}), Crackerjack King (Ire) (Shamardal) and Awelmarduk (Ire) (Almutawakel {GB}). "She is a genuine filly and I think she will stay further next season" said co-owner Alduino Botti.

EMOTIONLESS SUFFERS KNEE INJURY

A valid excuse has emerged for the disappointing effort from Emotionless (Ire) (Shamardal) in the G1 Dubai Dewhurst S. at Newmarket Saturday. The market second choice faded tamely to finish last behind Air Force Blue (War Front) but was found to be lame in his box Sunday morning. An X-Ray subsequently revealed a chip in his left fore knee but trainer Charlie Appleby is optimistic about the colt's future and commented, "Following his disappointing run in the Dewhurst Stakes yesterday, Emotionless was found to be lame this morning in his box. He was immediately X-Rayed and a chip was identified in his left

DEWHURST STAKES ANALYSIS

By James Willoughby

An Aidan O'Brien post-race paean is often greeted with a degree of suspicion nowadays, but so brilliant is his G1 Dubai Dewhurst S. winner Air Force Blue (War Front) that the trainer's "He's something that we haven't had before" in the Newmarket winners' enclosure seemed phlegmatic. But O'Brien's comment surely could be applied reflectively to the trainer himself. One of the roles of the analyst, particularly in the sporting arena, is to separate luck from skill when observing positive outcomes. It is highly possible to be an ordinary trainer with a lot of good horses and convince the market that you have skill, simply because horses make humans look good, and rarely the other way round.

O'Brien has done it so many times and put such an obvious stamp on the brilliant horses that he nurtures, that a statistician has long had to reject the null hypothesis that he is just another trainer favorably situated. With Air Force Blue standing there being cooled off, its hard to remember that the careers of elite racehorses are highly path-dependent, and so many wrong turns are possible along the way that it actually is possible to have near-unlimited funds and still not dominate the sport.

Unless you have O'Brien, that is. The source material, from which a billion outcomes are possible, was paraded during the week of the Dewhurst as the offerings at the Tattersalls Book One sale. The prices paid for prospects, like the 2.1m-guineas Dubawi (Ire) (Dubai Millenium) filly acquired by Coolmore, seem irrational to the itinerant observer, with some writers tempted to sneer by citing expensive failures of the past from Snaafi Dancer (Northern Dancer) to Hydrogen (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) to The Green Monkey (Forestry). But this cherry picking should not pass for sage analysis; instead, a wider sweep of sales data proves that prices paid bear a highly statistically significant relationship with outcomes on the track. It is just that all similar relationships involving prediction or projection involve noise.

It is often said that buyers at Book One are chasing a dream or playing a high-stakes form of Lotto, or something. But it's better to frame their incentives in economic parlance: they are attempting to get to the elusive right-tail of the distribution of all racehorse talent, and to do so involves taking on considerable risk. Of course, this is no attempt to disguise the economic reality of the sales ring; plenty of transactions fall outside the bounds of rationality, there are bubbles like the present one surrounding the progeny of Dark Angel (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}), and the aggregate of all spend has a negative expectation. But, back to the concept of path-dependency, investing large sums in bloodstock can go wrong at several stages. Whoever is buying your horses can only exert so much effect beyond the relationship between price and realized ability; as in the markets, favorable results in any period regress to the mean as the sample-size of purchases increases. But the identity of the individual training the horses is many times more important.

Imagine if a bookmaker offered 10-11 (-110 as they might quote you in Las Vegas) about an under-over on the career-best rating of the Dubawi filly sold to Coolmore. Even with O'Brien as her trainer, the data suggests it is not possible to go much beyond Timeform 100. There are just too many negative outcomes inherent in the development of her career. But, what might be the revised Timeform rating if a trainer were selected at random from all those with more than 50 horses? What would be the under-over then? This question - what is the marginal effect of O'Brien as a trainer above replacement level - is the one that other sports franchises realized they need to ask about their human talent. Amazingly, it seems like racing still relies on counting stats like winners, prize-money or championships in naive belief in the cream-rises-to-the-top effect. Yet, in the world around it is clear that we are all a function of our opportunity and our capabilities, with the ratio between them nebulous but surely with a much greater weight on the former than the latter.

Certainly, there are trainers like O'Brien and jockeys like Ryan Moore whose marginal effect is both real and positive, but to get to the root of who is really good, it is necessary to first discount opportunity. Any operation which can't or won't bring itself to ruthless self-determination in this manner now has to bear the consequences in an increasingly competitive world within and without racing. When O'Brien first got the job at Ballydoyle in 1996, he could have turned out to be far less the trainer we know now, even though it was possible to form a strong, prior belief in his capabilities from his former exploits. But, as the sample-size has expanded, it has become less and less likely that we have been fooled by randomness or been guilty of not separating his skills from the lavish context of Ballydoyle and its Coolmore-driven equine resources. And, as for the idea of ever letting him walk away from your operation, you would have to be out of your mind.

The bay was content to race second last behind a moderate early tempo and still had a lot of work to do turning into the home straight. Cotton Town began to gobble up ground from the center of the course after three quarters in 1:13.59 and drifted into Cherry Wine (Paddy O'Prado) inside the final furlong before righting the ship and surging past all comers to win by a half-length over Sea of Erin (Giant's Causeway). ### 5k Kicks off Maryland Million Week:

Jockey Sheldon Russell was the first runner to cross the finish line during Sunday's Maryland Million 5k at Laurel Park. The event, which benefits Special Olympics Maryland, kicks off Jim McKay Maryland Million week. The week culminates next Saturday with the 29th running of the Maryland Million, a day of races restricted to offspring of Maryland-based stallions. "It was a little cold this morning, but it was a lot of fun and it's nice to support a good cause like the Special Olympics," Russell, who completed the race in 20:00.2, said. "I feel Maryland Million is the biggest day of the year for us at Laurel. It's a fun week where you participate in as many of the events as you can--we'll try to play in the golf tournament, go to the cocktail party and gala--and that it ends with a great day of racing. I know I'm looking forward to a great week." The Maryland Million Golf Tournament will be held Tuesday at Manor Country Club and the Maryland Million Gala will be held Friday at the Maryland Club.

Fourth behind stablemate Conquest Daddy (Scat Daddy) while making his debut in the GII Summer S. over a sixteenth shorter at this venue Sept. 12, Conquest Enforcer was made the market leader to build on that experience while facing fellow Ontario-breds. The bay settled in a close-up fourth while saving ground against the hedge through the early going and began to wind up after six furlongs in 1:12.18. Full of run with nowhere to go in upper stretch, Conquest Enforcer was steered off the fence and split horses shortly thereafter, before bursting clear to romp by daylight over Butterfly Dance (Awesome Again). "We worked him about two months ago on the turf," commented winning jockey Patrick Husbands. "I came back and said to [trainer] Mark [Casse], 'He's a pretty nice horse.' But he never got a chance to get back on the turf [in training]. The last race, it was a soft, soft, soft turf and he was never comfortable. So, we just had to put that race behind us. When we got the daylight today, he showed he was the best horse in the race. It's an honor and a pleasure to sit on good horses. They always make you smile."

CORRECTION: Sunday's TDN incorrectly stated that Beat of the Drum (Ire) (Duke of Marmalade {Ire}), who won at Santa Anita Friday, was the first U.S winner for the China Horse Club. The story should have said Beat of the Drum is believed to be the first horse to come from mainland China to win in the U.S. Among the China Horse Club's U.S. winners is graded stakes winner Parranda (English Channel).

Surfside Tiara, beaten a half-length when second as the even-money favorite in her five-furlong debut at Los Alamitos July 4, romped home impressively to graduate going 6 1/2 furlongs at Del Mar Aug. 9. Thrown into the deep end, she was seventh behind stablemate Songbird (Medaglia d'Oro) in the seven-furlong GI Del Mar Debutante last time out Sept. 5. Cutting back to six furlongs and getting a class break here, Surfside Tiara sat just behind a four-wide battle for the lead down the backstretch through a quarter in :21.77. She found a seam to run through in upper stretch and collared Uptown Twirl late for a confident first stakes victory. "I tried to send her from the gate, but I knew those three fillies were all going to go for the lead, so I knew if I didn't get the lead I would still just sit in behind Lemhill Basr (Quality Road)," explained winning rider Rafael Bejarano. "I thought Miss Big Stuff (Big Drama) would try to put pressure on her, so I let them go a little and when we got to the stretch, I put my filly in the clear and she showed me a big kick." Trainer Jerry Hollendorfer indicated Surfside Tiara would remain sprinting for now. "I would consider the [Nov. 15] Desi Arnaz for her at seven furlongs [at Del Mar]," he said. Starlight Tiara, a half-sister to the dam of Saturday's G1 Dubai Dewhurst S. winner Air Force Blue (War Front), produced a filly by Congrats in 2014 and was bred to Magician (Ire) this year. Her Congrats filly sold for $80,000 at this year's Keeneland September sale. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

Soul Search's yearling filly by War Front sold for $200,000 at this year's Keeneland September sale. Showing distinct promise when runner-up to the re-opposing Rayisa when that rival had an experience edge on debut over a mile at Gowran Park Sept. 20, the audaciously-named Best In the World was confidently supported to reverse the placings here and broke well to stalk the early pace set by that rival. Cajoled to the front passing the furlong pole, the bay was kept up to her work to record a cozy success from the closer Dolce Strega. Cont. p10

“She came on nicely from Gowran and will make a lovely middle-distance filly next year,” Aidan O’Brien commented. “Ryan said she feels like her sister. You would have to be happy with that and Ryan was kind to her.”

Off the mark over this track and trip June 7, Fort Del Oro was third next time in the G3 Phoenix Sprint S. again over this course and distance Aug. 9 before finishing runner-up in the Listed Garrowby S. at York Sept. 6. Breaking smartly to chase the leading trio early, the bay was committed on the front end as The Happy Prince threatened with just over a furlong remaining and proved the stronger on the run to the line. “She did it well and has an entry next week in the big sprint [Saturday’s G1 British Champions Sprint S.] at Ascot,” trainer Eddie Lynam commented. “If she is jumping out of her skin, we will probably let her take her chance. She’s a good filly and I think she will improve from three to four. She’ll get seven furlongs.”
